Tariff Bill, Which Will Be Jammed Through Senate, Gives Campaign Fuel to Democrats.

REVISION AN UPWARD ONE

Taft, with Veto, Would Make Self Most Popular Man in Country; His Attitude Still Is in Doubt.

[The senate last night adopted its hosiery schedule, which provides for Dingley rates on cotton hosiery, cutting the rates in the house bill 20 cents a dozen. The rates on knit cotton gloves were increased; the committee amendment taxing duck on the count of thread adopted, the provision fixing a duty of 1 cent a square yard for mercerization upheld, and the duty on window hollands increased.

The woolen schedule is to be taken up today. For details see page 4.]

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—What is known as the Aldrich tariff bill, to distinguish it from the Payne bill which passed the house, will be jammed through the senate almost without the dotting of an "i" or the crossing of a "t." Mr. Aldrich has his combination of Republicans and Democrats well in hand, and, although he unfortunately loses his temper now and then, which is an entirely new thing for him, he has distributed the good things of the tariff so skillfully that his position is practically impregnable.

The Republican senators admit this and say they have no hope of changing the figures submitted by Mr. Aldrich in any material way. Any concessions they may receive will be those he chooses to give and would be given anyhow.

The Payne bill was higher than the existing law in its general average. The Aldrich bill is higher than the Payne bill. The conference has jurisdiction only of the things in dispute between the two houses, and it may be set down as a result of the preliminary skirmish over the cotton schedule that the tariff bill which will be adopted by the conference and put up to President Taft for his signature will contain, on an average, higher rates than the present law. There will be absolutely no revision downward, and the people might as well understand that fact now as later on.

Early Decision Is Expected.

In view of the conviction in the senate that Aldrich is absolutely protected against any serious attack the opinion now is that the final vote will come earlier than had been anticipated and that the new bill may become a law by the Fourth of July. The differences between the house and senate are minute, and they might readily be settled in most cases by tossing up a penny without injuring the people.

No one knows what President Taft will do, but the general feeling at the present time is that if the conference agrees on a number of downwards changes, as in iron and steel, lumber, and the other big schedules, and frames up a tariff commission in such a way as to give him the initiative in recommending new changes, he will be satisfied with this session's work as a starter and will approve the bill with a message explaining that fact, although he may make it clear that the revision is far from satisfactory to him, as everybody knows it must be.

According to Mr. Aldrich's own figures the new tariff bill will leave most of the necessaries about where they are, so far as the general average is concerned. On the luxuries, according to his figures, which will not be materially altered in the long run, he has raised the equivalent ad valorem tax from 52.07 to 55.49. According to Mr. Payne's own figures, the house bill raised the tax on luxuries and necessities combined from 44.16 to 45.72.

Upward Revision or Veto.

The figures on both the house and senate bill are incomplete, but the errors appearing later will just about balance each other. The result is, so far as the general public is concerned, that there will be either an upward revision on the whole or President Taft will be compelled to veto the bill presented to him by congress.

If there is any political advantage or disadvantage in this fact it may just as well be understood now as later on. The house probably will be prevented from carrying through its vicious attempt to raise the duties on hosiery, gloves, and various other women's articles. On the lowest grade of gloves Mr. Aldrich himself voluntarily reduced the rate of $1.75 per dozen in the present law to $1.25, which is a large decrease from the proposed house rate of $4 per dozen, which was unadulterated robbery.

It is not likely that Mr. Aldrich's low rate on the poorest grade of gloves will stand, because it probably was passed for trading purposes and will be used to compel the house to come down on the other grades.

Wearing Apparel Not Reduced.

It unfortunately is true there is no prospect in sight for any material reduction in the tariff on the things to wear, either for men, women, or children, with the single exception of shoes. The party leaders, however, will be able to go before the public at the next congressional election and ask for the return to the house of representatives of the Republican candidates on the ground that they have cut down the price of rough dressed lumber just one-half, and that there have been reductions on a long list of articles manufactured of iron and steel.

The new lumber schedule can be depended upon to bring strength from the agricultural districts, where there has been a persistent demand for lower prices on lumber, building materials, wire fencing, and ordinary hardware.

On the other hand, the Democrats already are preparing their material for the next campaign. The first of this material already has been put in shape for circulation. It consists, first, of the extracts from the Republican national platform, then it contains literal extracts from the speeches made by President Taft while he was a candidate, in each of which he either predicted or pledged a revision downward. Having laid this foundation, the Democrats will proceed to show that the Republicans cut down the duties only on a list of articles of iron and steel which are notoriously made cheaper in the United States than anywhere else in the world owing to our superior natural advan-

President Taft Probably Will Grant Favor of Hastening Action on Friendly Compact.

EXCLUSION PLAYS A PART

While Willing to Keep All Laborers at Home, Eastern Government Objects to Clause.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—The first step in what will become the most important negotiations that have occurred in the relations of the United States and Japan have been taken by Ambassador Takhira, the representative of the emperor of the far eastern people. He has notified the secretary of state of the purpose of his government to terminate the treaty of friendship, navigation, and commerce, which was signed in 1894 and entered into effect in 1899, and has evidenced its desire to formulate a new treaty which shall apply to the existing conditions.

The treaty which it will be the intention of Japan to bring to an end is similar to those in force with the other powers, including Great Britain. It was negotiated while the Japanese were invading China fifteen years ago, and their victory not only demonstrated the weakness of the Celestial empire but caused the west to realize that a new military force had appeared in the world. It went into effect in the year before the Boxer revolt in China, during which the Japanese expedition conducted itself in a manner that compared most favorably with the behavior of the troops of the other nations.

Japan Now World Power.

The humiliation of Russia added to the prestige of Japan, and the latter now appears in the council of the powers, their equal in standing, and seeks to have the treaties between them and her modified in accordance with her international position.

These treaties expire by their terms in 1911, and Japan, desirous to maintain contractual relations with the other powers, has proposed that the negotiations shall begin next year of conventions to take their place. Some embarrassment has arisen in connection with the treaty with the United States because of an amendment made by the senate when ratifying the instrument, under which the expiration would not occur until 1912.

There is a tactical advantage in this situation for the United States, since the first difficulties connected with the negotiations will be thrown upon Great Britain, which must arrange a new treaty to become effective in 1911. But, on the other hand, if Great Britain accords certain concessions to her ally, Japan naturally would seek their incorporation in the new treaty with this country.

Consequently it may be decided by President Taft as a mark of friendship for Japan to agree to the termination of the present treaty in 1911 and to enter upon new negotiations next year. The importance of these negotiations will at once be appreciated when it is known that the Tokio government proposes to insist upon the elimination of that provision of the treaty granting to the United States the right to regulate the admission of Japanese laborers.

Willing to Restrict Immigration.

The Tokio government has shown by a "gentlemen's agreement" made with the last administration and by orders it has issued prohibiting the emigration of Japanese laborers to this country and in many other ways its purpose to meet the wishes of the American people to keep the Japanese laborers from crossing the boundaries. Marquis Katsura, Prime Minister Count Komura, the minister of foreign affairs, and many influential Japanese of all parties assured me when I was in Japan some months ago that under no circumstances would there be any change in the policy of their country in this respect.

Japan, however, feels that it is a reflection upon her dignity and standing among the nations to permit other governments to have a right to say who shall or who shall not be admitted into their jurisdictions, when a similar right with respect to their citizens is not enjoyed by her. The matter has become one of great moment to the Japanese and the American people must come to realize it.

Japan would resent deeply the passage of an exclusion law similar to that in force against the Chinese, and she has seen with concern the agitation for this legislation which has existed upon the Pacific slope. Under no circumstances will she permit herself to be placed in the same humiliating position as the Chinese. At the same time, she has no desire to offend any part of the American public opinion, and it may be stated authoritatively that even if the treaty provision objectionable to Japan should be eliminated and nothing substituted therefor, no departure will occur from the policy of not permitting the Japanese laborers to come to America. It may be taken for granted that this has become a cardinal feature of Japan's foreign policy.

Decrease in Jap Immigrants.

The way in which Japan is enforcing the "gentlemen's agreement" is shown by the latest bulletin issued by the commissioner general of immigration. This bulletin presents statistics which in the past have been questioned upon the Pacific coast, but which, nevertheless, are declared by the department of commerce and labor to be absolutely accurate.

From July 1, 1908, until April 30, 1909, there entered the United States only 2,872 Japanese, none of whom belonged to the laboring class. The "gentlemen's agreement" entered into force in March, 1908. During the fiscal year of 1908, 16,418 Japanese were admitted; 1907, 30,824 Japanese; 1906, 14,243; 1905, 11,021; 1904, 14,382; 1903, 20,041.

The decrease that has occurred is self-evident. If a single laborer comes to the United States, it will be against the will of the Japanese government. As Marquis Katsura stated, Japan has need of her people for the development of Corea, which now is a Japanese protectorate, and southern Manchuria, which constitutes the Japanese sphere of influence.

President Taft is as desirous as is Japan of reaching a solution favorable to both countries. In his reception and courteous treatment of the exposition commissioners from Tokio and of Vice Admiral Uriu, and in his

THE COMMENCEMENT ORATOR. FIND HIS MOTHER.

HEIR TO STRANGER'S WEALTH

Boy 5 Years Old Comes Into Possession of Nearly $6,000,000.

Riches of Little William McClintock Arrive by Unusual Path.

Through the death of his mother, Mrs. Emma Nelson-McClintock, yesterday, 5 year old William McClintock was left an orphan with nearly $6,000,000. It is a strange sequence of events which has led to the making of this young millionaire, for the bulk of the money was made by a man who never knew or heard of the little boy or his mother.

Mrs. McClintock was the widow of William McClintock, who for several years was well known in real estate circles in Chicago. He came here about fourteen years ago, and previous to that time he was a comparatively poor and unknown man living in Lemars, Ia. When he married Miss Emma Nelson of Topeka, Kas., about seven years ago he was a millionaire several times over through an inheritance from his first wife, who, before he married her, was Mrs. Sarah Hickling, a widow with about $4,000,000 which came to her through the death of her first husband.

Mother's Death Is Sudden.

Mrs. Emma McClintock died suddenly from heart trouble which was induced by acute rheumatism. About two weeks ago she left her winter home in Texas and came north to Mudlavia, Ind., thinking the baths there would relieve her from rheumatism. The treatment, however, failed and she came to Chicago with her son last Thursday, and placed herself under the care of Dr. Arthur Edwards and Dr. Carl Kreusmarck.

When Mr. McClintock married Mrs. Hickling he came to Chicago and the couple started housekeeping in the house at 2226 Calumet avenue, where the second Mrs. McClintock died. The money which his first wife brought him was invested in Chicago real estate, and it has increased so that now Attorney Alexander F. Reichmann, who is handling the estate, estimates that it is worth nearly $6,000,000, all of which will go to the son William.

The first Mrs. McClintock lived only a few years after her second marriage, and she left her whole fortune to her second husband. He married again within a few years and two years after this marriage the child William was born.

Auto Crash Kills Father.

Mr. McClintock was an automobile enthusiast, and it was through the love of this sport that he met his death on May 17, 1907. The car which he was driving collided with a wagon, the shaft of which struck Mr. McClintock as he was trying to swerve the machine, injuring him fatally. The shock knocked the little boy to the floor of the car and as his mother stooped down to pick him up she escaped being struck by the shaft. Had she remained in her seat an instant longer she also would have been struck and possibly killed.

Little William McClintock has no relatives in Chicago, and, while no definite plans have been made for his future, Attorney Reichmann said he probably would be taken to Kansas, where his mother's family reside.

"Mrs. McClintock lived simply," said Mr. Reichmann, "both during her husband's life and afterwards. Mr. McClintock was much older than she, he being 66 years old at the time of his death, while Mrs. McClintock was only 38 years old. The child has been brought up quietly, and has been much of the time with his mother, either in Chicago or at their winter home in Texas. He is a fine, sturdy little fellow, and it is sad to think of his being left alone while he is so young. Mrs. McClintock's family are living in Topeka, and William will probably go to them."

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the family residence, 2226 Calumet avenue.

FUNSTON FIGHTS WITH THIEF; NEITHER IS HIT BY BULLET.

Several Shots Are Exchanged When the Brigadier General Finds Intruder in His Bedroom.

Leavenworth, Kas., June 7.—[Special.]—A burglar entered the bedroom of Brig. Gen. Frederick Funston, commandant of the military service school at Fort Leavenworth, early thas morning, and they exchanged pistol shots at short range without hitting each other.

Everything connected with the affair was kept quiet until tonight, when Gen. Funston was asked about it.

The general said a white man, apparently a sneak thief, entered his home and hid in a closet opening into his bedroom. Gen. Funston did not go to bed until after midnight and remained awake some time.

Funston noticed the closet door open cautiously and the form of a man appear. He reached for a revolver under a pillow of the bed and the burglar noticing this fired at him. The bullet missed Gen. Funston, went through the bed mattress and lodged in the floor of the room.

Gen. Funston fired three times at the burglar as he ran from the room. So far as can be learned none of the shots hit the thief. All of them were located at places in the wall.

Mrs. Funston is visiting in California and Gen. Funston was alone in the big headquarters residence except for two servants sleeping in a faroff part of the building. Gen. Funston said the attack on him was so sudden that he felt nervous over the close call he had when the burglar fired at him. The intruder did not get any money or valuables.

BREAK OUT OF STREET CAR SET ON FIRE BY LIGHTNING.

Fifteen Passengers in Panic at Harvey —Electric Plant Disabled and Town in Darkness.

The town of Harvey, south of the city, suffered severely from a rain and lightning storm that last night swept over Chicago and suburbs. The electric lighting plant at Harvey was put out of commission for two hours, and a street car was partly destroyed, fifteen passengers in it being panic stricken when lightning struck the trolley wire.

Frightened passengers in their haste to escape broke through the windows and doors. Several were bruised, trampled on, or cut by broken glass.

The power plant just north of Harvey was struck a few minutes later, many of the feed wires being cut off and the town thrown in darkness for two hours.

MANUFACTURER HELD AS THIEF

Anthony Schachter, a tool manufacturer, accused with his business partner, John Fisher, of burglary of the sporting goods store of George Smith, 85 Washington street, is under arrest, and the police are looking for Fisher.

Schachter and Fisher have desk room in the store of Smith, and when the latter went to his store Sunday afternoon and found the front door broken he asked the police to arrest his tenants.

After Schachter's arrest the detectives recovered $200 worth of goods which they say Schachter had left in the care of unsuspecting bartenders in two saloons. Schachter, the police say, declared he took the goods while he and his partner were intoxicated.

Star Prairie, Wis., June 7.—[Special.]—"I'll beat you to bed," remarked Mrs. A. Miller to her husband last evening.

"No you won't," answered Miller, and he went for a drink of water.

When he returned his wife lay prostrate on the floor.

"I'm dying," she cried.

She had ruptured a blood vessel in her hurry and lived only a few moments.

ANTI-SMOKE PLEA FOR BUSSE

Delegation from League Will Seek Mayor's Aid Today.

WANT I. C. TO ACT AT ONCE.

Road Accused of Breaking Faith in Failure to Electrify.

A renewal of the fight to secure electrification of the Illinois Central is promised this morning, when a delegation representing the Anti-Smoke league will call on Mayor Busse and urge him to aid the movement.

Mrs. Charles L. Sergel, president of the league, is in Europe, and in her absence Mrs. George M. Shirk will be the chief spokesman. Mrs. Mary H. Knowles will review the situation from the beginning, and both women will urge more activity on the part of the company for electrification of its lines.

"We accuse the company of breach of faith," said Mrs. Knowles. "We are not expecting anything unreasonable from the Illinois Central people, but we only wish they would let us know what they are doing. Since the officials promised us that they would investigate the matter we have called off all suits against the railroad for violating the smoke ordinance, but we have heard nothing beyond promises. Nothing tangible has been done.

Conditions Worse than Ever.

"Last January Mrs. Sergel wrote to Mayor Busse and President Harahan, and was asked for more time. It is now six months, and we are becoming impatient. Meanwhile, the conditions are becoming more and more unbearable. The smoke is worse than it ever was, and it has been bad enough in the last ten years."

It is felt by the committee, according to Mrs. Shirk, that the mayor is with the league in its efforts to secure electrification of the line. At the same time she says that neither he nor any of the officials of the Illinois Central have made known to her what progress has been made and what problems are hindering them. This, she says, is the information desired at the meeting.

Expect Persistence to Win.

"If we keep at it long enough, I feel we will win," said Mrs. Shirk.

The league began its campaign for changing the motive power on the railroad in September, when a petition was signed by more than 50,000 persons.

A month later, partly through the urgings of the mayor, the company agreed to electrify as soon as it was feasible. Thereupon the league called off a number of suits that were pending. Patient waiting has been the rule since that time.

FIRE TAKES "DRINK" ON QUIET.

Flames Found at Two Points in Fred Train's Saloon at 2037 Wabash Avenue on Election Day.

Fire of supposed incendiary origin in the saloon of Fred Train, 2037 Wabash avenue, caused a loss of $1,200 yesterday afternoon. The proprietor told the Twenty-second street police that thieves set fire to the place after robbing the cash register.

On account of election day the saloon was closed. Firemen found two blazes in different parts of the basement. The flames were attacking the barroom when Battalion Chief, O'Connor and his men arrived.

Train is of the opinion that thieves entered the saloon by way of the skylight.

CAUGHT AFTER 3 YEAR CHASE.

Stanisla Demichele Arrested Here on Charges of Trying to Kill Two Men and Woman in Italy.

Stanisla Demichele, who has been wanted for three years in Italy on three charges of attempted murder, was arrested yesterday by Detectives Longobardi and Bernacchi at Sholto and West Polk streets. He fled from Italy in 1906, after stabbing two men and a woman. Since then the police of several countries have been searching for him. He will be taken to New York on Saturday for deportation.

Independent voters shattered party lines yesterday. Chicago and Cook county indulged in an uncontrollable riot of ticket slashing. The political organizations were beaten back from the courts after a spectacular conflict at the polls, and when all was said and done the results figured up in this style:

Judge Richard W. Clifford, Judge Edward O. Brown, and Judge Francis Adams—Democrats—defeated for re-election.

Kickham Scanlan, Adelor J. Petit, and Jesse A. Baldwin—Republicans—elected as their successors.

Judge Theodore Brentano re-elected to the Superior court over William Brown Jr., Democrat, by a plurality of 26,804.

Complexion of the Circuit court bench changed from nine Democrats and five Republicans to eight Republicans and six Democrats.

South park "patronage" controlled by the Circuit court judges passes into Republican hands—the last vestige of political power in Cook county which had remained to the Democrats.

Result Shocks Organizations.

The result of the election was a terrific surprise to both the Republican and the Democratic political organizations. It was disappointing to the Republicans to the extent that the party managers verily expected to make a "clean sweep" and to elect each one of the party nominees.

To the Democrats it is a saddening and thoroughly depressing blow. The men who have been at the forefront of the campaign had absolute faith that the nine Democratic sitting judges would be reëlected beyond question and there was substantial hope that the nine old judges added sufficient strength to the ticket to pull through the other five Circuit court nominees.

The Socialist party polled 9,328 votes for the high man on that party's ticket. The low man had 7,297 votes. As a consequence the Socialist leaders in the evening expressed intense pleasure at having more than held their own in an election in which they had no expectation of having a fighting chance.

United Societies Jubilant.

The United Societies for Local Self-Government, through the official of the organization, are in a state of jubilation. Eleven of the Circuit court candidates indorsed by the United Societies were elected—Judges Gibbons, Kersten, Tuthill, Pinckney, Carpenter, Honoré, Walker, Mack, Baker, and Kickham Scanlan, and Adelor J. Petit. Judge Brentano of the Superior court also had the approval of the United Societies, three of the Circuit court candidates, with the approval of the United Societies, fell just outside the breastworks—Judge Brown, John P. McGoorty, and William H. Arthur. Judges Windes and Smith and Jesse A. Baldwin were elected without the aid or consent of the United Societies.

Bar Primary Forgotten?

The Chicago Bar association did not formally present a list of candidates indorsed for the guidance of the voters. The association, however, held a bar primary. Of the first fourteen candidates in that primary, in the Circuit court list, seven were successful—Judges Windes, Carpenter, Pinckney, Smith, Mack, Honoré, and Baker—together with Judge Brentano for the Superior court.

The six candidates who had the tacit approbation of the Bar association and who failed to qualify in the list of the first fourteen are Judges Adams, Brown, and Clifford, and John F. Holland, Homer E. Tinsman, and Charles Alling Jr. The Bar association, through the bar primary, had placed its approval upon seven Republicans and seven Democrats.

The independent voter, the man who went to the polls and violated most of the political precedents by which elections have been figured out, was the real merry citizen last night. He had demonstrated that he knows enough to enter a voting booth and dull his pencil in scratching tickets to his heart's content.

Talk of Official Recount.

The returns of the election, as received in the evening, are unofficial. The official canvass, made from the official returns of the election judges and clerks, will begin tomorrow in the office of the board of election commissioners for the city precincts and Cicero and in the office of County Clerk Haas for the voting districts in the country towns.

There were strong rumors after midnight, after a survey of the close figures indicated by the unofficial returns, that there will be a movement for an official recount of the ballots cast.

This talk is based on the presumption that the slashing and scratching was so general throughout the county that grave errors may have been made by the election judges and clerks.

But 182 votes, on the unofficial figures, stand between Judge Baker, the fourteenth candidate in the final catalogue, and Judge Brown, the fifteenth. Judge Clifford is 2,350 votes behind Brown and McGoorty 146 behind Clifford.

The total vote cast in the county was 170,177, on the basis of the vote cast for the Superior court judgeship, which in itself is a surprise to the political managers, who had anticipated a comparatively light vote.

Ticket Slashing on Great Scale.

It was a day of wholesale ticket slashing. The party circle was a hole without a rim. In scarcely a ward in Chicago does it appear from the returns that the voters had any use for the place where the cross is supposed to go.

The citizens walked to the polls—and in greater numbers by far than the political managers had deemed probable—and voted as they pleased.

Political form and the prognostications of the experts failed miserably to indicate the result of the voting. The talk that wards, certain political cliques, certain conditions would perform certain feats of political legerdemain, was only partly correct.

The Lorimer organization, which had forced Petit on the ticket, undoubtedly wanted him elected and rolled up a tremendous vote for him, making his election possible. Yet Petit ran remarkably strong in wards where there has been no tinge of Lorimerism.

Gibbons and Kersten High Men.

The fact that Judge Gibbons leads all others and is returned to the bench with a vote 27,357 greater than that for the fourteenth man in the list—Judge Baker—is not surprising to the men who have been in intimate touch with the final developments of the judicial campaign. His election was certain forty-eight hours ago.

Judge Kerstein was the high Democrat, running a shade behind Judge Gibbons, and in all the earlier returns easily holding first place. His support came from every ward in town and country.

Gibbons, Kersten, Tuthill, Scanlan—this quartet showed as the first four of the twenty-eight in nearly every bulletin and continued in that classification to the end. Scanlan had the unqualified support of the Northwest side Republicans, of the Republican organization generally, and with perhaps the strongest personal following of any of the candidates.

Score of the Socialists.

The Socialist party candidates received votes in nearly every precinct of the city and in most of the country towns. The total vote cast for the candidates on the Socialist ticket follows:

Seymour Stedman	9,328
J. J. Kral	8,627
Samuel Block	8,216
Peter Sissman	8,163
Marcus H. Taft	8,113
W. C. Benton	7,773
D. J. Bentall	7,719
William Bross Lloyd	7,707
Henry E. Murphy	7,633
William Feathers	7,585
Louis J. Delson	7,540
W. A. Cunnea	7,527
A. W. Mance	7,330
A. B. Hvale	7,297

Another Republican Alderman.

James Rea, Republican, was elected alderman from the Thirty-second ward over James J. Kelly, Democrat, by a plurality of 2,589. A heavy vote was brought out by the contending party organizations. The election was to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of former Ald. Tinsman, who withdrew from the council to become one of the Republican candidates for Circuit judge.

The final result in the judicial election was not ascertained until complete returns had been received from all of the city precincts and from the country towns. The country towns, with their preponderating Republican vote, changed the tide in favor of the Republican candidates, who were close to the border line, Judge Smith and Jesse A. Baldwin profiting particularly by the returns from the country districts and from Oak Park and Evanston.

First Ward "Regular," as Usual.

"Hinky Dink" and "the Bathhouse" started out early in the morning and before noon most of the First ward had voted. The vote was nearly of aldermanic proportions and the thoroughgoing nature of the First ward organization is reflected in the figures. It was cut and slash all along the line. Judge Clifford lives in the First and was accorded the high vote in the returns. The average Democratic lead in the ward was about 500, but Brown for Superior court judge defeated Brentano by 145. Carpenter, Gibbons, Tuthill, Scanlan, and Petit on the Republican ticket were most materially boosted. Kersten, Honoré, and Windes held the honors on the Democratic side.

Col. Chauncey Dewey's Republican organization did business in the Second, but it came far from delivering straight Republican tickets in the ballot boxes. Charles Alling Jr. was the candidate for whom the Second warders labored and turned out a big vote. Judge Gibbons was a neck behind Alling. Col. Dewey did not produce materially for Tinsman and Schmitt, Petit running ahead of both of them. The ward was overwhelmingly for Brentano.

Gibbons Sweeps the Third.

Judge Gibbons swept up the Third ward because it is his home bailiwick, and because the Madden and anti-Madden Republicans as well as the fighting factions of Democracy were openly working for him. Morrill, Arthur, and Murray, at the bottom of the Democratic ticket, were sacrificed by the organization Democrats for Tuthill, Scanlan, and Petit.

Olson, from Gov. Deneen's ward, was placed among the leaders, due to the efforts of the Ettelson-Schuyler end of the Republican machine, it is declared from sources near their headquarters.

The Fourth and Fifth wards traveled along as usual in harmony, marking up the tickets so as to help Kersten, Gibbons, Scanlan, Tuthill, and Petit.

Carpenter Strong in Sixth.

Although John F. Holland lives in the Sixth, the Republican honors in that part of Hyde Park went to Judge Carpenter. Judge Kersten ran ahead of most of the Democrats. The figures show that political lines were completely wiped out and forgotten.

The Seventh was practically in the same mental condition, but remembered to roll up a tremendous vote for Judge Pinckney. Pinckney received 6,382 votes, while Judge Brentano at the head of the ticket had only 5,144 votes.

Bulkley, Schmitt, Petit, and Tinsman ran behind the rest of the Republican ticket. Judge Mack swept everything before him on the Democratic ticket, receiving 5,254 votes, while Morrill, the lowest Democrat, had but 1,830.

The Eighth rolled up a big vote for Almon W. Bulkley, but not in sufficient quantity to place him in the magic list of fourteen.

Loeffler District Behind Mack.

The Loeffler territory—the Ninth, Tenth, and Eleventh wards went almost as a unit on the slate which was evidently agreeable to the Loeffler lieutenants on the Democratic side and the Republican organization, which is now close to Senator Elect Lorimer.

The big fact which sticks out of the figures, however, is the strength which Judge Mack demonstrated. Mack defeated everybody in the Ninth ward, although on the head of the ticket this Democratic stronghold gave Judge Brentano 358 plurality over Brown. Gibbons, Scanlan, Petit, and Kersten ran almost neck and neck. John T. Murray, Democrat, received a heavy vote. It was the territory which nominated Murray in the primaries.

The Tenth ward was almost a duplicate of the Ninth on form. Petit led the field with Kersten a close second.

Echoes of the bitter Deneen-Yates fight and the Healy-Wayman contest were freely heard. Schmitt, with the backing of former State's Attorney Healy and the Lake View organization, ran absolutely last, while Olson and Tinsman, the marked Deneen candidates, were not far ahead of them.

Judge Tuthill had big help in the Thirteenth, close to his home. The Lorimer strength was actively behind Petit. Kersten led all Democrats.

Campbell vs. Roger C.

It was pretty near an even toss up in the Fourteenth with just a shade separating the first and the last of the twenty-eight Republican and Democratic candidates aside from Scanlan. Postmaster Campbell pitted his Republican organization against Roger C. Sullivan and the Democratic workers, and no quarter was asked or given. This is Scanlan's home ward and a handsome lead was his portion of the day's doings. Brentano won the ward by 350.

The Sixteenth ward Republican organization busied itself for Scanlan, standing with the rest of the northwest side Republicans on the proposition. Stanley Kunz turned out the Democrats and kept a fair average of his followers in line for the Democratic ticket, Brown carrying the ward against Brentano by a small lead. Gibbons, Tuthill, and Petit shared with Scanlan the net result of the slicing which was given to the Democratic ticket.

In the Seventeenth it was a horse race, the returns showing a chaotic marking of the ballots. Fewer than 300 votes separated the high man and the low in the totals. Scanlan led everybody, Gibbons next, and Kersten was third. McGoorty ran strongly in this ward.

Brennan's Brigade Storms Polls.

Ald. John Brennan produced enough votes to do justice to a city election in the Eighteenth. He sent the Democratic organization forces to the polls and delivered a plurality for Brown over Brentano of exactly 1,100. Down in the list of Circuit judges the pencils scratched their points to a frazzle. Gibbons, Scanlan, and Petit were the chief beneficiaries of the slashing. Walker, Honoré, Baker, Windes, and Clifford were kept at nearly a parity with Kersten on the Democratic ticket.

The Nineteenth ward was all shot to pieces from a strictly political viewpoint. The Republican workers under Chris Mamer and the Democratic machine controlled by Ald. Johnnie Powers worked together and recorded the votes for Gibbons, Kersten, Tuthill, Petit, and Scanlan. Burke made a strong showing in the Nineteenth.

Judge Tuthill's friends and neighbors turned out in his aid in the Twentieth and sent him out of the ward with 3,316 votes—2,300 more than the low man in the race. Judge Gibbons was close behind him. Judge Mack had a big vote, and Burke demonstrated his personal strength in his home territory by running third in the list of Democratic nominees.

North Side Votes in Force.

The north side wards threw political lines over into Lake Michigan and voted according to their personal preferences. The territory was fairly alive with candidates on one ticket or the other, with the result that a terrific vote was cast, much larger than had been anticipated by the political organization leaders.

Mayor Busse was especially interested in watching the interests of his neighbors in the Twenty-first. The Republican and Democratic organizations were busy and between them turned out nearly 5,000 votes. Judge Brentano defeated William Brown by less than 800. Judge Kersten had the biggest vote, due to his personal associations in the ward. Judges Walker, Honoré, and Brown ran nearly together on the Democratic ticket. Judges Carpenter and Smith, also Twenty-first warders, shared the Republican honors.

Votes Against Tradition.

The Twenty-second went against tradition, and, Democratic as it is, gave Judge Brentano a lead of almost 400. Kersten and Gibbons were coupled in the vote getting. Petit was strongly supported. Adams ran far behind.

Judge Kersten lives in the Twenty-third ward, and the figures show he ran 600 ahead of his nearest competitor. The north side candidates were big vote getters. The Republicans were not far apart.

The Twenty-fifth ward Republicans did not feel it necessary to give to Frank P. Schmitt the greatest vote in that side of Lake View, Judge Carpenter being the first man on the Republican ticket, with Schmitt fifth in the list. Kersten had a great lead on the Democratic list. Party lines cut no figure whatever.

The Twenty-sixth ward Republican organization was in good working order and aroused enough interest to get out 3,587 votes for Judge Brentano, while the Democrats were skirmishing up 1,815 for Mr. Brown. As to the rest of the ticket, the voters went at things to suit themselves. Judge Kersten led all the rest with 300 more votes than Brentano received. Although Senator Schmitt lives next door to the Twenty-sixth, he was far down in the ranks on the Republican side, Carpenter, Gibbons, Pinckney, Smith, Tuthill, Baldwin, Scanlan, and Petit, Republicans, running ahead of him, and Walker, Hororé, Windes, and Mack defeating him.

The Twenty-seventh voted for everybody, and evidently without regard to anybody's interest except that of Judge Kersten, who ran away from everybody else.

Easy Sailing for Scanlan.

Scanlan had easy sailing in the Twenty-eighth, where the working agreement between the northwest side Republicans was faithfully kept, evidently. Right behind him, however, came Judge Gibbons and Kersten followed directly after. Schmitt and Tinsman suffered disastrously in the ballot splitting, on the Republican ticket, running nearly a thousand votes each behind Judge Brentano.

Judge Brentano carried the Twenty-ninth ward by 131 votes, which surprised even the Republican campaign managers, when they heard the news from the stockyards bailiwick, heretofore always Democratic. The returns on the Circuit judgeships are badly mixed, Kersten and Gibbons traveling at about the same rate of speed and walking in at the finish.

Helps Tinsman, but Not Enough.

The aldermanic contest brought out nearly a record breaking vote in the Thirty-second, which helped Tinsman materially, but all of the Republicans were aided at the same time. This is where Mr. Tinsman lives. His vote was a shade smaller than that of Carpenter, Gibbons, and Pinckney, with Judge Tuthill getting about the best of the argument. Schmitt ran the weakest on the Republican ticket, while the Deneen orgnization did not appear to be much worried about Olson, and not at all about Petit. Kersten easily led the Democratic candidates.

The Thirty-third went big for Brentano. Olson showed well in the Republican side, but Gibbons, Tuthill, Kersten, and Honoré exchanged enough votes to come out of the ward much in the lead of their competitors.

It was in the Thirty-fourth that Petit made his run for life. He ran 1,700 votes ahead of Brentano and 900 ahead of Gibbons, who was next to him on the Republican ticket. Kersten led all Democrats with 3,333 votes, Burke closely trailing him with 3,057.

The Lorimer allies in the Thirty-fifth saw to it that Petit's rights were preserved, although all of the candidates ran pretty closely together.

Candidates Await Returns.

Republican headquarters were crowded in the evening with party workers and a few of the judicial candidates, who dropped in to see how things were going. After they got the news, they remained in the rooms to keep out of the rain. None of the successful Republican candidates appeared at headquarters except Judge Elect Scanlan, the others being content to stay at home or in clubs after the strenuous campaign and get the returns over the telephone.

"Naturally I am pleased at my election and feel grateful to my friends for the good work they did in my behalf," said Judge Elect Scanlan. "It is somewhat of a disappointment that the whole Republican ticket was not elected, but I do think the voters have returned a splendid judiciary, and all of the men elected are well qualified for positions on the Cook county bench."

Chairman Charles W. Andrews of the Republican county central committee expressed some surprise at the outcome.

"I must say it is a surprise to me," he said, "for I was confident the whole ticket would be elected. However, we have made a good showing and one must remember it is hard to beat a sitting judge."

John J. Hanberg was neither disappointed nor elated.

"I looked for an even break and that is just about what we got," he said. "It was a nonpartisan campaign and one in which personality counted more than party ties. The Republican candidates who were elected are all good men, and although the defeated candidates were equally good, the successful men were perhaps better known to the voters."

Sullivan and Dunne Sad.

There were a few of the Democratic managers around county headquarters early in the evening.

"I had hoped for better things," said Roger C. Sullivan when the results were apparent. "At least that the division would be the reverse of what it turned out. I really had some confidence that we would elect nine or ten Democrats and that the Republican total would be four or five. The only element of satisfaction in the situation beside my personal pleasure because of the victory of some of my friends is that the county bench is not partisan. That is as it should be."

Former Mayor Edward F. Dunne expressed a similar feeling.

"I regret that a greater part of our ticket was not elected," he said. "I really had looked forward to a victory. In addition, I feel great regret at the defeat of Judges Adams, Clifford, and Brown. They were all tried lawyers and jurists and I felt sure and still feel that they had won the confidence of the public. I cannot account for their defeat."

"There was something wrong somewhere," was the comment of John McGillen. "I want to see the ward votes before I talk too much about the outcome."

The members of the political action committee of the United Societies were jubilant.

"I regard the outcome as a demonstration of the strength of the United Societies," said Ald. A. J. Cermak, secretary of the organization. "It is a victory for the principles for which we stand."

Bar Association Puzzled.

Members and officers of the Chicago Bar association had little to say when the result of the election was communicated to them. After checking up with the Bar association primary vote and discovering that Judge Gibbons—who received only 877 votes at the primary against 882 votes for Judge Windes, the head of the bar ticket—was the favorite with the voters and led the list of judges elect, and that other men who were equally unpopular with the lawyers stood high in the estimation of the voters, the lawyers contented themselves with saying they would have to "analyze the vote" before expressing any opinion.

"I don't know what to think of it," said Thomas M. Hoyne, president of the association. "Of course Judge Gibbons always gets a lot of Democratic votes and seems to stand high with the Republican voters as well. Judge Kersten is sure to get the whole strength of the Democratic party, and for the others—well, I suppose it is simply a case where some of the men put up a hotter campaign than the others, or perhaps their friends worked harder for them. I'm sure I don't know how to interpret the result."

Farlin H. Ball, secretary of the association, said:

"It is a great surprise, but I couldn't attempt to give any explanation, because there must have been a certain amount of politics at issue and it isn't possible for a layman to size it up. It is, however, an evenly divided bench between the Republicans and Democrats, and that is one of the things that the Bar association stands for."

Friends Congratulate Gibbons.

Soon after it became apparent that Judge Gibbons would be reëlected, and would lead both tickets a number of friends went to his residence at 3402 Forest avenue, to pay their respects. Judge Gibbons smilingly accepted their congratulations and said he appreciated the honor shown him by the voters.

"I thank my many friends among the voters and the press from the bottom of my heart for the confidence they have shown in giving me their support," Judge Gibbons said. "I cannot express my appreciation."

Miss Elizabeth Woodbury gave several recitations, and Miss Irene Scolosky, a violinist, assisted in the entertainment.

Five Saloon Men Arrested.

Five arrests were made by the police of the Desplaines street station yesterday of persons charged with keeping saloons open during the hours when the election was in progress.

In addition to the arrests made by the police the Law and Order league had a force of four regular men and a score of volunteers at work securing evidence against places that kept the bar open in violation of the law. Arthur Burrage Farwell, secretary of the league, said:

"We have had five telephone calls and two postal cards naming definite places where saloons were open in defiance of the law. All of these are being investigated, but on the whole it appears to have been an orderly day."

In several districts the captains of police gave permission to saloonkeepers who do a large restaurant trade to keep their restaurants open during the noon hour, but in these places it appeared the law was being obeyed.

The arrests as recorded by the police were as follows:

Sam Levine, bartender.
James Foley, saloonkeeper.
Adolph S. Callner, saloonkeeper.
Harry Frank, bartender.

Man Who Brings Action Against Collier's Weekly Said He Fired in Self-Defense.

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—The killing of Guy M. Bradley, the Florida game warden who was active in preventing the wholesale slaughter of birds of plumage in the rookeries along the Florida coast, was described graphically today by his slayer, Capt. Walter M. Smith, before Justice Gerard and a jury in the Supreme court, when he took the stand in the trial of his suit against Collier's Weekly for $50,000 damages for alleged libel.

Warden Bradley was shot near Cape Sable, the southernmost point of the mainland of the Florida peninsula, July 8, 1905. Capt. Smith took his family to Key West immediately after the shooting and gave himself up to the sheriff, alleging the warden shot first and that he fired in self-defense. Capt. Smith was in jail until Dec. 22 of that year, and the grand jury finally released him when no evidence could be found to contradict.

On April 21, 1906, Collier's Weekly published an article captioned "Bird Protection's First Martyr—A True Story," which purported to recite the details of Warden Bradley's death and practically charged he had been murdered by a man who had made threats against him.

"That morning I and my sons, Tom and Dan, and a man named Philip B. Endrige, went out turtling; that is, we were after turtles with nets. When we were about one and one-half miles from the shore my two boys got into a small boat to kill some birds. I saw a sail coming out from the mainland and fired my gun as a signal to the boys to come aboard. The boys obeyed and brought a couple of brant, or, as we call them, 'nigger geese.'

"The boys had just got aboard when Bradley came alongside and said: 'I want that pet son of yours.' I told him that if he wanted him he would have to take him. Then Bradley said: 'D—n you, I'll get you yet.'

"Then Bradley came around to the stern of the boat and said: 'I've got a warrant for that boy's arrest, and I guess you know the penalty of evading the law.' He had a pistol in his hand and when I saw the pistol I jumped behind the mast.

"Bradley fired immediately and when he shot I fired back."

HAND RE-ELECTED IN FIFTH DISTRICT

John P. Hand, the Republican candidate for Supreme justice in the Fifth Supreme court district, was reëlected yesterday over C. C. Craig, his Democratic opponent.

Conservative estimates place his majority at between 8,000 and 9,000, but at a late hour Justice Hand claimed more than that.

Hand carried every county in the district save Marshall, which went to Craig by 92 votes. The following are the majorities for Hand by counties, La Salle county being estimated:

Stark	430	Knox	700	Woodford	1,150
Putnam	119	Bureau	1,200	Peoria	600
Henry	2,000	Grundy	1,150	†La Salle	2,000

†Estimated.

La Salle Furnishes a Surprise.

The result in La Salle county was the surprise of the day. It was among the miners of that county that Craig had distributed his circulars attacking the injunction decision of Hand. In Spring Valley Hand carried every precinct, although it is a strong mining town.

A letter sent out by Sol Frolich, a wholesale liquor dealer, to liquor dealers in the district, urging them to vote for Craig, had some effect in Peoria county, where the distillery and saloon element worked against Hand, and Craig succeeded in carrying that city by a small majority. But in the county outside the vote for Hand was large and overcame Craig's majority.

Craig carried Galesburg by 63 votes, and probably would have got a heavier vote had it not been for Frolich's circular, which aroused the local option element to activity not only in that city but throughout Knox county. In the morning automobiles were sent out to various parts of the county containing bills displaying this letter as it appeared in THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

Vindication of Hand's Ruling.

Considering the fact that an effort was made to unite the labor union vote against Justice Hand because of his injunction decision in the Franklin union case, the result is regarded as vindication of the position taken by the Supreme court.

Among the congratulations that went to Justice Hand from the district was that by Senator Daly of Peoria, declaring the victory showed an appreciation of Hand's years of work on the bench and of positions he had taken for the public welfare. In commenting on the victory Hand last night said he had fought a clean battle and had not done anything that was not in accord with honorable political methods.

CRIMINAL LAWS UNDER HOT FIRE

Penal Jurisprudence of the United States Declared to Need Much Mending.

VIEWS OF EXPERTS GIVEN

Important Conference on Social Conditions Begins Its Sessions in Chicago.

Criminal jurisprudence in the United States is pretty much gone to the dogs, laws of the land of the free and the home of the brave dealing with crime need a whole lot of tinkering, and the entire system of trial and punishment for this class of offenders against society is booked for an early revolution, in the opinion of 250 students of social conditions who are in conference in Chicago.

At the first day's session of the national conference on criminal law and crimonology, called by the Northwestern University School of Law in celebration of its fiftieth anniversary, the grand jury was shot full of holes and declared fit to be abolished; the present system of choosing juries was lambasted, courts which permit new trials on trivial technicalities were castigated, and as rough treatment was given to expert testimony.

Men attending the conference in the Northwestern University Law School building at 87 Lake street include students of crime from every state in the union. Among these are judges, lawyers, college professors, medical specialists, government statisticians, and ministers of the gospel.

Not before in the history of the country have there been gathered men representing these various callings in the life of the nation for the purpose of considering crime from every angle.

May Form National Organization.

During the first hour's deliberation of the committee on resolutions, appointed yesterday noon, it was voted to make a permanent national organization as an outgrowth of this conference, and resolutions to that effect will be presented to the general conference for adoption this afternoon. This was the hope of the originators of this first conference and is ample reward for the time, labor, and expense already incurred.

For the expedition of business coming before the conference it was divided into three sections, these to discuss separately matters bearing on offenders against the law, the organization and training of officers of the law, and criminal law and procedure, each of these sections to present resolutions for the general indorsement of the conference.

Section 3, having to do with criminal practices, met at night and voted to abolish grand juries as a detriment to speedy trials. Judge Charles A. Pollock of North Dakota, Judge Alfred Budge of Idaho, and Prof. Howard Smith of Madison, Wis., addressed the conference and pointed out the success attendant upon lack of grand juries in their own states.

Would Reduce Technicalities.

It was resolved that technicalities, such as attempts to influence the jury, and trivial errors, should not be permitted as grounds for appeal unless in the mind of the court the same resulted in miscarriage of justice.

Detailed objection to the method of introducing expert testimony was offered in the form of a resolution, and will be presented to the general conference this afternoon.

The three sections of the conference will meet separately in the various assembly rooms this afternoon. It is the purpose of the conference to dispose of ten questions, each bearing upon some phase of criminal jurisprudence demanding immediate revision, according to the opinion of the delegates, either by means of resolution demanding legislative change or by assignment to a committee to be reported upon at a subsequent conference.

The committee of resolutions will report at the afternoon meeting.

Pound Outlines Aims.

One hundred and fifty delegates to the conference were in the assembly room of the Northwestern university law school, 87 Lake street, when the opening address was delivered by Prof. Roscoe Pound. The latter introduced Gov. Deneen, who welcomed visiting jurists, educators, and medical specialists from other states. For permanent chairman of the conference Attorney Frank J. Loesch nominated Attorney James Hagerman of St. Louis, former president of the American Bar association, and the election was by acclaim.

In stating the aims of the crime conference, in the organization of which Prof. Pound has been chiefly instrumental, he said in part:

"There is well grounded dissatisfaction with the administration of punitive justice in America. The criminologist claims that fear of punishment does not restrain crime. The sociologist complains that whereas the true purpose of punishment is protection of society the basis of judicial punishment is revenge; that whereas the rights of society ought to be borne in mind continually, the law looks chiefly at individual rights; that whereas sociology shows the necessity of the study of the actual criminal, the law deals with him in the abstract and speculates over responsibility. The plain citizen knows only that he pays taxes to maintain prisons, courts, sheriffs, constables, police, and public prosecutors, that notwithstanding a cost of $400,000,000 annually society is not protected, crimes are not punished, and lawlessness is general."

Delegates Submit Questions.

As a basis for the discussion of crime problems at this conference, delegates were requested to send to the secretary several months ago questions for deliberation. These were received to the number of 133. To expedite deliberations, the conference was divided into three sections, and these met first in the afternoon, taking up one at a time the various topics assigned.

In section 2, presided over by Prof. E. A. Ross of the University of Wisconsin, the establishment of laboratories in the cities under municipal, state, and federal control for the purpose of studying criminals was discussed.

Prof. Ross predicted the near future would see a comprehensive anthropological survey.

"We have had geological surveys, surveys of the insect, soil surveys, and countless other surveys," he said. "It is high time that man begins to study himself and to do it in a systematic manner. Laboratories should be established all over the country, and the convicted criminal should be studied, physically, mentally, and morally, and this data compiled. When we have enough for reference it will be invaluable to the jurist and the prosecutor."

Protruding Ears Not Proof?

Judge Lee V. Estell of the Juvenile court of Omaha entered an objection to the effect that it would be impossible to get enough material together to insure a reliable guide. He expressed the opinion that a man should not be called a criminal just because his ears stick out.

Judge William H. De Lacey of the Juvenile court of Washington, D. C., contended that if such bureaus were established one should be found in every city, town, and hamlet, but that it should not be supposed the same sort of a survey of mankind could be made as has been made of inanimate rocks.

Prof. Pound called attention to the freedom granted investigators in European countries, where scientific students are permitted to take measurements of convicted criminals and use individuals at will in the furtherance of crime research.

Judge Julian W. Mack urged the collection of such data. "This is simply a search for truth," he said. "Nobody claims it will be worth anything if it simply is a study of the physical man apart from his spiritual and environment makeup. With all this data at hand, the truth of our present viewpoint of crime either will be established or we will be convinced that it is all wrong."

Favors Federal Examinations.

One section of the conference adopted a resolution to the effect that it would be advisable for governmental authorities to conduct anthropometric and psychological examinations of all convicted criminals and to compile the history of all the state's known dependents and delinquents.

This section later discussed the matter of police training. Delegates asserted the police of the cities practically had no training, so far as concerned knowledge of legal evidence. A school for police, which each man appointed to the force should be required to attend, was urged. Dean George A. Beecher, dean of Trinity cathedral, Omaha, declared such training should be given police chiefs as well as patrolmen.

Attorney Robert N. Holt, former assistant state's attorney, said many murder cases were lost to the state because a bungling policeman, the first man on the scene, had covered up or failed to collect vital evidence.

Many Authorities Attend.

Among the prominent delegates to the conference who arrived during the day were: George A. Beecher, dean Trinity cathedral, Omaha; Joseph P. Byers, secretary American Prison association, New York; William H. De Lacey, judge of Juvenile court, Washington, D. C.; Homer Folks, chairman state probation commission, New York; Alexander Hadden, Probate judge, Cleveland, O.; James Hagerman, St. Louis, Mo.; Oliver A. Harker, dean University of Illinois Law school; Joseph Jastrow, professor psychology University of Wisconsin; John Koren, United States investigator of juvenile criminals, Boston, Mass.; Robert H. Marr, District judge, New Orleans, La.; Alfred R. Page, former state senator, New York; Charles A. Pollock, District judge, Fargo, N. D.; Morton Prince, professor of nervous diseases, Tufts college, Boston; Frank L. Randall, superintendent Minnesota State reformatory; William W. Smithers, criminologist, Philadelphia; James H. Webb, professor criminal law, Yale university; Lightner Witmer, professor psychology, University of Pennsylvania.

Time honored customs were observed at the "class day," celebration of Northwestern university at Evanston yesterday. Six hundred gorgeously costumed students marched from Willard hall to the gymnasium in the afternoon and later class day exercises were held. President Frazer Arnold of the senior class was in charge. C. C. Wells gave the valedictory address; Miss Clara Belle Baker read the class poem; Miss Louise Shell planted ivy in front of the college of liberal arts. The senior class history, prophecy, and legacy were read by Miss Dorothy Horning, Miss Helen Coles, and Miss Pearl Greenough. A large stop clock, to be placed in the indoor field, is the gift of the seniors to the university, following a custom of making a parting present to the institution.

Among other customs perpetuated was the smoking of the pipe of peace. This is passed around the senior class and then is handed to the president of the juniors, who is always a girl.

This will be "alumni day" at the university. The forenoon will be given up to class reunions. At 11:30 a. m. the alumni will gather by classes in University hall and march to the gymnasium, where luncheon will be served. President A. W. Harris of the university will address the assembly later.

Women members of the King's Sons and King's Daughters, a charitable society of Austin, told last night how they "went through" their husbands' pockets and sold their grandmothers' prescriptions to raise money for the poor.

Mrs. W. G. Bennett, 231 South Prairie avenue, said she found $2.37 in old trousers belonging to her husband which she appropriated, pressing the trousers as payment.

Mrs. A. H. Johnson, 130 South Willow avenue, admitted she had sold an old prescription of her grandmother, guaranteed to grow hair on any bald head, to Mrs. Bennett's husband.

There are fifteen male members and each will be fined $1 for not attending.

CLEMINSON THEORY IS UPSET

TELLS ALL TO CAPT. KANE.

Letters Construed as Love Missives Written to Find Work.

The "beautiful blond affinity" theory in the mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Nora Jane Cleminson, wife of Dr. Haldane Cleminson, in their home at 4188 Wayne avenue on Sunday of last week, was shattered yesterday.

This young woman, reported as wealthy, turns out to be a nurse who is one of seven heirs to an estate of $30,000. She declares her relations with the accused physician were of a purely business nature, and Capt. Thomas C. Kane believes her.

She is the woman for whom Detective Albert C. Boschulte went to Dubuque, Ia., and who was sought by an automobileful of detectives at midnight Sunday. When Chicago relatives informed her that Capt. Kane desired an interview she went to see him, arriving at the Sheffield avenue station about 2 o'clock and remaining closeted with the official until he was satisfied there was no love affair between her and Dr. Cleminson.

Denies Ever Seeing Prisoner.

While the nurse was being questioned in the captain's office Detective William Parker had the author of this clew confront Dr. Cleminson in the county jail, and the man admitted he never had seen the physician.

Despite these things, Capt. Kane still insists he will present a strong case before the grand jury tomorrow.

Letters from "the beautiful blonde" found among the effects of Dr. Cleminson, which were construed as being love missives, were fully explained by her, and she showed they referred to her application for work from him.

Facts learned from this young woman put a different construction on the relations between Dr. Cleminson and Miss Anna Kolb, who was interviewed by the police last week, and Capt. Kane decided to have another talk with Miss Kolb and sent Detective Frank Zeis to 12 Crilly court to notify her.

Miss Kolb Leaves Home.

The detective learned that Miss Kolb had her trunk taken to a railroad station Saturday afternoon. Previous to her detention several days ago Miss Kolb declared her intention of visiting Hammond, Ind., and last night the police had not learned whether she merely was carrying out these plans or trying to evade further notoriety.

Doctor's Former Neighbors Talk.

Inspector Stephen K. Healy conferred with Capt. Kane last night. Both officials were much interested in the supposed history of the early life of Cleminson as related to Detective Boschulte by residents of Dubuque, the prisoner's former home.

According to these stories Cleminson while still attending school advertised in eastern journals to the effect that "for the small sum of $1 he would mail a book containing lessons from life." The impression was given that the book contained immoral matter, but Cleminson, in return for the dollar, sent a cheap copy of the bible.

Once, the detective says, Cleminson leaped from a second story window at his home and never was able to give a reason for so doing. He showed other traits of eccentricity.

PASS LIE IN INSURANCE SUIT

ONE INSINUATES BRIBERY?

Remark His Experts Are Above Suspicion Draws Hot Retort.

Bribery was charged, the lie passed, and threats to fight made in an altercation between Attorneys Charles H. Aldrich and Lewis A. Stebbins before Master in Chancery Sigmund Zeisler yesterday.

The trouble arose in the course of the suit of the National Life Insurance company against J. Edson McEldowney and Gustave Myers. George Birkhoff Jr. had testified as a real estate expert that the National Life property on La Salle street is worth only $2,090,000, and not $3,000,000, as scheduled by the company in its assets. There was a dispute over the number of experts to be allowed each side, Master Zeisler proposing to set a limit of six, and Attorney Aldrich, on behalf of the defendants, contending for more.

Insinuation of Bribery?

In arguing the matter in Master Zeisler's chambers after adjournment he said:

"Our men are beyond the suspicion of being bribed to testify in our favor. Moreover, we are not offering real estate experts large sums not to testify here."

"Do you mean to say that I am?" inquired Attorney Stebbins.

"Not you personally," was the reply.

"Or my client?" pursued Mr. Stebbins.

"I mean that such offers have been made," said Aldrich.

Exchange the Term "Lie."

"It is not a lie, but I have not permission to name the man," replied Aldrich. "My informant is one of the leading business men of Chicago and a man of much higher character than yourself."

"No such statement was ever made to you," declared the attorney for the plaintiff with increasing heat. "It is a lie. If you do not name the man you prove yourself a liar."

"I will not be called a liar here, and if you dare repeat that word I will floor you," threatened Aldrich.

At this point Master Zeisler interfered, calling the angry men's attention to the fact that they were enjoying his hospitality and they departed.

JACOB BACHLI HURT BY AUTO.

Pinned Under Son's Car, Which Upset While on Run Near Hammond—In Hospital.

Jacob Bachli is in a critical condition at St. Margaret's hospital, Hammond, as the result of injuries suffered when an automobile in which he was riding turned turtle Sunday afternoon. He and his wife were riding in the car of their son Henry Bachli, 970 Sixtieth street, who also was accompanied by his two children.

As the car was spinning along the road from Dyer to Chicago Heights the rear wheels skidded to one side and struck a root and the auto was upset.

Jacob Bachli was pinned beneath the car. Both his legs were broken and internal injuries were inflicted. The others escaped with bruises.

POLICE SEEK TWO BINKLEY SLAYERS

BOY HEARS THEM TALK.

Lad Reports Listening to Confession to Murder Committed in Hotel.

The police last night fell hot upon a fresh clew to the killing of Dr. John T. Binkley Sr. of Evansville, Ind., who was found dead last Wednesday in the Wellington hotel. Acting under instructions from Capt. P. D. O'Brien of the detective bureau, detectives took up the task of watching the Lincoln avenue car route in the hope of catching two men who, he was informed by a 16 year old youth, were overheard in a discussion of the crime, including a confession, last Thursday night.

The boy is Isadore Hochstein, 791 West Division street. Up to a late hour last night he was stationed at the intersection of two north side streets with a group of detectives, watching for two men, one shorter than the other, but both well dressed and wearing diamonds, to alight from a car. One of the men, according to the theory, shot the aged physician without intending to do so, while engaged in robbing him.

The description of the man who confessed the crime stated that he wore a black derby hat, dark blue or black suit, striped shirt, black oxford shoes, and polka dot socks. He was of medium height and weight with a smooth face.

His companion wore a soft crush hat, striped dark suit, striped trousers, and low shoes. He was a trifle above medium height and weighed between 165 and 170 pounds. Both men spoke German.

Boy Tells of Conversation.

The boy, who is bright and well educated, said he and the men were the only passengers on the Lincoln avenue car in which the conversation took place. He said he did not notice the men particularly until one of them said to the other:

"Why did you shoot him?"

"I did not mean to," was the reply. "It was an accident."

"How did it happen?"

"He was sitting on a chair. I had two buttons of his vest open. He awoke and made an attempt to get up just as I was taking a wallet from his inside vest pocket. He jumped up and took me by surprise. My finger hit the trigger and the gun went off. I threw it on the bed and ran out of the room."

"What did you get?"

"I got $55 and a check."

"Have you got the check yet?"

"No, I tore it up."

Then the men noticed the boy and the man who had been asking the questions admonished his companion, saying:

"Better not talk so loud; the kid might hear you."

The boy said he looked out of the window while the men talked and missed some of the words. He tried to follow the men when they got off the car at the street intersection which now is being watched, but was unable to follow the men.

Best Clew Yet Offered.

Capt. O'Brien said the boy's story is the best lead he has at present in the case. A statement by the boy that the men smoked cigars in the closed car sounded a little peculiar to him, although it was explainable on the ground that only men were in the car and the conductor was lax in his attention.

The statement as to the amount of money obtained was given color in the afternoon when Dr. John T. Binkley Jr., son of the dead physician, came to Chicago from Waukesha, Wis., and conferred with Capt. O'Brien. The doctor said he had read in the newspapers that Capt. O'Brien wanted to see him, and he had come to give what assistance he could. He stated that from statements obtained from a servant of the family at Evansville his father must have had approximately $55 in money on his person at the time of his death.

"The girl remembers that he had a bundle of tens and one or two twenties when he gave her some money to buy fruit for canning," said the doctor. "I am confident that when we get on the track of that watch we will be on the track of the murderer."

The doctor was asked about the private detectives working on the case, but he said he preferred not to discuss them.

"I have not dropped the investigation," he said, significantly. He said the elevator boy at the Wellington who said that Dr. Binkley Sr. mailed a letter after his relatives had gone to the railroad station was mistaken, because the doctor wrote laboriously and the only letter he could have sent was the one to the Rev. Mr. Morrison and postmarked at 4 p. m. The party left the Wellington at 4:30 p. m.

Corrected Description of Watch.

"Twelve size Waltham, open face, fifteen jewel movement, in a gold filled open face watch case. The movement number is 10,171,219, and case 1,424,375. I repaired his watch on Feb. 26, 1909."

A fruitless search of the pawnshops in Chicago was made in the hope of locating the missing watch. The detectives who have been working on the case in Indiana reported briefly, but apparently they had found little of importance. Coroner Hoffman said that unless evidence to substantiate the suicide theory held by Manager Capen of the hotel is produced he will not require the presence of Mrs. Binkley Sr at the inquest next Thursday.

Manager Capen of the Wellington hotel said he had seen no men like those described by the boy.

POLICE HUNT FOR $2,450 GEMS LOST FROM WOMAN'S STOCKING

Rings, Brooches, and Unset Stones Disappear Between Chicago Beach Hotel and Polk Street Depot.

The Hyde Park police are hunting for diamonds valued at $2,450 which Mrs. Edna B. Miner, a widow who has lived at the Chicago Beach hotel for two years, lost from her stocking last Thursday.

Besides brooches and unset stones, these are missing:

Gold monogram ring, Hungarian opal and forty small diamonds; $500.

Gold ring, one karat diamond; $150.

Solitaire diamond ring; $75.

Gold ring, square emerald, surrounded with pearls and two large diamonds; $900.

Gold ring, five small diamonds; $100.

Gold ring, three rubies and two diamonds; $100.

Gold ring, three large diamonds; $600.

According to Detectives Breen and Purcell, the diamonds disappeared from a chamois skin pocketbook, which Mrs. Miner placed in her stocking when she went to the Polk street depot or the Illinois Central to meet a friend. When she returned, the diamonds were missing.

CITY TO PLACE POSTOFFICE

MacVeagh Awaits Chicago's Decision on Burnham Plan.

WILL HELP CIVIC CENTER.

Secretary Says Site and Building Will Conform with Scheme.

Just as soon as Chicago decides whether or not it approves the plans of the Commercial club for a "civic center" on the west side, the selection of a site for the new postoffice will be made. The plans of the Commercial club for a "City Beautiful" are to be made public within the next week or two, and it is not likely that the selection of the site will be delayed long.

"We want to give the citizens a chance to approve of the Burnham plan," said Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh yesterday afternoon after a conference with Postmaster Campbell. "This plan will be presented to the city in a few days, I am given to understand, both by an exhibit at the Art institute and by a booklet which is being printed.

"The Burnham plan provides for a plaza, in which shall be placed the public buildings of Chicago, at Halsted and Congress streets. A line drawn east and west from the center of the civic center to the center of the plaza on the lake front will strike the center of the Field Columbian museum.

Two Sites Under Consideration.

"If the people of Chicago approve this plan, it will be the aim of the government to select a site within the proposed radius of this civic center. We have two sites in contemplation, one suggested by the Commercial club at Van Buren and Desplaines, and the other by Mr. Campbell at Jackson boulevard and Desplaines street.

"The treasury department has some 400 buildings in process of construction or about to be constructed, and we are completing them at the rate of about fifteen a month. Even at that rate we are way behind, and hope to get a little acceleration on.

"While no appropriation has been made for the building, it will be necessary to erect some sort of a monumental structure if Chicago accepts the Burnham plan and the building is to become part of a group of civic buildings.

"Postmaster Campbell believes the new building should be the general postoffice and not simply a building for the reception and shipment of mail as was proposed.

Action Waits on Burnham Plan.

"Congress has appropriated $1,250,000 for the site, and that will be enough for the purchase of either of the two sites we have under advisement. There will be no final action until after the Burnham plan has been thoroughly discussed, and then Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Hillis will come to Chicago to make the selection."

Secretary MacVeagh spent the day in consultation with the heads of the departments under his supervision. He made his headquarters in the office of Collector John C. Ames, where he spoke of possible political changes.

"There is nothing determined in Washington about any changes in political offices in Chicago," he said. "Little, if any, contemplation has been given to that matter, and I do not think there will be anything done before fall.

"In the first place your senatorial controversy has only just been cleared up, and naturally the new senator will have to be listened to so far as any suggestions for changes may be made. Then, too, the work of the department is progressing well, and there is no particular reason for change."

POLICE BELIEVE SUSPECTS ARE WELL KNOWN CRIMINALS

Arrest on the Wells Street Bridge Leads to the Disclosure of Long and Startling Records.

Long police records have been earned, the Chicago department declared yesterday, by three suspects who were arrested on the Wells street bridge Sunday night. They merely threw Detective Sergeant Denis Mackey, who stopped them, in the river.

The prisoners are John Hicks, John O'Brien, and Chester Barker. Barker, the police say, is wanted in Cleveland, O., for the theft of a tray of diamonds valued at $5,000, and at Milwaukee, Wis., for the theft of $3,500 from Greenbaum's bank, and other robberies.

Barker, the police say, is a companion of George Seymour, termed by the police as the "king of bank sneaks," who was arrested here several months ago. O'Brien and Hicks, they say, are members of a gang of eastern pickpockets who were on their way to Seattle, Wash.

Shortly before being taken to the bureau of identification, Barker, Hicks, and O'Brien were identified by Nicholas Fesseneck, a Sedgwick and Dearborn street car conductor, as the three men who on Sunday robbed Samuel Bingham, a New York commercial traveler, of a pocketbook containing $80.

A Milwaukee detective came to get Barker, who refused to return without extradition papers. A fugitive warrant was taken out and he will be held until extradition papers can be prepared.

HANGS HIMSELF TO A RAFTER.

Peter Uldrych Ends Life in His Attic—Henry C. Davidson Inhales Gas.

Peter Uldrych, 38 years old, committed suicide last evening by hanging himself to a rafter in the attic of his house at 1203 North Fifty-seventh court. He had been ill for some time and was despondent over his recovery.

Henry C. Davidson, an insurance agent living at 1670 North Paulina street, ended his life by inhaling illuminating gas.

He went home early in the evening and Mrs. Davidson, after a few words, left the house. She returned a few hours later and found Davidson in the bathroom with the gas turned on. He was 38 years old.

HEARING FOR FOES OF TEXT BOOK ACT

Governor Today Will Listen to Protests Against Ettelson Measure.

SAY TERMS BAR PROFITS.

Publishers, Dealers, Teachers, Each in Own Tongue, Fight Bill.

BY C. S. R.

Springfield, Ill., June 7.—[Special.]—When Gov. Deneen returns to his desk tomorrow he will give a hearing to the opponents of the Ettelson school book bill, which establishes maximum prices and fixes the conditions under which text books can be sold in this state.

The measure went through the legislature with little or no discussion. It was held in the senate educational committee for a while and some amendments were made to it, but when it got out of committee it went through the legislature without delay.

Now the opposition has awakened and the governor is being besought to veto the bill. Not only the school book publishers but the retailers and the school teachers, particularly the superintendents of schools, both city and country, will be represented at the hearing in protest against the act.

Claim Conditions Obviate Profit.

It is charged against the measure that the conditions under which it would permit the sale of text books are so onerous as to make it almost impossible for publishers to get any profit out of the sale of the books, and that these conditions are created not so much by the maximum prices fixed in the bill, but by the other provisions governing the sale, such as the requirement of bond and of competitive bidding in each school district.

Publishers object to the provision requiring them to redeem the books which their books supplant, if they be successful in obtaining a contract, at half price. They assert that this requirement, taken together with the reduced prices of books, would make it necessary for them to place their books in a city or a school district at a loss the first year.

Too Much Bidding, They Say.

They argue that they might have been able to meet the reduced prices if a state text book commission had been created and if bidding were for the entire state, but that it is impossible to meet the reduced prices and then bid for contracts in every school district.

Retailers assert that the act will bar them from the school book business entirely, there being no allowance for the retailer's profit.

School superintendents are opposed to the act on the gronud that it will result in a deterioration of the texts used in the schools, and say that the saving which could be made in the purchase of texts would not warrant the decrease in quality.

Bills Signed by Governor.

The governor since Saturday has signed a number of bills and turned them over to the secretary of state. Among them were:

SENATE 305—Burton—Provides that on request of two judges in any circuit outside of Cook county, or of a majority of the circuit or superior judges in Cook county, to the Supreme court in session or to any judge thereof in vacation, stating that the number of cases on the docket of any such circuit or of Cook county is so large as to require assistance, the Supreme court or any judge thereof in vacation may assign any judge of the Circuit court of the state or of the Superior court of Cook county to hold court in any circuit, provided that no judge shall be required to hold court outside of his circuit or of Cook county when the county requires his services, and provided that no judge shall be allowed by reason of any such assignment to hold court in the aggregate more than eight months in any year from the 1st of June in one year to the 1st of June in another.

ALDRICH MEASURE THREATENS PARTY

Other material now is being prepared to show that the only notable reduction made by the Republicans has been in the matter of lumber. Attention is to be called to the fact that the great Republican states of Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, and the Dakotas now have no marketable lumber whatsoever, except a few small lots which are not worth considering, with the exception of the northern and northeastern sections of New York.

The Democrats will argue from this that the Republicans protected their own stronghold and yielded to the demand for lower building material of the poorer houses, but refused to make any reduction on hats, coats, ready made clothing, hosiery, gloves, dresses, dress goods, handkerchiefs, and all like articles for men and women, the reduction on lumber, therefore, being injurious to a number of states, while the failure to reduce rates on wearing apparel of all kinds is sufficient in itself to justify the charge that the Republicans have gone back on their own platform plank and on the personal pledges of their candidate for the presidency.

It is easy to see from this bare outline that the congressional election of 1910 to be one of the most significant in the recent political history of the country. It will test the popularity of President Taft to a greater degree than anything else that could happen. There is no doubt that if he should veto the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill on the ground that it is not a sufficient response to the pledges made by him personally to the people, he would be the most popular man in the country, and his veto, in the opinion of the experts, would save the next house of representatives from a Democratic majority, a thing which at least is within the range of possibility in case of the passage of a tariff bill, which is admittedly higher than the existing law.

Catastrophe Peril to Republicans.

On the other hand, if the people should take it into their heads that both the president and congress had failed to redeem the pledges made during the campaign, a political catastrophe might easily result, from which it would be hard for the Republicans to recover.

President Taft's attitude has not been cleared to any great extent, in the opinion of the members of congress, by Secretary MacVeagh's Chicago speech. The distinction between a "revision downward" and a revision "down and out" is not particularly relished by the insurgent senators. They all insist they are good protectionists, but every time they have attempted to secure a lowering of the duty on anything they have been met with prompt declarations from Mr. Aldrich that any such reduction meant the destruction of that particular industry.

Most of the members of congress interpret the secretary's speech to mean that the president has determined to sign any bill, even if not as good as he would like to have it, provided it contains a certain proportionate downward revision on some articles in common use.

TRICK BY SENATE ON HOSIERY RATE?

Dingley Tariff Restored, but Yielding to House Demand Is Expected.

REAL WORK IN COMMITTEE

Long Session on Cotton Schedule Marked by Many Clashes by Members.

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—There is every indication that the stocking wearers of Chicago and the middle west again are to be called upon to battle for their interests when the conference committee on the tariff bill considers the cotton hosiery schedule. Although the senate tonight adopted the amendment of the committee on finance, knocking out the house high tax provisions on the cotton hosiery and restoring the Dingley rates, it is evident from the way it was done there is to be another chapter written on that intertsting and exceedingly important tariff. In fact, it is admitted by many of the senators that the house tariff on cotton hosiery will be restored in conference.

Senators Penrose and Gallinger, who opposed the adoption of the committee amendment tonight, did so in a half hearted way, and failed to call for an aye and no vote on the understanding, it is plainly intimated, that the senate committee conferees will give way to the house contingent when the bill goes into conference and allow the high tariff on cheap hosiery, originally proposed and adopted in the house, to come into play when the measure is brought up for final passage.

Senator Penrose and Senator Gallinger both represent the communities where stocking mills are plentiful, and they fought, as they were instructed to do, for a higher rate of duty than the law at present in force provides. They gave way after a time, however, and allowed the committee's provision to stand.

Dolliver Denounces the Trick.

Not willing to allow their evident purpose to rely on the conference committee for the attainment of their ends to go unnoticed, Senator Dolliver twitted the two concerning their apparent insincerity and challenged them to move the retention of the Payne bill rates on hosiery. The Iowa senator made mention of the visit of the Chicago women who came to Washington during the tariff fight in the house and laid before both the committee on ways and means and the committee on finance the demands of several hundred thousand petition signers in the middle west.

"The finance committee succumbed to their pleadings," said Senator Dolliver, "and now you would uphold the committee's action in the senate, although you disapprove of it, and allow the deed of spoiling the fruit of the visit of all these women to be accomplished in the secrecy of a dark and mysterious conference."

Senator Gallinger replied to the sarcastic assault by suggesting that the women who visited Washington to fight the Payne schedule were silk stocking wearers. To this Senator Dolliver replied that he probably was not competent to judge. The vice president thereupon put the question of adopting the amendment carrying the Dingley hosiery tariff to the senate, and it was accepted by a viva voce vote.

Cummins Shows Probable Course.

Senator Cummins of Iowa said after adjournment tonight that it was plainly understood among the supporters of Senator Aldrich that the house was to be allowed to have its way in regard to the hosiery schedule; that the same high tariff on the cheaper grades of hosiery was to be adopted as was brought on by the committee on ways and means when the Payne bill first made its appearance.

The action of the senate tonight reduces the rate fixed by the house bill 20 cents a dozen. This action completes the cotton schedule, and tomorrow the woolen schedule will be taken up. Earlier the rates on cotton gloves were increased, the committee was upheld in allowing 1 cent a yard for mercerization, and the duty on cotton window hollands was increased.

All three sessions today and tonight were marked with bitter word encounters between the conservatives and progressives. Aldrich and Beveridge were the leaders, and they engaged in debates almost the entire day.

Dolliver Asks Tapestry Cut.

Mr. Dolliver of Iowa was the first speaker at the night session. He argued against a duty of 50 per cent ad valorem on cotton tapestry and Jacquard figured goods, as affording too much protection to American manufacturers.

Mr. Smoot offered several samples of tapestry and figured upholstery goods to show that their value was a great deal higher than the tapestry which Mr. Dolliver exhibited. The latter said his was the poor man's tapestry, which was valued at from 80 cents to one dollar.

Mr. Aldrich said it would be impossible to provide a separate clause for each class of goods of the same character, but offered an amendment making the rate of 40 per cent ad valorem on tapestry made of cotton valued at one dollar or less per yard, and 50 per cent ad valorem on goods valued at more than a dollar. These rates were adopted.

Dolliver Suspects a Subterfuge.

Speaking on the hosiery schedule, Mr. Dolliver said he wanted to know how earnest and enthusiastic was the effort in the senate to restore the Dingley rates on stockings. He wanted to know if the higher rates of the house bill were to be restored in conference.

Mr. Scott of West Virginia submitted a petition from hosiery operatives in West Virginia expressing fear that if the rates on hosiery were not increased, they would lose employment, or have their wages reduced. Mr. Gallinger of New Hampshire also opposed the restoration of the lower duties, saying that the American manufacturers could not compete with the foreign manufacturers if the Dingley rates are continued. Mr. Smith of Maryland opposed the high rates, declaring that he knew of no industry better protected than the hosiery industry.

Saying that there was no more meritorious industry than the hosiery manufacture, Mr. Penrose said he was willing to follow the chairman of the finance committee in the handling of the tariff bill, with the hope that an adequate and fair protection would be provided for hosiery makers. He spoke in favor of higher duties on the ground that low duties mean lower wages to mill workers.

Cotton Glove Rate Increased.

Contending that the industry would suffer if the duties on cotton knit gloves were not increased, Mr. Lodge offered an amendment making the duty 50 cents a dozen pairs and 45 per cent ad valorem on knit or woven cotton gloves valued at more than $1.20 a dozen pairs and less than $6 a dozen pairs, and the duty on cotton gloves at more than $6 a dozen pairs and 55 per cent ad valorem. Mr. Bacon demanded a roll call and the amendment carried by a vote of 41 to 24.

The committee amendments to the paragraph on cotton garters and fabrics for suspenders were withdrawn by Mr. Aldrich and cotton tapes, bandings, and bindings were included in the paragraph, which was then agreed to. Mr. Dolliver and Mr. La Follette opposed the committee amendment taking off the duty of 35 per cent ad valorem on cotton duck and placing duck under the provisions for taxing cotton cloth according to value and count of thread.

Mr. Aldrich explained that the duty originally placed on cotton duck was intended to cover cloth for sail making, but that in recent years, especially 1908, a finer grade of goods for women's dresses were imported under the same duty.

The amendment was agreed to, and the last paragraph of the cotton schedule was adopted.

First Vote Sustains Committee.

The finance committee was sustained in the first vote of the day by a count of 41 to 26, Senator Foster and Senator McEnery, as usual, voting with the majority and nine Republicans—Beveridge, Bristow, Brown, Burkett, Cummins, Dolliver, Gamble, La Follette, and Nelson—voting with the Democrats. This vote was taken on amendment to levy a duty of 3 cents a square yard and 20 per cent ad valorem on cotton window hollands.

The increase was opposed by Senator Dolliver, who declared that practically all of the cotton window hollands used in this country are of domestic manufacture, congress itself being one of the few customers of the foreign article as shown by the shades hanging about the senate. Mr. Aldrich responded that up to 1890 the duty was as now recommended by the committee, but said that under a decision then rendered these articles were placed under another rate of duty.

A remark by Senator Beveridge that he was "inclined to support the finance committee" called forth a sarcastic reference by Mr. Aldrich, who suggested that the Indiana senator had not been so inclined when the time had arrived to vote, and added that "as time progresses he may be able to vote with the committee."

Insisting that senators should vote according to their consciences the Indiana senator said he greatly regretted that Mr. Aldrich had seen fit to make such a remark.

Tariff Witnesses Are Attacked.

The credibility of importers as witnesses in respect to the tariff duties formed the chief subject of discussion when Senator Dolliver opposed the specific duty of 1 cent a square yard for mercerization. Senator Aldrich asked the senator from Iowa to give the occupations of the men whose letters he read, and both the Iowan and Mr. Beveridge declared that witnesses would not be impeached on such ground as that.

Gradually getting away from the schedules, the senators discussed the protective tariff system.

Mr. Beveridge defended his position on the tariff as one that was upheld by the Republican platform and by Republican standard bearers. He disavowed any idea that the duty is added to the price in the presence of competition, but suggested that monopoly might change that aspect of the question.

Interrupting Mr. Beveridge to call attention to his frequent reference to "extortionate rates," Mr. Aldrich said he supposed the senator meant "prohibitive" rates. Continuing, he admitted that certain specific rates imposed on cotton clothes were prohibitive, and he said that this was true on a number of articles of American manufacture; that the rates are in excess of those demanded for protective purposes. The effect, he said, has been to keep out the surplus manufacture of foreign countries, and no harm had come to the American people, for the goods sold in the United States for less than the duty upon them.

Clash Over Opposition Leader.

Mr. Aldrich admitted that the rate on bacon is prohibitive. He indicated that he had accepted a lower rate in order to put an end to debate and make progress with schedules. Seizing upon this admission, Mr. Beveridge suggested that if Mr. Aldrich would adopt the same tactics in regard to the entire bill he would get a vote.

"I have been greatly puzzled to know to whom I should apply for a date for a vote on the bill," quickly retorted Mr. Aldrich. "I have wondered who was the real leader of the opposition——" At this point he was interrupted by Mr. Beveridge, who protested against such personal references and declared that instead of explanations senators who sought information had been met with sneers and rebuke. Mr. Aldrich ignored this comment.

Mr. Aldrich declared that there were a few privates on the other side with a large number of brigadiers leading the "heterogeneous mass" who opposed the majority in the senate, but he said that the senator from Indiana himself had occasionally strayed into the camp of the majority and for that reason he had hesitated to fix that leadership upon Mr. Beveridge.

Responding and characterizing Mr. Aldrich as the Major Pitcairn and the progressive Republicans as the minute men and the senate chamber as the Concord and the Lexington of the tariff situation, Mr. Beveridge predicted the defeat of the majority in the senate by "those who had the interests of the people at heart."

Claims Loyal Men Aid Him.

Mr. Aldrich asserted that the majority in the senate were voting together because they were loyal Republicans who believed in the doctrine of protection. Launching into a discussion of the protective system, Mr. Aldrich, referring to Mr. Beveridge, asked "by whose votes does he expect to defeat the Republican party?" He referred to the coalition of Democrats and progressive Republicans as "an unholy alliance," and said:

"I have respect for the senators on the other side of the chamber. I have respect for some of the senators on this side ——"

He was interrupted by laughter, but, concluding his sentence, said:

"Who believe the rates of the existing law are too high, have always believed it, and always have said it." He referred to those senators as being consistent, but said that a new proposition had been introduced which had been taken up by the Democratic senators and a few Republicans voting with them. "Their self-imposed mission of saving the Republican party will not be accomplished in that manner," he said.

Mr. Aldrich asserted that the Republican majority could not be deflected from its views by any such combination.

Beveridge Claims Gallinger Aid.

Mr. Beveridge denied the suggestion that the defeat of the Republican party at the hands of a combination had come from him and he asserted also that no senator, except Mr. Aldrich would dare to say that "ours" is a new doctrine. He referred to the fact that even Senator Gallinger, a high protectionist, had agreed with him as to the position the Republican party had taken in the Chicago platform on the tariff question.

Mr. Gallinger said that so far as the Chicago platform is concerned, he agreed to the interpretation put upon it by Mr. Beveridge, but that he did not agree with him that a rate which is above what is demanded for protective purposes, but which does not injure the American people is extortionate.

Defending his own actions in relation to tariff revision, Mr. Dolliver said he was not without company in high official circles and read a portion of Secretary MacVeagh's speech, delivered last Saturday night. Senator Smith interrupted to say that the secretary of the treasury entertained the same views now that he did in 1894, when he was classed as a Democrat.

"I cannot forget," said Mr. Smith, "that while Benjamin Harrison was upholding the banner of protection the present secretary of the treasury left his party and joined the party of Mr. Cleveland for a downward revision of the tariff."

MacVeagh Lauded by Dolliver.

"When the senator shows that the secretary of the treasury is not a proper political associate for the president of the United States," interposed Mr. Dolliver, "I will admit that I am not a fit associate for the Republican party as represented in this chamber."

Paying a high compliment to the character of the secretary of the treasury, Mr. Smith proceeded to make an extended speech in support of the policy of protection.

"But," he said, "I would no more be bound by the advice and counsel of the secretary of the treasury than I would by the advice and counsel of the secretary of war, Mr. Dickinson, a Democrat, if he were to give it upon this bill."

During a defense of his position as a tariff revisionist, Senator Cummins said that if there was complete freedom of domestic trade as formerly existed he would not care so much about the height to which the tariff wall might be raised.

Referring to a statement by Mr. Aldrich concerning senators who had shown "loyalty" to the party by upholding the committee on finance, Mr. Cummins declared there was no man in the senate who could put him out of the Republican party.

Mr. Aldrich disavowed any intention to reflect upon the Republicanism of the senator from Iowa.

DEFINES LEGAL TERM 'WHISKY.'

While Opinion of Solicitor General Is Not Final, It Is Regarded a Victory for Makers of "Blends."

Washington, D. C., June 7.—Lloyd W. Bowers, solicitor general of the United States, today submitted to President Taft his opinion as to what the term "whisky" means in law.

In effect Solicitor General Bowers holds, after discussing at great length what the term "whisky" meant at the time of the passage of the pure food law, that the public does not consider that added coloring or flavoring matter can make whisky out of what otherwise is not whisky. Whisky is regarded generally and naturally as having a flavor and properties of its own.

This mixture of whisky with alcohol or neutral spirits is entitled to the name whisky, Mr. Bowers holds, provided the mixture retains a substantial amount of by-products in proportion to the volume of the mixture, giving distinct flavor and properties.

He says the addition of alcohol to whisky is not the introduction of a foreign substance, but is merely an enlargement of the proportion of one proper constituent.

DICKINSON ISSUES NEW PIER ORDER

Secretary of War Provides for Hearing Whenever Any City Asks for It.

PUBLICITY FOR PERMITS.

Tangle in Chicago Dock Case Leads to Radical Departure at Capital.

Secretary Dickinson, as a result of the Chicago dock controversy, yesterday committed the war department to a new policy in the matter of permits for building piers or harbors. The secretary, in Washington, issued an order that will give municipalities ample opportunity to be heard whenever the war department has under consideration the issuance of a permit to a private party to build boat harbors or piers which in any way may affect their interests.

The order provides that in the future, before these permits are granted, the cities interested shall be notified and a date set for their officials to be heard. This radical departure arises from the recent tangle concerning the permit to the Chicago Dock and Canal company to construct three piers into Lake Michigan at the mouth of the Chicago river.

The secretary revoked the permit that was granted by his predecessor in this case and notified the Chicago authorities that a new hearing is to be granted the dock company. The permit was revoked expressly that the city's protests, whatever they were, might be heard.

May Revoke Farley Permit.

Under the new order of things at the war department the permit issued on May 26 last to Edward P. Farley of Chicago to build a 500 foot breakwater inshore from the southerly breakwater also may be revoked in order to permit a hearing if the city of Chicago desires it. City Attorney Brundage examined into the Farley permit last wek. Mr. Farley's expressed plans to construct a harbor for pleasure yachts and small commercial craft will be scrutinized further to see whether the move will affect the city. Although Secretary Dickinson has not discussed the matter, he undoubtedly will revoke the Farley permit and order a new hearing if the Chicago authorities desire it.

There also is some talk in Washington about Chicago authorities desiring to look into the permit recently issued to the International Salt company to transport its merchandise across the government pier at Chicago.

Way Open for Hearings.

No protest of any kind has been filed against the Farley or the salt company's permits, but according to the secretary's new order the way is now open for the city to have hearings on any of these lake front projects.

City Attorney Brundage discussed the whole water front situation with Secretary Dickinson while en route to Chicago with him last Friday, and arrived at a general understanding which resulted in the latest order.

No date has been fixed for the rehearing of the Chicago Dock and Canal company matter. Secretary Dickinson said the war department awaits the pleasure of the company and the city.

SLAYER IS ASSASSINATED AS HE GOES TO COURTROOM.

Man Who Killed St. Louis Constable Is Shot by Victim's Deputy—Codefendant Asks to Be Locked Up.

St. Louis, Mo., June 7.—Fred Mohrle, who killed Constable Sam Young in North St. Louis several weeks ago, was assassinated in the corridor of the Criminal Court building today by William Kane, a former deputy under Young. Kane used Young's revolver.

The shooting occurred as Mohrle was being taken to court to stand trial for the death of Young, and is the culmination of a bitter political feud.

Mohrle had asserted shortly after the Young shooting that the "gang" had threatened to "get him," but following the ethics of the "gang" he refused to reveal the identity of the men who had threatened him, saying that he could take care of himself.

When the shots echoed through the court building William Wright, a codefendant with Mohrle in the Young case, became hysterical. He begged to be placed in jail and his bondsman surrendered him to Judge Fisher, who ordered Wright locked up.

PARENT WHIPS BOY TO SAVE $25 FINE.

New York Father Has Certificate Boy Couldn't Stand Rod; Changes Mind.

FLEES, LEAVING JEWELS.

Collar Worth More than $12,000 Confiscated from Mexican Who Disappears.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE,
New York, June 7.

Parent Whips Son Rather than Pay $25 Fine.

Four boys charged with rowdyism on subway trains on Sunday were whipped by their parents in the Children's court today as a choice between fines and the rod. Three parents at once accepted the whipping proposal, instead of paying $1 fines for their boys, but one hesitated, presenting a certificate alleged to have been given by a physician testifying to the boy's physical condition, prohibiting corporal punishment. This was the father of Morris Dublon, aged 15, of 606 Fifth street. Justice Olmsted looked at the boy and noted that he was robust and apparently healthy, and without much adoo he said to the father:

"You can whip that able bodied boy or pay a fine of $25 for him."

The father was so shocked that he almost dropped in front of the bench. He asked for a little time to consider the matter, and presently returned and said he would whip the boy.

Soon Lieut. Ward reported, approving of the father's agility with the rod, which in this instance was a leather strap.

Mrs. William E. Annis, who made her first appearance in vaudeville at Hammerstein's Victoria theater, admitted during the afternoon that she intends to marry again. She would not reveal the name of her intended husband. Her first husband was killed by Capt. Peter Hains.

Customs Men Can't Find Owner of $12,120 Gems.

The customs authorities have on their hands a diamond collar and bracelet appraised at $12,120, which the owner apparently did not value sufficiently to claim. The jewelry was seized on April 24 when Celso del Villar, a wealthy Mexican, who had arrived from Havana on the steamer Morro Castle in company with a well known Mexican actress, failed to declare it. Villar was paroled in the custody of a representative of the Mexican consul, but when he was wanted during the day could not be found.

A special agent of the treasury department was searching for Del Villar to learn why on the testimony of his companion that she was not his wife he should not be deported.

Del Villar was traced to the Grand Central station, where it was learned that he had bought two tickets for Montreal.

Tells of Romance in the Field of Missionaries.

Frederick A. Booth, president of the Presbyterian union, who presided at a conference and banquet of newly appointed and furloughed foreign missionaries in the evening at the Hotel Savoy, let slip a bit of news that set all those present to cheering. "This is perhaps as good a time as any," said Mr. Booth, "for an announcement of a romance in missionary work. The Rev. James McClure Henry, who goes to China by an appointment of the board, will soon marry Miss Natalie Brown, daughter of the Rev. Francis Brown, D. D., president of the Union Theological seminary. She will accompany him to China to be with him in his missionary work there."

The Rev. James McClure Henry is a boyish looking minister, who was graduated recently from the Union Theological seminary, and had just finished speaking when Mr. Booth made the announcement.

Movement Begun to Give Postmen Rest on Sunday.

A movement which aims to secure a Sunday day of rest for all the postmen in the United States was inaugurated during the day at meetings of New York clergymen of several denominations. A memorial was prepared which will be presented to Postmaster General Hitchcock, urging as the first step an official investigation of the work now being performed by postoffice employés in the United States.

The letter declares that in the opinion of the preachers, the Sunday duties of most of these men could be largely curtailed without any serious loss to the public. It points out that British and Canadian cities have no Sunday collections or deliveries.

Congress will be asked to act on the matter at its next session.

Woman Suffragists Plan News Bureau

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Woman's Suffrage alliance, has returned on the Minnewaska from London, where she attended the recent woman suffrage convention. One of the hopeful developments of the recent conference, Mrs. Catt said, was the organization of a great international suffrage news bureau.

In the past it had happened that matters of importance to suffrage workers in one country were distorted when they appeared in print in another country, and because of lack of organization it often had been found impossible to get the correct version printed. The international alliance hoped to correct this. It now numbers twenty-one national societies, she said.

Expects to Get Missing Books of United Copper Co.

The missing United Copper company books were not delivered to United States District Attorney Wise today, but he received further assurance they will be in his possession within a day or two. In the meantime he is simply resting on his oars with regard to the Heinze case. The district attorney has found out definitely that the books left the company's office in three trunks. Two of these trunks went outside of the city and the third was left in the city. It is understood the district attorney has a pretty definite idea now where all of these trunks are. The leaves that were torn from one of the books in the United Copper company offices are also said to be in these trunks.

Adjournment Is Asked in Gould Separation Case.

Counsel for Katherine Clemmons Gould have asked for an adjournment of his client's suit for a separation from Howard Gould, on the ground that he had prepared a subpœna duces tecum ordering Mr. Gould to present his books to the court showing the amount of his income, and from what source he obtained it, but had been unable to serve the subpœna.

The counsel for Mr. Gould said he would accept service of the subpœna provided his client was given two days in which to get his books together. He said Mr. Gould was now serving as a grand juror in Mineola, Nassau county. The case was passed for the day, and will be called again tomorrow.

HEARS CHARGES ON BINGHAM

Mayor McClellan Reviews Evidence, but Delays Decision.

SAYS POLICE HOUNDED HIM.

George B. Duffy, Boy in Case, Claims His Character Is Good.

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Mayor McClellan concluded this afternoon his investigation of charges brought by Justice William J. Gaynor against Police Commissioner Bingham in the Duffy case. Through Assistant Corporation Counsel William B. Crowell, who acts as the mayor's legal adviser, he announced he would give a decision regarding Judge Gaynor's charges by next Thursday.

Several affidavits prepared by young Duffy's friends remain to be submitted to the mayor and probably the police department and Gen. Bingham will call the mayor's attention to evidence they have gathered to the effect that Duffy has associated with crooks.

Boy in Case Gives Testimony.

George B. Duffy, the young man who went to Justice Gaynor for assistance in getting his picture out of the rogues' gallery, where it was placed after he was arrested in June, 1907, appeared before the mayor with his father and mother, the Rev. Father J. J. McAteer, pastor of the Church of Our Lady of Mercy in Schermerhorn street; George Slaughter, president of the Stevens Milk company, where Duffy is employed; A. Elsner, a foreman of the company, the Rev. Father Flynn, an instructor at St. Paul's parochial school, and several other persons, who testified as to the young man's good character.

Mirabeau L. Towns, the Brooklyn lawyer who represented Justice Gaynor and young Duffy, also accompanied the young man and his parents to the city hall.

Denies He Kept Bad Company.

The first witness was young Duffy himself. Assistant Corporation Counsel Crowell examined him.

Mr. Crowell asked Duffy if he is acquainted with Alfred Collier, who was convicted of the robbery with which Duffy's name was coupled in the police department records. Duffy said that he did not know Collier or anybody by that name who has ever been in trouble. He denied flatly that he has ever been associated with bad company. Duffy testified that after the first time he was arrested the police seemed "to have it in" for him, and on one occasion, when he had just come from church services with a young woman, a policeman stepped up to him and said:

"You are Red Leary. Come along with me, now, to headquarters."

Says He Refused Carnegie Medal.

The mayor wanted to know if Duffy was the young man who had saved a man's life at Coney Island. Duffy said he had saved two men from drowning and he had been offered a Carnegie medal, but had refused it. One of the men rescued, he said, was Jerome Horowitz, who weighed 200 pounds. Duffy told the mayor that he swam 300 yards to get the man to shore.

George Slaughter, president of the milk company, told the mayor that Duffy has worked for him since April 15 and that he has been honest, industrious, and efficient. Foreman Elsner of the company said he had found nothing wrong with Duffy: that he worked hard and kept his accounts straight.

The Rev. Father Flynn testified he is satisfied Duffy is honest and steady. Andrew Sherman, principal of public school No. 15, said he never had known Duffy to be guilty of anything more than mischievous acts and that he is truthful.

GIRL'S DEATH ENDS AN OUTING

FRIENDS UNABLE TO AID.

Sudden Reversal of Car Catches Her Against the Wall.

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Miss Lina Schoonmaker, 18 years old, of Kingston, N. Y., who was seeing New York for the first time, was killed today in the Flatiron building when her body was crushed in an elevator, breaking her neck and fracturing several of her ribs.

Miss Schoonmaker was one of a dozen Kingston schoolgirls who had been brought to New York by the Rev. Charles Mercer Hall and his wife on a trip in which shopping and sightseeing were to be combined. Mrs. Hall, who is a daughter of ex-Judge Alton B. Parker, with five girls who were in the party, was in the car at the time. She took care of Miss Schoonmaker, who died a few seconds after she had been hurt. The dead girl was the daughter of a farmer of Saugerties, N. Y., and was a protégé of the Halls, with whom she had lived for some time while attending the Kingston school for girls.

Members of Church Society.

The twelve girls were members of the Girls' Friendly society, an organization connected with the Holy Cross Protestant Episcopal church, of which Mr. Hall is the rector. Mr. Hall had taken some of the girls to Battery park. They did not learn of the accident until two hours after it had happened.

Five of the girls went with Mrs. Hall to a shoe store on the eighth floor of the building and later started down. They got on the elevator and it, according to Mrs. Hall, started down fast. At the fifth floor the car came to a sudden stop, and after bobbing up and down a few seconds the elevator man reversed his lever and started back to the sixth floor to get a passenger who had signaled him to stop.

Body Crushed Against Wall.

Miss Schoonmaker was next to the gate of the car. The suddenness with which the car stopped apparently frightened her, and it is believed she fainted and fell forward, her body being crushed against the wall of the elevator shaft, fracturing her ribs, while her neck was broken when her head struck a projection at the sixth floor.

When the car stopped at the sixth floor the girl, who then was breathing her last, fell backward and was caught by Mrs. Hall. A doctor in the building was called, but when he reached the elevator Miss Schoonmaker was dead.

Coroner Harburger after an investigation held Stephen Young, the elevator man, in $5,000 bail to await the inquest.

SPRECKELS DENIES REPORTS OF ENGAGEMENT TO MISS CASE

Claus III. Says He Will Return to San Francisco with His Father and Engage in Business There.

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Claus Spreckels, the third of that name in the family identified with San Francisco and Honolulu, who with his father, John D. Spreckels, son of the first Claus, is at the Hotel Wolcott, said today he was not engaged to be married to Miss Mary Adele Case, the singer, whom he met in Paris, where both were studying vocal development. He said also he was not going to be married, either now or in two years. Also he said he never had been engaged to Miss Case. He said this week he should leave for San Francisco, to go into business with his father. His father appeared to be of like mind as to the business end of the proposition.

"He's going back and will go into some of my business enterprises," the father said. "He was in my office before he went away, and he knew all the time he was coming back to the office when he got through over there.

"About his marrying? When he finds the girl he wants it's up to him. He's making his future—not mine. Will I meet Miss Case? Certainly I will—if he asks me to. Object to the marriage? No, what would you give for a young man who would marry or not as somebody else advised him? If my boy hadn't the spunk to get married when he had picked out the girl he wanted, why, I'd—I'd— Say, did you ask any one but your wife when you wanted to get married? I didn't."

JAP FLAG STRUCK AT SEATTLE FAIR

BOOSTERS TAKE LEAVE.

Chicagoans Depart for Everett and Bellingham; Will See Salmon Trap Today.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Seattle, Wash., June 7.—[Special.]—After worrying over an ambition to preserve friendly relations with Japan and an anxiety to make the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition realistic, the fair management this afternoon yielded to a demand from midshipmen of Admiral Ijichi's fleet and hauled down the Japanese flag that has been flying above the jinrikisha concession on the exposition grounds.

International etiquette prescribes that when foreigners wish to display their flag they shall, as a matter of courtesy, raise the emblem of the country they visit above their own.

The jinrikisha concessionaires at the exposition have been trying to portray Japanese conditions on the fair grounds, but Mr. Tanaka, the imperial Japanese consul, refused permission to Japanese coolies to draw the jinrikishas, claiming that any display of Japanese cheap labor would serve to light anew the fire of anti-oriental agitation. And so the carts have been handled by an American crew.

War of Diplomats Is Averted.

Over the jinrikisha shed had been raised American and Japanese flags. Technically a Japanese display made on American ground should yield first place to the American flag, so the United States emblem was placed above the Japanese flag.

This aroused the ire of officers on the Japanese fleet still in the harbor here, and formal representations were made to R. W. Boycé, secretary of the exposition's president, that unless he ordered the removal of the flags the incident would be made the basis of diplomatic representations.

Rather than involve the two countries in a war of correspondence the flags were ordered down.

Censure of American Recalled.

A curious incident that affects this situation is that W. H. Doolittle, twice a congressman from Washington, was defeated for reëlection twelve years ago and one of the strong arguments urged against him was that he showed the Japanese government a similar courtesy while in Tokio.

He raised a Japanese flag above the American, as the international rules prescribe, and was censured at home.

The Chicago Association of Commerce delegation left here at 11 o'clock tonight. A visit will be paid to Everett and Bellingham tomorrow and one of the features of the morning's run by rail will be a trip to a real salmon trap. Members of the Chicago delegation were given time to visit all points of interest during the day in Seattle they had not seen.

VICTIM OF FAILURE ENDS LIFE; ACT SEQUEL TO ENNIS CRASH.

A. M. Holden of Detroit, Despondent Over Business Troubles, Shoots Himself and Dies Almost Instantly.

Detroit, Mich., June 7.—[Special.]—Despondent over business troubles, Adams Milton Holden, 52 years of age, shot himself through the head early this morning and died almost instantly.

Following the suicide, the firm of Fred S. Osborne & Co., of which Mr. Holden was a member, announced a temporary suspension. The local concern was heavily hit by the failure of Ennis & Stoppani, New York brokers, some time ago.

The worry incident to this failure is supposed to have preyed on Mr. Holden's mind. The burial will be in Mount Greenwood cemetery, Cook county, Ill.

Member of Failed Firm Explains.

New York, June 7.—Thomas A. Ennis of the failed brokerage firm of Ennis & Stoppani explained the trading methods of his firm to United States Commissioner Alexander today at a hearing before the commissioner in the bankruptcy proceedings against the firm.

The firm speculated for its own benefit through three private accounts, Ennis testified. He said purchases for customers were made on the consolidated exchange for the customers' account and then sold on the firm's private account and repurchased on the New York stock exchange. The witness explained this as a sort of balancing up process, but stated that he wished to be excused from connecting any New York stock exchange firm with his firm.

Charles F. Stoppani, the other member of the firm, was also present today, but did not testify, the hearing being adjourned to Friday as Mr. Ennis stated that he had been summoned before the directors of the Chicago board of trade on Tuesday to give an explanation of the firm's failure.

MERCHANT BEATEN TO DEATH; 3 BROTHERS UNDER ARREST.

Collection of Bill Declared Responsible for Murder of Man at Van Buren, Ind.—Victim Kicked Over Heart.

Marion, Ind., June 7.—[Special.]—John McDougle, aged 40, a merchant at Van Buren, was beaten to death this afternoon, and three brothers—Francis, Alva, and Lester Miller—who had been drinking, are held in the Marion jail as responsible for the murder.

Francis Miller had been in debt to McDougal, and became incensed when the latter collected the bill from his employers. Failing to find McDougle at his store, he went in search of him, and met him on the street. McDougle was knocked to the sidewalk, and while in a kneeling position he was kicked just above the heart.

McDougle's wife ran to his assistance, and, throwing her arms about him, attempted to prevent Miller from continuing his attacks. Miller, however, struck McDougle two more blows while his wife clung to him. McDougle sank to the sidewalk, and died within a few minutes.

The Miller brothers were arrested and brought to Marion in an automobile to prevent the possibility of mob violence. Francis Miller is charged with the murder, and his brothers are held as accessories to the crime.

MISS MORGAN LAUDS WOMEN

Most of Them Patriots Without Suffrage, She Declares.

SPEAKS IN A NAVY YARD.

Magnate's Daughter Aids in the Opening of Restaurant for Seamen.

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Flowers, bunting, and myriads of electric lights furnished a feast for the eyes of those who went tonight to the opening of the restaurant at the Brooklyn navy yard which will be run by the National Civic federation. The navy yard band played martial airs and later there was singing, dancing, and other exhibitions of talent.

Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of J. P. Morgan, who originated the plan of providing the navy yard workmen with a suitable place to spend the noon hour, was not one of the scheduled speakers, but on request of Capt. Murdock, the commandant, she consented to say a few words to the men.

"I have one or two things to say in behalf of the committee which has this restaurant in charge," she began. "When the navy department, upon the recommendation of Admiral Goodrich, agreed to alter this building so it might be used as a restaurant it disclaimed all responsibility in running the enterprise. The committee agreed to attend to that end of it."

Venture Example to Nation.

Miss Morgan went on to explain that the restaurant business proposition, if not successful, would have to shut down. "What is needed," she continued, "is coöperation. Individual responsibility rests upon every one of us and we must shoulder it in the spirit of brotherhood. We must make this lunchroom such a success that the government will realize it is the right thing to open similar lunchrooms everywhere it employs a large force of men. When this is accomplished other improvements will follow until the country we all love becomes a model employer."

Miss Morgan paused a moment and then she said with a faint smile, "Some of us believe, too, that we don't have to have suffrage in order to prove that we love our country. Many of us women do not need suffrage to make us loyal and obedient citizens; many of us are content to labor quietly for the good of our fellows, to do the right as the right to be just has been accorded us all. If this restaurant fails, it will have to be shut down. But it won't fail. It is needed. Let each of us bring a measure of responsibility."

John Mitchell Also Speaks.

John Mitchell, vice president of the Civic federation, devoted the major part of his address to an elaboration of the points Miss Morgan had made.

Capt. J. B. Murdock, the commandant of the navy yard, and Rear Admiral C. F. Goodrich, retired, testified to the appreciation of the government for the gift.

Two thousand workingmen and their families and a sprinkling of other guests attended the ceremony. The restaurant will open for business next Monday.

NOTED KENTUCKY FEUDIST IS WOUNDED FROM AMBUSH.

Dispute Over the Management of a Church Said to Have Led to Shooting of Edward Callahan.

Jackson, Ky., June 7.—Ex-Sheriff Edward Callahan, famous throughout this section of the state for the part he played in the numerous feuds that have disrupted Breathitt county for years, was shot from ambush early today, and, it is believed, fatally wounded at his home in Crockettsville, sixteen miles from Jackson.

It is reported that the immediate cause of the shooting of ex-Sheriff Edward Callahan was a dispute over the management of a church he built and of which he is deacon at Crockettsville.

Later developments regarding the shooting are that at least two assassins and probably more were engaged in the conspiracy to wipe out the Callahan family. At the same time the elder Callahan was being fired upon another party or a number of them attacked his son, Wilson Callahan, who had gone to a barn about daylight.

He was returning to the residence when a bullet fired by the unseen enemy plowed its way through his hair and carried his hat twenty feet away. Stooping behind a paling fence he made a successful run for the house, while palings behind and in front of him were splintered by bullets.

The assassins were shooting from ambush in the woods 200 yards away. Young Callahan was unable to go to his father. The wife of the former sheriff went to her wounded husband's assistance.

FORTY PUPILS GO ON STRIKE BECAUSE THEIR TEACHERS RIDE

Traction Troubles at Evansville Assume New Phase—School Authorities in Turn Issue Ultimatum.

Evansville, Ind., June 7.—Forty boys of the Centennial school on the west side went on a strike this morning because, they said, their teachers were riding on the cars during the car strike. At noon dismissal they paraded in front of the schoolhouse and endeavored to induce other boys to join them.

The school authorities notified parents of the absentees that unless their boys returned to school they would not be promoted.

On application of the Evansville and Southern Indiana Traction company, Judge Gilchrist issued an injunction against the striking employés further interfering with traffic. The defendants are Benjamin Commons, organizer for the National Street Car Men's union; Matthew Hallenberger, president of the local building trades council; Commodore Goad, former president of the local street car men's union; President Reese, now of the street car men's union, about forty-eight members of the union, "and all other persons." The defendants have ten days in which to make answer.

LAWYERS AID MISS YOAKUM; ARE UPHELD BY TEXAS COURT

Daughter of Rock Island Head Was on Way to Train When Policeman Interfered with Auto's Progress.

San Antonio, Tex., June 7.—S. W. Bennett, a prominent attorney and brother-in-law of B. F. Yoakum, president of the Rock Island-Frisco railroad lines; S. Russ, lawyer, and Charles S. Creeson, assistant United States district attorney, were held justified when arraigned in police court in connection with the disarming of Eugene Wahrmund, a policeman, at a railroad depot last night.

According to the statements made in court today, Mr. Bennett and party of friends had accompanied Mis sBessie Yoakum, who was leaving to join her father in New York, to the depot.

Mr. Bennett was ordered to move his automobile and his inability to do so resulted in an altercation with the policeman. In the mêlée, it is stated, the officer's club was brought into play. He was finally disarmed. Wahrmnud resigned today.

BALLOON INDIANA GETS NEW RECORD?

DENY REPORT OF LANDING

All the Other Craft in Two Big Races Have Come Back to the Earth Again.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 7.—If the balloon Indiana has not disqualified by touching earth, it has broken the American endurance record, which has stood for a year at forty-four hours.

Starting in the national distance race of the Aero Club of America from this city Saturday, two reports have been received from the Indiana.

The first one was that it had touched earth in Tennessee and had taken on water and proceeded toward the south. If this be true, the balloon is disqualified under the rules of the International Aeronautic federation.

Condition by Which It Can Win.

A second dispatch received here signed by the pilot, Carl Fisher, and the aid, G. L. Bumbaugh, stated that they dropped near enough to earth to let down a line and draw up a bucket of water, thereafter rising for further travel. Under the latter condition the Indiana has not disqualified, and has broken the endurance record.

It is not probable, according to available information, that the Indiana has broken the distance record of 852 miles. It was traveling due south, and would come to the gulf coast almost 100 miles short of the record established by the German balloon Pommern in the international race last year for the James Gordon Bennett trophy, starting from St. Louis and landing at Asbury Park, N. J.

What the Other Balloons Did.

The last of the six balloons entered in the national distance race from which a definite landing report has been received is the St. Louis III., which dropped at Kelso, Tenn., having covered about 340 miles. A. B. Lambert was the pilot and H. E. Honeywell the aid. The other balloons landed as follows, covering the approximate distance named:

THE NEW YORK, A. Holland Forbes, pilot, landed at Corinth, Miss., covering 375 miles in 36 hours and 10 minutes.

THE UNIVERSITY CITY traveled 340 miles, landing at Blanche, Tenn. Time, 25 hours and 24 minutes.

Made Target by the Natives.

The Indianapolis, which won the endurance races, was shot at twice while passing over Kentucky. The New York, in the distance race, also was made a target by a native near Birmingham.

YALE STUDENTS ARE BLAMED FOR EVILS IN NEW HAVEN.

Police Chief Replies to Comment of Pastor as to Disreputable Women by Accusing Youths.

New Haven, Conn., June 7.—[Special.]—Chief Henry D. Cowles of the New Haven police department tonight replied to the charge of the Rev. Dr. Isaiah W. Sneath, pastor of Grand Avenue Congregational church, that over 2,000 disreputable women are living in New Haven. Dr. Sneath made the statement in his sermon on Sunday. He was condemning the too open Sabbath in Connecticut.

Dr. Sneath's figures are said to be based on sociological investigations conducted by Yale university and others.

Chief Cowles said the statement of the clergyman was a mass of untruths and added that the minister did not know what he was talking about. The chief went on as follows:

"This minister is ignorant of the conditions in New Haven. We cannot stop the girls from New York landing here. The Yale students demand their presence. I think that serious minded men might consider whether it is not time to get after those little lambs up there in Yale college. I have driven the girls from the vicinity of the college, but the Yale men go down to Savin Rock to find them. If the girls can't find the men, the men find the girls."

HAROLD SANBORN OUT ON BOND

Father of Chicagoan in Trouble in Mexico Believes His Son Never Will Be Tried.

Mexico City, June 7.—[Special.]—Harold Sanborn of Chicago, who figured in the killing of six men and a woman at Sanborn Station, and who was wounded and taken to a hospital under arrest, is now out on a small bond.

George C. Sanborn, president of the Sanborn Lumber and Development company and the Mexican Planters' association, owning La Junta hacienda, who has been with his son, is now on his way to his home in New York.

He says he does not believe his son's case ever will come to trial, and that if it does he will prove his innocence. He says the feeling of the public at Sanborn is in favor of his son.

PACIFIC GATEWAY CLOSED BY COURT

Federal Judges Restrain Enforcement of Rate Board's Portland Order.

RAILROADS WATCH CASE.

Ruling Important Event in Long Struggle of Hill and Harriman Lines.

The decision of the interstate commerce commission in the Portland gateway case, in which the Northern Pacific was ordered to join with the Union Pacific and Northwestern roads in establishing a through route for passengers to and from the Puget sound cities, has been nullified by an injunction issued in the Federal Circuit court at St. Louis, according to a telegram received yesterday at the Chicago offices of the Harriman lines.

The commission held that the northern route, via the Northern Pacific in connection with the Burlington or Great Northern, although as good as the southern route via the Harriman lines, was not a sufficient "reasonable and satisfactory" through route because many passengers might prefer the southern route. This was the feature of the decision objected to by the Northern Pacific, which contended that as long as it offered the public as good service as could be afforded by another line it had the right to control its rates so as to keep the long haul for itself.

The injunction is regarded as of the greatest importance, as the Portland case was expected to serve as a precedent which would lead to a number of similar proceedings elsewhere.

Will Abolish Laborers' Rates.

Second class party fares for the transportation of railroad laborers or other persons who might be brought under that designation for the purpose of securing the reduced rate will be abolished by the western railroads about July 10 or as soon as the present tariffs can be cancelled, according to a vote which was completed.

After that date individual railroads will make whatever fares they please or issue passes for laborers to be employed on their own lines, but no reduction from ordinary fares will be made for so-called railroad laborers over a connecting line. These party fares have long been the subject of controversies between the railroads on account of charges that they were being used for other purposes than those for which they were intended through the manipulation of ticket brokers and special ticket agents.

Going Over New Road.

Roswell Miller, chairman of the board of directors of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, who has been in the city since Saturday, left for Seattle in the afternoon accompanied by President A. J. Earling. They will make a thorough inspection of the Puget sound extension of the road. Mr. Miller was optimistic on the business outlook, saying:

"Prosperity is returning as fast as can be expected and reports of earnings, traffic, and business conditions generally throughout the country are showing a good, healthy increase. I do not look for any immediate boom, but in my opinion a steady improvement augurs better than a sudden spurt."

He said several branch lines, feeders for the Puget sound line, are contemplated, and two or three already have been started. Regarding recent reports that the St. Paul is figuring on the acquisition of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway, he said:

"That is a stock rumor that has done service for five years. There is nothing to it and the company has never considered such a purchase."

Trustees Close Deals in Central Manufacturing District.

TWO BUILDINGS PLANNED.

Transactions Involve Improvements That Will Cost $275,000.

Two big deals have just been closed in the central manufacturing district, involving improvements aggregating $275,000.

John A. Spoor and Arthur G. Leonard, trustees, have leased for twenty-five years to the Chicago Biscuit company a branch of the Loose-Wiles Biscuit company of Kansas City, Mo., 67,500 square feet, at the northeast corner of South Ashland avenue and Thirty-seventh street.

The property has a frontage of 135 feet on Ashland avenue and 500 feet on Thirty-seventh street, and it is proposed to erect a six story and basement brick warehouse, about 150x110 feet, at a cost of $200,000. Large ovens will be installed for the company's bakery. The building is expected to be ready for occupancy about Jan. 1, 1910. McKinney & Hodge negotiated the lease. The property will be served by the Chicago Junction railway.

Lease Manufacturing Site.

Mr. Spoor and Mr. Leonard also leased to Haggard & Marcusson, manufacturers of and dealers in metallic furniture, now at 417 Canal street, about 60,000 square feet on Thirty-seventh street, east of Wall street. The property fronts 125 feet on Thirty-seventh street and extends south 500 feet to the Chicago Junction Belt railway.

The trustees will erect for the lessees a two story and basement brick warehouse, 80x300 feet, at a cost of $75,000. The building will be used for manufacturing and general office purposes. It will be served by a private switch from the Chicago Junction road.

Thirty-seventh street from Morgan street west is being improved with a six foot concrete sidewalk, paved roadway, and a sodded plot of ground which adds much to its attractiveness. Work on the building will be commenced within a month and the lessee expects to occupy the premises about Dec. 1. William A. Bond & Co. were the brokers.

Corner Sells for $27,000.

Madden Bros. have sold for Amanus W. Eschert to George Andrus the northeast corner of Twenty-sixth street and Trumbull avenue for $27,000 cash, subject to an incumbrance of $14,000. The lot fronts 52 feet with a depth of 125 feet, and is improved with a one-story stone building except at the corner, where the building is two stories.

Frederick C. Barbott has purchased from Byron M. Hopkins the property in Ingleside avenue, 152 feet south of Sixty-second street, 50x172 feet, east front, with flat improvements, for $22,750, subject to an incumbrance of $10,500.

Finishing Office Building.

J. L. McKeever is finishing a building with 310 feet of frontage at the southwest corner of Kedzie and Colorado avenues and Adams street. The building, which contains thirteen stores and fifteen offices, was started in March and is nearly all rented.

Record has been made of the purchase by Herbert E. Bucklen from J. Carleton Abbott of the property at 1240-1244 Wabash avenue, 125 feet north of Thirteenth street, 73½x180.7 feet, for $88,200, subject to existing incumbrances. The improvements are three story brick buildings and the deal was made by Oliver & Co.

MEMBERS OF CHURCH DIFFER AS TO PASTOR'S RESIGNATION.

Many of Dr. Johonnot's Friends Wish Him to Retain Unity Pulpit, but Others Want a Change.

The rebuke given the members of Unity church of Oak Park Sunday morning by the pastor, the Rev. R. F. Johonnot, caused much comment in the village yesterday.

The clergyman's resignation was followed by an address, in which he complained that little encouragement had been given him during the seventeen years of his pastorate.

Mrs. T. J. Skillin of 243 Maple avenue said: "Dr. Johonnot has given us the best years of his life; he built up the church from a little mission. He has had to humor everybody for seventeen years, and I suppose he is tired of it, but we are not going to let him go for all that. He needs encouragement, and I am sure, if we can get him to stay, he will feel satisfied that we are all loyal to him, although so many appear to have lost interest."

Miss Marion Bryant of 234 Maple avenue said:

"We have no personal grievance against Dr. Johonnot, but the church certainly needs a change."

Mrs. Charles S. Woodard, 421 Home avenue, said: "I have been a member of Unity church fifteen years. Although Dr. Johonnot is much beloved by his people I cannot say I think it is best for him to stay."

"Dr. Johonnot was right in rebuking the church members Sunday," said Mrs. Louis E. Yager, chairman of the music committee. "There are only about 125 members in the church and the majority who belong do not attend the services."

Mrs. C. E. Roberts, 321 North Euclid avenue, declared Dr. Johonnot was justified in his attitude and said she relished the rebuke. Yet she added:

"The people think it advisable to accept his resignation, although there is perfect harmony in the church."

GOLF VICTORY FOR PRESIDENT.

SAYS HE IS UNDESIRABLE

University Theologian Declares He Is Loyal Member of the Denomination.

At the meeting of the Chicago Baptist ministers' conference, to be held next Monday, George Burman Foster will be requested formally to withdraw from the Baptist ministry, from the Baptist church, and from the University of Chicago, in which he is professor of the history of religion.

This action was decided on yesterday at a meeting of the conference, held in Steinway hall, after the Rev. Johnston Myers had said:

"I desire to offer a resolution demanding the resignation of Prof. Foster from the Baptist denomination, the Baptist ministers' conference, and the University of Chicago, and that he shall give up his papers of ordination in our church.

"Prof. Foster has ceased to be a Baptist long ago, and if we allow him to continue in this work of defamation we will simply be giving him our indorsement unless we protest.

"He has given the Baptist ministers a slap in the face that cannot be overlooked. He should be taught good English, good rhetoric, and good Christianity."

The resolution was "seconded" by a score of voices, but under the rules was laid over one week.

Say He Still Is a Baptist.

"I am afraid the ministers have forgotten what constitutes a Baptist," Prof. Foster said at his home in the evening. "I think I am a typical, loyal, old fashioned Baptist. If I am not at home in a Baptist church, and if they choose to turn me out, I shall stay out in the wide, wide world. If I am not a Baptist, then I am nothing.

"Certainly, I preach in a Unitarian church. I would preach in a Roman Catholic church if they would let me. I fight along the same lines, be it in one church or another. As for my not preaching as a Baptist, what was my sermon on Sunday in Mandel hall at the University of Chicago?"

The opinion of the conference is the result of the recent publication of a book by Prof. Foster, in which the bible is criticised. The book was criticised before the conference by the Rev. W. A. Matthews. The hall was packed with members of the conference, their friends, and a goodly number of friends of Prof. Foster.

Prof. Foster's Book Assailed.

"I have known Prof. Foster as a teacher, having been a member of his first class at the university, and regard him highly as a man and citizen," said Dr. Matthews.

"I regard him, however, as an undesirable Baptist for his utterances in his book and recent statements, and believe it for our interest and the interest of Christianity and the Baptist church that he withdraw from among us."

He then reviewed Prof. Foster's book, reading from almost all of its seven chapters, crtiicising each chapter.

"Prof. Foster," he said, "allows his doubts too much freedom and his logic is not conclusive, leading him into trouble that could be avoided. He says scholars know what Christ really did only through writers of the bible. I would ask Prof. Foster, 'How do you know this?'

"He has denied printed statements of his which I now say were true. The papers copied the exact words from Foster's book. We should not deny newspaper articles until we are certain they are wrong.

"Chapter 6 of the book is a tirade affecting the clergy, and chapter 7, the last chapter, is false entirely. The book is a review of Judaism and a careful attempt to evolve a new religion from raw and old material."

HAWLEY GETS PACIFIC OUTLET.

Practically Finishes Plans for Coast to Coast Route by Arrangement with Orient Line.

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Edwin Hawley, who long has been working on the development of a transcontinental line, has gained his outlet to the Pacific coast through the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient line. To complete his route from coast to coast, it now remains only for the Hawley interests to connect Cincinnati with Chicago. This has already been announced to be effected by making a trunk line of the Chesapeake and Ohio, probably through the purchase of the Chicago, Cincinnati and Louisville road.

The Hawley lines hitched up with the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient, through the Chicago and Alton line. Last week the officers of the two roads concluded a working agreement whereby the trackage of each system was thrown open to the use of each other.

DEBATE ON TRACTION WAGES

HEAD BUMPS SHOW LOYALTY?

Phrenologist Examines Craniums of Striking Cab Drivers.

An attempt to settle the differences existing between the Chicago Railways company and the union employés will be made this week when officials of the labor organization will hold another conference with President Roach. It is asserted, however, that the street railway management will refuse to grant the demands of the union.

Although the situation may develop into a serious strike and tieup of Chicago's street car service, persons familiar with the prevailing conditions yesterday declared the union will not vote to "walk out" even should President Roach and the railway directors finally deny the men any increase in wages. The union is asking an increase of 3 cents an hour.

Roach Refused Demands.

The labor organization presented its demands some time ago and after some consideration President Roach said he could not grant the increased scale. The union, however, is said to be willing to compromise, and this matter will probably be taken up at the conference.

The street railway men will elect delegates next week for the convention of street railway employés, which is to be held in Toronto in October.

Following the "slugging" of Richard Stanley, a driver for Nathan Foote, the Liverymen's association during the day announced they would prosecute three of the alleged union cab drivers who are said to have participated in the assault. Stanley was dragged from the carriage and badly beaten as he was leaving Forest park.

Bumps on Head Show Loyalty.

A phrenologist is the newest feature of the cab drivers' strike. Prof. I. Mazanni in the afternoon lectured to several hundred idle drivers at the union headquarters and examined several heads to discover whether the men were loyal to their union. Several of the men exhibited unusual bumps, but these were said to be the result of fistic encounters.

President Fitzpatrick of the Chicago Federation of Labor attempted to bring about a conference between the striking egg testers and the employers, but was unsuccessful. Officials of the Egg Testers' union claimed a number of the employing firms already had signed the agreement and that others are expected to follow.

LAUDS EMMANUEL MOVEMENT; ATTACKS CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

Bishop Fallows Compares Two Methods of Healing in an Address Before Methodist Ministers.

Bishop Samuel Fallows of St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal church in an address before the weekly meeting of Methodist ministers yesterday told of the cures he has effected since establishing the Emmanuel movement branch in his church. One of the ministers asked him what was the difference between Christian Science and the Emmanuel movement.

"There is a fundamental distinction between the two," he said. "Christian Science does not recognize the reality of the body, the matter, or of the pain. It is a hodge podge of foolish philosophy.

"Mrs. Eddy in her book on 'Science and Health' said she went to a woman who was in the last stages of cancer and that she placed her hand on the woman's throat and that she became healed at once."

Then raising his right hand high in the air the bishop exclaimed:

"It's a lie. It's a lie from beginning to end."

Returning to the discussion of the Emmanuel movement, the bshop said:

"The time is coming when you will graduate no more young ministers until they are thoroughly taught the principles of psychotherapy, and no physician will be graduated unless he makes a study of the soul and applied psychology."

'RARE DAY IN JUNE' PROVES RAW

Oak Park Lawn Fete Changed to Barn Entertainment Because of Blustering Weather.

A lawn fête, which was to have been held on the lawn of Mrs. Thomas O'Connor, 616 Winona avenue, Oak Park, yesterday afternoon for the benefit of a maternity bed in the Oak Park hospital, was given in the barn because of the weather conditions. Horses, cats, dogs, and goats proved added attractions.

The program read that the young people of Oak Park would celebrate "a rare day in June," but, instead, it proved to be a raw one. The audience was shivering when Laura and Mabel Whitlock sang a duet entitled "Beautiful Spring."

When the entertainment was over Mrs. O'Connor announced that $150 had been cleared for the maternity ward.

VISIT MRS. EDDY; DISPROVE CHARGE

REPLY TO MRS. GILBERT.

Head of Cult Pleased to Report That Household Sees Her Daily.

Boston, Mass., June 7.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church, was visible in the flesh to a committee of newspaper representatives at 1 o'clock today. As a reply to the charges made by Mrs. Della M. Gilbert of New York that Mrs. Eddy is "either dead, or a helpless, mindless puppet," the leaders of the Christian Science church arranged the view. It proved these things:

First—If Mrs. Eddy was alive five years ago this month, she is alive today.

Second—She possesses faculties sufficiently bright, at least, to enable her to lean forward to the door of a carriage and smile at a body of young men while she salutes them with a white gloved hand.

Statement by Mrs. Eddy.

Adam H. Dickey, corresponding secretary to Mrs. Eddy, gave to each newspaper man a typewritten statement which he said had been dictated by Mrs. Eddy after reading the letter of Mrs. Gilbert, which was addressed to "All Christian Scientists."

The statement is as follows:

"To Whom It May Concern—I have the pleasure to report to one and all of my beloved friends and followers that I exist in the flesh, and am seen daily by members of my household and those with whom I have appointments.

"Above all this fustian of either denying or asserting the personality and presence of Mary Baker Eddy stands the eternal fact of Christian Science and honest history of its discoverer and founder. It is self evident that the discoverer of an eternal truth cannot be a temporal fraud.

"The cause of Christian Science is prospering throughout the world and stands forever as an eternal science, and I do not regard this attack upon me as a trial, for when these things cease to bless they will cease to occur.

"'And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose.'

"'What shall we then say to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us?'

"Mary B. Eddy."

Mother Church Elects Officers.

The board of directors of the mother church late today elected William P. McKenzie president; Stephen A. Chase of Fall River, treasurer; and John V. Dittermore of New York, clerk, the latter succeeding William B. Johnson, resigned. The following letter was received:

"Beloved Students: I thank you for your kind invitation to be present at the annual meeting of the mother church on June 7, 1909. I will attend the meeting, but not in propria persona. Watch and pray that God directs your meetings and your lives, and your leaders will then be sure that they are blessed in their results.

"Mary Baker G. Eddy."

Mrs. Gilbert Expects Leadership.

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Mrs. Della M. Gilbert said today if divine love should give her leading she assuredly would succeed as head of the Church of Christ, Scientist, Mary Baker G. Eddy, whom she believes either dead or an imbecile.

SEEK PARIS AGENT OF BIG SMUGGLERS

ACTIVITY IS DEMANDED.

Agents Found "Asleep at Switch" Given Strict Orders from Washington.

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—In its hunt for managers of an "underground express" by which hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of Paris finery have been smuggled into New York annually, the government, it was learned today, is hot on the trail of a Paris employé of the International Mercantile Marine company, the trans-Atlantic steamship trust, controlled by J. Pierpont Morgan.

This man holds a responsible position in the company. He is said to have worked out a scheme by which "sleepers" or left over trunks, after being shipped to this country are slipped past the customs men. For each "sleeper" trunk the fee to the smuggling combine was $500.

Practically all of the important smuggling of this kind has been done on steamers of the American line and the Red Star line, both of which are subsidiaries of the International Mercantile Marine.

Special treasury agents of the government in Paris have been on the trail of the man suspected ever since the seizure, ten weeks ago, of five trunks containing $52,000 worth of Paris gowns, which are now being sold at an auction in the custom house.

Special Agents "Asleep at Switch."

These special agents who get large pay and liberal allowances for their expenses, have been made to understand by their superiors in Washington that, unless they uncovered the Paris end of the smuggling combination they would lose their jobs.

Some cablegrams sent to them, it is understood, have not been complimentary to their ability and have pointed out a large number of tourists, particularly travelers of large means, who seemed to know all about the smugglers' efforts to get valuables into this country duty free, while the special agents remained in complete ignorance of the information they were generously paid to discover.

On March 24 last Robert Schwartz, head baggage master of the Red Star and American line piers, was arrested by men of Surveyor Clarkson's staff, charged with helping smuggle in a trunk containing $5,000 worth of Paris finery.

Although released on bail after his arrest Schwartz never has been far out of the sight of secret service men and they have been working diligently to get him to tell all they suspect he knows concerning the foreign end of the smuggling combination.

Collector Loeb has not yet been able to learn the identity of the men or women behind the lawyer who offered to pay $200,000 in full settlement of all claims of the government, growing out of the seizure of the five trunks.

Rich Boston Woman Is Accused.

Mrs. Matilda Chesebrough, the wife of a wealthy Boston shipowner, will have to answer before the United States authorities charges of smuggling, it was learned during the evening.

Mrs. Chesebrough is accused of having brought to this port on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II., about two weeks ago, a trunk with a false bottom concealing several thousand dollars' worth of gowns, furs, laces, and jewels. Her husband came from Boston and offered to pay the duty on the things which his wife had not declared.

Mr. Chesebrough maintained his wife is innocent and that she had no intention of smuggling. He denied the trunk had a false bottom and he reflected on the intelligence of the customs inspectors.

Collector Loeb investigated the case personally and being convinced his men are right sent it to the United States district attorney with a request that action be taken at once.

CHICAGOAN ELECTED COUNSEL OF BIG CUBAN DOCK COMPANY.

Attorney Levy Mayer Says No Local Capital Is Involved in Deal to Control Havana-Matanzas Frontage.

HAVANA, June 7.—[Special.]—Gen. Joseph N. Terafa, formerly connected with the army of the Cuban republic, has just been elected president of the Matanzas Railway and Warehouse company, the $15,000,000 corporation which has secured control of the docks and warehouses at Matanzas and Havana. It has developed through information which was made public today that the proposition is bigger than was at first reported, as the company has acquired by absolute purchase all of the land between Havana and Matanzas which controls the deep waterway frontage.

The company also has taken under a thirty year lease the military pier at Matanzas, which was built by the United States government during its first occupation of Cuba.

The financing of the enterprise has been accomplished by H. Upmann & Co., bankers of Havana, the National bank of Cuba, and J. S. Bache & Co. of New York, and the company has a capital of $15,000,000 paid in.

"I have had charge of the legal end of the work in connection with the purchases made by the Matanzas Railway and Warehouse company," said Attorney Mayer during the day. "No Chicago capital is involved, and no Chicago financial institutions are connected with the enterprise."

PARIS CLERKS GET $600,000 UNDER WILL OF CHAUCHARD.

PARIS, June 7.—The will of the late H. A. Chauchard, proprietor of the Magasins de Louvre, who died in this city last Friday, leaves his entire collection of paintings, bronzes, marbles, etc., comprising some of the most celebrated works of the romantic school of 1830, to the National Louvre museum. The collection is valued at $4,000,000.

To the employés of the Louvre store, M. Chauchard leaves $600,000. He gives $400,000 to the poor of Paris and makes also numerous bequests to various philanthropic and charitable institutions.

The big individual legacies are $3,000,000 to George Leygues, the lawyer, and man of letters, and the members of his family, and $400,000 to Gaston Calmette, proprietor of Figaro.

M. Chauchard's body is lying in state in his magnificent residence in the Rue Velasquez. On Thursday it will be given imposing funeral service at the Madeleine.

The succession dues on the Chauchard estate will amount to $3,600,000. Among other bequests are $75,000 to his secretary and sums varying from $2,000 to $100,000 to his servants.

Mr. Bacon will succeed Henry White of Rhode Island, who has been in the American diplomatic service for twenty-six years. After serving in subordinate grades, Mr. White became ambassador to Italy in 1905 and was transferred to France in 1906.

messages to the Japanese government and people he has taken particular pains to show his purpose to maintain the historically good relations that have existed between "the most western of the eastern nations" and the "most western of the western nations."

Seeks Good Will of America.

On its part Japan has stated repeatedly, and backed up its statements by deeds, that it wants nothing more than the good will of the American people. It has pointed out that the policies of the two nations in the far east are similar, and only last November it concluded an arrangement with this country which in effect constituted an alliance, for it bound one to take no step in contravention of the declared policy without previous consultation with the other. In a word, it meant that before either sought to deal with a difficult situation and seek to gain an advantage therefrom, it should first ascertain the attitude of the other and be guided thereby.

The attitude of hostility which a certain section of the Californians have evinced towards the Japanese unquestionably originally developed from the economic competition of the native and Japanese labor. Race dislike resulted. It is the confident anticipation of the authorities, both here and in Tokio, that with Japanese immigration absolutely stopped and with the departures of Japanese for home, which are occurring monthly, the degree of competition will lessen and a better feeling will arise. During the period between July 1 last and April 30, 6,000 Japanese left the United States. If this continues in the same proportion, there soon will be only an inappreciable number of Japanese in California or any other part of the country. Certainly there is no ground for any apprehension of a Japanese invasion, especially in view of the attitude now observed by Japan.

Will Follow British Treaty.

When the active negotiations for a revision of the treaty begin, it is the purpose of the president and Secretary Knox to keep in touch with the progress being made in connection with the modification of the treaty existing between Japan and Great Britain. The British authorities face about the same conditions that confront the American administration. In Australia there is a determined purpose to exclude Japanese. British Columbia had a riot two summers ago against these people even worse than that which occurred in San Francisco.

The British government must look out for the interest of its colonists even if it desires to deal with Japan in that spirit of amity required by the treaty of alliance existing between the two countries. It may be taken for granted, however, that the British government will seek to make concessions to Japan whereby its prestige will not be lowered while at the same time obtaining practical exclusion, and this also probably will be the effort of President Taft.

CHICAGO SAVANTS RETURN TO PEKING

JOURNEY OF 15,000 MILES.

Professors Chamberlain and Burton Study Conditions of Flowery Kingdom.

Profs. T. C. Chamberlin, E. D. Chamberlin, and E. D. Burton of the University of Chicago have returned to Peking, China, according to dispatches received yesterday, after extensive investigations of the material resources and intellectual conditions of China.

Prof. Burton, who is a member of the faculty of the divinity school, in the last year has traveled over 15,000 miles through fourteen of the Chinese provinces, and has made the first comprehensive examination of state education in China and the capacities of the people for further education.

The attitude of the people and their officials toward foreign aid in this field has been the subject of his particular attention. Prof. Burton, who is a former president of the National Geographical society, the author of numerous books, and head of the department of geology at the university, made an investigation of the mineral resources of the empire his especial care. He confirms the previous estimates of the natural resources of China previously made by Richthofen and Willis.

FILIPINOS WHO SLEW JONES ESCAPE ON WAY TO GALLOWS.

Three Natives Convicted of Death of Chicago Anthropologist Evade Captors and Get to Woods.

MANILA, June 7.—The three natives convicted of the murder of Dr. William Jones, anthropologist of the Chicago Columbian museum, who was killed while studying the hill tribes some months ago, escaped from their guards while on the way to this city, where the death sentence was to have been executed, and still are at large. The prisoners were being brought overland through the mountains of Nueva Vizcaya province to Pangasinan. During the night they eluded their guards and disappeared into the jungle.

As soon as the next constabulary station was reached, patrols were sent out to follow the trail, and these are still in chase of the fugitives, but their recapture is considered doubtful.

NO REPORT IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—No confirmation of the news concerning the reported escape of the three Filipinos who were charged with the murder of Dr. Jones has reached the war department. Few details of any sort concerning the capture, detention, and trial of the supposed murderers have been transmitted from Manila.

Chicagoan, whose name the war department prefers not to disclose, has written to President Taft suggesting that the Filipinos charged with the murder of Dr. Jones be set free. He expresses the opinion that Dr. Jones met his just deserts; that he was not welcome among the hill tribes in the north of Luzon, and had no business going among them to pry into their affairs.

President Taft has transmitted the letter to the bureau of insular affairs, where it has been filed. Little attention will be paid to it.

NEW PARIS THEATER FAVORED.

Municipal Council's Committee Votes to Build Philharmonic Despite Opposition of Many Persons.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, June 7.—The municipal council's committee voted today, 17 to 4, in favor of a scheme for building a philharmonic theater on Champs Elysées, the site of the old summer circus. The vote must be ratified by the council before it becomes effective. The scheme, in which many Americans are interested, has aroused the greatest opposition, on the ground that the Elysées should not be further built on and that such a theater is likely to prove a rival of the Opéra.

Food Value
in Beans—?

Well, it's immense—beans are 84% nutriment.

But many can't eat beans as they are ordinarily cooked, because there are some elements in these rich food nuggets which must be "assayed," as the "sand" and "quartz" must be separated from the "gold."

Snider
Pork & Beans

are "assayed." The exclusive, scientific "Snider Process" gets away with everything but the delicious, wholesome, body-building elements, so that anyone can eat and digest all the Snider Pork & Beans he desires.

The "Snider-Process" employs specially constructed apparatus for cooking, so that each bean in the can is cooked through and through—until porous, mellow and free from sulphurous gas, and is a luscious morsel.

The young, tender, Gov't-Inspected Pork is also cooked by the "Snider-Process," making the combination, Snider Pork & Beans, as near perfection as human skill and long experience can make them—

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—The decision in that memorable seventeen inning tie between White Sox and Senators went to Chicago today when the same teams now adorning the ultimate and penultimate positions in the race got together again after many days.

The verdict was unanimous, 8 to 0.

For three innings the knot which was tied on the south side grounds on May 13 defied all efforts to unsnarl it this afternoon and a yard full of Washington enthusiasts rooted steadfastly in the hope it might never be untied. But in the fourth the Sullivans took advantage of a brief spell of wabbles on the part of Dolly Gray to put three runs over the pan and these cinched their claim to victory after twenty rounds of battling.

Ed Walsh was the Sox slabman and pitched the best game he has framed up for the enemy this year. Five hits were made off him, but these came in carefully separated rounds and at no time was there serious danger that a Senatorial tally would filter across the plate.

Walsh Passes One Senator.

Only once was a local swatter allowed to walk, and he was no swatter, being none other than the aforesaid Dolly, who was given his base solely by Tom Connolly, "ump," according to Big Ed. There was not a slip nor a slop behind the large spitballer, and some of the support he was given reminded us of the palmiest days of the south side defenders.

Six men in all reached first base off Walsh, and of these just three saw second base, and nary one of them landed on third alive. It may not have been water tight pitching, as Eddie is not that kind of a hurler, but it surely was run tight pitching, and was accepted with glee by the White Sox as a demonstration that Walsh has regained much of last season's form, which has been lacking since his belated joining time this spring.

Bill Purtell Scintillates.

Bill Purtell was among those shining in the field and one of his stops of a crazy bounding grounder extracted much applause from the home rooters, while another play, the closing one of the game, was a corker, and was brought about by the same Purtell's high heave to first. Isbell had to jump and spear it with one hand, then land on the bag as he came down, but Isbell went through with the whole of it flawlessly, much to the disgust of the crowd, which was eager for one little run and for Jiggs Donahue to outshine the "shine" team which traded him off.

Jiggs was there with the fielding end all right and looked as natural as ever, pulling in wide ones, but he was as shy with the stick as some of his team mates, Delehanty being the only local swatter who had anything to brag of in a batting way.

Sox Fall at Start.

For three innings only nine Sox faced Dolly Gray, who mowed down three of them in a row in each inning. In the same rounds Walsh was almost as effective, but not quite. In the second, with one out, Milan chopped off the first hit of the game, but he went no farther than second base before the side was out. In the third, Gray worked a pass out of somebody—Walsh denied it was his gift. Again there was one out and Walsh himself retired the side on two successive spectacular plays off hits by Browne and Conroy.

The break came in the fourth, when Gray lost control until he had passed Hahn and Parent, Freddy being the regular little center fielder for the day. Isbell essayed to sacrifice, but Gray grabbed his bunt in time to force Hahn at third. Then a hit and run play with Dougherty went wrong and Parent was nailed at third by Street's throw, but Conroy dropped the ball, saving his life.

That bit of luck seemingly was offset when Pat was called out on strikes, but Purtell scratched a grounder toward third and by sprinting beat Conroy's throw to first and let Parent score. Isbell made third on it and scored in a double steal with Purtell, Street helping along by a heave into center. Tannehill followed with a clean rap to left, scoring Bill with the third tally, and then was caught stealing.

Sox Renew Hostilities.

For two innings the Sox subsided, but opened another attack in the seventh which netted three more tallies. Purtell once more starred by leading off with a safety to center. Tannehill sacrificed him to second, and Atz whaled a stinger to left, which Conroy managed to knock down with one hand, holding Purtell on third. With Owens up they pulled off a double squeeze play unexpectedly, the backstop bunting nicely to Gray and Purtell scoring, while Atz made second.

Walsh helped along with a safe one straight over second, scoring Jakey and making second himself on the throw home. Hahn popped a roller to McBride, who let it through, and Big Eddie scored, after which little Eddie was caught stealing second.

Purtell led again in the ninth and was thrown out, but it made a difference of only one run in the bunches of three the Sox were garnering. Tannehill lived on McBride's boot, and singles by Atz, Owens, and Walsh followed, driving two more runs home.

Walsh Master at Finish.

Mr. Walsh did not need all that help, for aside from their fourth it did not look possible for the Senators to score a tally. In that round Delehanty opened up with a single. Jiggs Donahue fanned and Milan grounded, putting Del on second. Unglaub drove a long hard one over center, but Parent raced back and grabbed it. In the sixth and seventh Walsh allowed one hit, but after two were out each time and they were harmless. In the eighth Browne singled with one out, only to be forced by Conroy, who met the same fate at Delehanty's hands. Score:

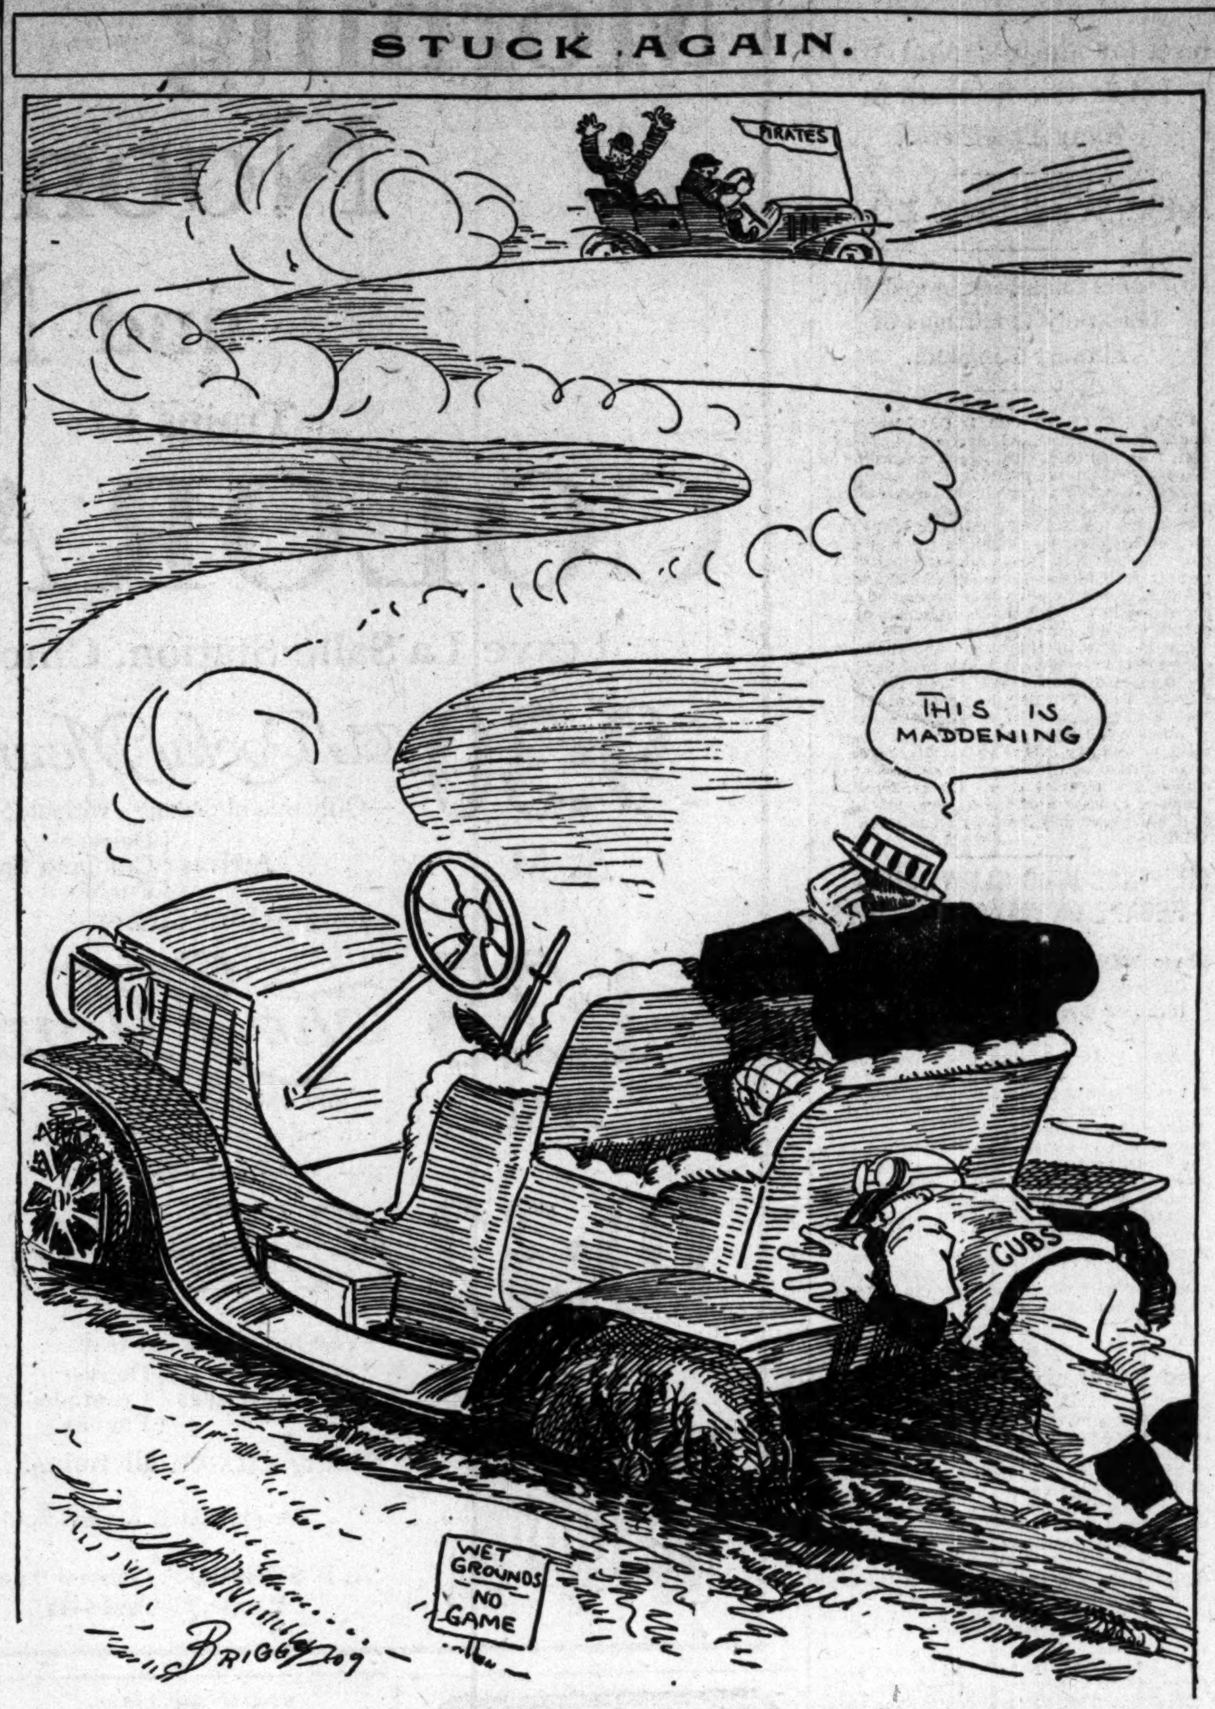
LOGAN SQUARES WANT KLING.

"Noisy John" Places Liberal Offer to Play Here for Callahan in Pigeonhole.

Kansas City, Mo., June 7.—[Special.]—C. Webb Murphy is not the only magnate who wishes John Kling to make a visit to Chicago. "Jawn" yesterday received an offer from Jimmy Callahan to go to Chicago and catch for the Logan Squares of the Chicago league. Although the offer was liberal, Kling was forced to turn it down. "As I have said one million times this summer, I won't go to Chicago," said Kling in discussing the offer.

STUCK AGAIN.



NOTES OF THE WHITE SOX.

Washington, D. C., June 7.—The Sox play here three more days.

Washington will remain in last place throughout this series at least.

Frank Owens handled Walsh's spit ball almost perfectly, although a couple of third strikes got away so that he had to throw them to first to get outs. Nothing eluded him.

The weather turned threatening shortly after noon and looked as if it was going to stop the game; nevertheless there was a crowd out which tried to overflow from everywhere except the grandstand.

Smith's ankle has recovered sufficiently so that he was out warming up in uniform. He announced he was ready to pitch on both feet once more. Burns tried out his lame arm before the game but didn't go far with it.

Doc White was kept in restful attitude today on the assumption he is the logical candidate for slab duty tomorrow against Groome. Also the substitution of Parent put in another right handed batter against the sou'paw pitcher.

After the way Parent went into the concrete wall chasing a foul fly in the last game played in Philadelphia Manager Sullivan thought he deserved another trial in the outfield, but placed him in center where he could not endanger his life or limbs against the boundaries.

The Sox started to score some more in the eighth, but Isbell apparently thought they had enough. Parent gained a life on McBride's fumble and Issy bunted so hard they actually pulled off a double play by way of second base on him, Gray, McBride, and Donahue handling the ball.

Nick Altrock has the Washington fans kow-towing to him just as he had the south siders. His antics and juggling feats in the coacher's box have made a large hit here, and he still has his lifelike imitation of Hughey Jennings in reserve ready to spring on them when the ordinary business begins to pall.

YANKEES LAND ON SUMMERS AND BAT OUT VICTORY, 5 TO 1.

New Yorkers Hit Tigers' Twirler Hard in the Fifth and Sixth—Wolverines' Run Result of Two Errors.

New York, June 7.—New York hit Summers savagely in the fourth and fifth innings and easily defeated Detroit, 5 to 1. Manning pitched a strong game for the locals and scattered the four hits through as many innings. Detroit's only run resulted from errors by Laporte and Austin. Score:

WAGNER AGAIN PRODUCES.

Demon Hits for Two Sacks and Sends Clarke Home with Needed Run.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 7.—By a grand rally in the eighth inning Pittsburg defeated Philadelphia by a score of 4 to 3. The visitors made three runs in the fifth inning, chiefly on scratch hits. Until the eighth inning Moren was invincible, but in that session he weakened, and after allowing a triple, a double, a single, and base on balls, enough to give three runs, he was replaced by Brown. Wagner, the next man up, doubled, scoring Clarke. Leifield pitched a good game, but was taken out to allow Hyatt to bat for him. Score:

Edward Bader Pays Penalty for Allowing Game Between Athletics and Reading Team.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 7.—Charged with violating an ordinance which prohibits all Sunday amusements, Edward Bader, secretary of the Atlantic City Athletic club, under whose auspices the Philadelphia American league team and the Reading Tri-State leaguers played a baseball game here yesterday, was summoned into police court today and fined $200. The game was the first Sunday exhibition of the sort here and was played despite the protests of the Sabbath alliance, the Good Citizens' league, and the pastors of different churches. Bader was summoned into court on information given by Chief of Police Woodruff.

Games Today.

New York at Chicago. Boston at Cincinnati.
Philadelp'a at Pittsburg. Brooklyn at St. Louis.

BY R. W. LARDNER.

A crowd of goodly proportions visited the west side grounds yesterday and returned homeward disappointed because the first scheduled game of the first home Cub-Giant series was postponed.

The postponement was the result of the threatening weather. It was raining in the suburbs, in Oak Park and far Ravenswood, at least, and President Murphy thought it might rain on the island surrounded by Polk, Wood, Lincoln, and Taylor streets if given a chance. The diamond was wet in two places, around home plate and the pitcher's slab, important places, to say the least. The clouds looked bad to the Cub boss, even if they did not to the bugs, who were out in large numbers and were storming the entrance gate in the hope of breaking in and forcing the athletes to perform. The big sign saying "No game today" was visible to the naked eye, but it did not seem to discourage the fanatics, who finally dispersed when Hank O'Day issued forth from the only open door and went on his way rejoicing.

Cubs Frolic on Lot.

In the meantime the champions got out on the lot, most of them in their traveling suits, so that their home uniforms would not get any more soiled than necessary, and engaged in loosening up practice. Both of the men who are so effective against the New York Giants, Mordecai Brown and Jack Pfiester, pitched to some really good batsmen and looked good. The New Yorkers arrived early yesterday morning from St. Louis, where they have been enjoying life and triumph. They spent the day around their hotel and didn't seem particularly sore about the postponement. The game will be played here on Sept. 17, which is an open date on both schedules.

"I see they have the race narrowed down to two teams," said Manager McGraw, "but I think they will change their tune before it's over. Pittsburg and the Cubs are out in front now, but we are not far behind and I will be among those surprised if we don't break into the class of contenders.

"Our pitchers have not been going any too well and we have not been hitting as well as we ought. Just wait until we strike our proper stride and then you will see that they counted New York out before it really was knocked down."

Mathewson to Pitch.

Christy Mathewson was booked to work yesterday and probably will be it today. His adversary is likely to be Mordecai Brown, who has had an extra long rest, not having pitched since June 1, when he beat the Reds in ten innings. Brownie is getting to be the weekly pitcher and enjoys his new job. The chances are it is only temporary, however, if the race happens to be close. Just now Chance has five dependables, Overall, Reulbach, Brown, Kroh, and Pfiester, and it is pretty soft for each and every one of them. If there is a blowup on the part of one or two, then Brownie and some of the rest who seldom are affected by the blowup epidemic, will have to pitch oftener.

One of the pleasant things about yesterday's occurrences was the appearance of Heine Zimmerman in uniform. Heine, saying his knee felt much better, jumped into a suit and practiced with the rest of the bunch. He was hitting most of the time and some future greats in knickerbockers and thin waists got up a sweat chasing the Bronx kid's drives to the various bleachers. Doc Simmons also was out among them, and got one hit—in the eye—from the heavy stick of Pat Moran.

Parcel Out the Sugar.

Another pleasant thing—for the athletes—was the division of the $10,000 bonus. They are still talking about the split-up, and some of them are anxious to let Slagle, Lundgren, and Fraser in on the divvy.

Manager Chance suffered his shoulder to be casted once more, this time for one week only. The peerless leader's arm was left more free this time and he can button his necktie and cut his roast beef without aid. The whip has knitted into its proper place all right, but the surgeons in charge are unwilling to take any chance and want him to keep it bound up for another seven days. Chance probably will be able to play in two weeks or less.

President Murphy would have been unable to see the game even if there had been one. His wife was operated on again as a result of an appendicitis case yesterday morning, and he was forced to remain at her bedside throughout the day. This was the second operation, the first having been performed at Oak Park early in the spring. The Cub owner's wife was doing as well as could be expected at last reports.

While the Cubs were idle, the Pirates were winning another of their uphill victories, the poor Phillies being the victims. As a result the champions lost another half game and are now three full games behind Clarke's leaders. Lew Moren also lost another $100. At his present clip, his father will win enough on his defeats to make him a nice present at the end of the season. Lew may be trying to save money for dad, but we wish he would not, especially when he is working against Pittsburg.

Either Mordecai Brown or Jack Pfiester will get two chances at the Giants. Pfiester is the alternate for today's game and if he is chosen, he may pitch again in Thursday's game, which will be the Giants' last engagement here this trip. The Doves are to follow and Chance doesn't care much whom he works against them.

The Giants and Cubs will occupy boxes at the Great Northern tomorrow night at a performance of "The Alaskan."

We claim that Franklin automobiles run with less tire trouble and less tire expense than any other automobile because we use larger tires for less weight.

The reliability question of automobiles is the tire question. The Franklin with its tire equipment is by far the most reliable automobile on the road today.

You may not mind the heavy expense, but you do mind the delay and annoyance of tire trouble.

Franklins have practically no tire trouble.

The tires on Franklin Model D are as large as used on other automobiles a thousand pounds or more heavier.

SCHOOL WRANGLE ENDED BY BOARD.

Crane and Austin Nines Ordered to Play Disputed Game Thursday.

LANE-OAK PARK TODAY.

President Reed of McKinley Wishes to Quit Office; Other Members Opposed.

At a meeting of the baseball committee of the Cook County High school board of athletic control, held in the board of education rooms yesterday, it was decided that the Crane-Austin game should be played at Artesian park on Thursday.

Before the meeting yesterday each team claimed a forfeit from the other because of nonappearance on certain days last week. The committee ruled that as both managers were equally to blame and that both showed a willingness to play the game, the contest should be played on Thursday.

No action was taken on the Englewood-Lane game, which was won by the latter in sixteen innings last week. It was expected that the south side school would file a written protest, but such was not the case and the game stands as played and Lane will meet Oak Park this afternoon at De Paul field.

Ask Reed to Remain.

The board of control will hold a meeting Thursday afternoon for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year and arranging a date and place for the final championship game.

There is much discussion among the members concerning the presidency for next year. J. C. Reed of McKinley High, who now holds the office, has asked to be relieved of the duties. He fears that if he accepts the office another year the duties added to his work as teacher will be too much for him physically.

Mr. Reed is being urged, however, by the majority of the members of the board to accept the place, as he has given general satisfaction.

"I don't know of any man on the board who could equal Mr. Reed in his first year as president," said William T. Wilson, board member from Austin High. "He has the faculty of waiting for all the facts before he makes a decision, and when once it is made, nothing on earth can shake it."

May Bar Hammer Throw.

In making up the track schedules for next year there will be strong sentiment in favor of abolishing hammer throwing as a dangerous sport. Throwers, say members of the board, cannot tell where a hammer will light. They often lose their reckoning of the points of the compass, with the result that they are likely to throw the hammer into the midst of the spectators.

Athletes in the Cook county high schools will put in a strenuous week training for the University of Chicago interscholastic to be held on Saturday on Marshall field. This will be the last "prep" meet of the year and the athletes of the various schools will bend every energy toward winning the event.

BADGERS WILL GO TO JAPAN.

Faculty Consents to Trip of Baseball Team to Orient—Twelve Games on Card with Keio.

Madison, Wis., June 7.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin university faculty voted unanimously tonight to send the baseball nine to Japan for a twelve game series with Keio university of Tokyo in September. Charles McCarthy, former assistant football coach, will accompany the team as faculty representative. The players must be bonafide students in the university with the usual requirement as to scholastic standing. The conference three year rule will not apply. The team will not be picked until after examinations, when arrangements will be made for summer practice. The first game is scheduled for Sept. 16 and players must be back by Nov. 2.

PURDUE TURNS DOWN ILLINI.

Boilermakers Refuse to Accept Challenge for Deciding Ball Game with Downstaters.

Champaign, Ill., June 7.—[Special.]—Possibility of a deciding game between Illinois and Purdue baseball teams to decide the championship of the west has vanished, as Director Nicol of Purdue has turned down Huff's challenge. The local coach offered to play Purdue either at Lafayette, Champaign, or Danville, but Nicol could not see it. The local position is that Illinois and Purdue are tied for honors. Chicago is counted out because of the defeat of the Maroons by Indiana.

Cuban Stars, 5; Louisville Cubs, 0.

Louisville, Ky., June 7.—[Special.]—The Cuban Stars defeated the Louisville Cubs, 5 to 0. Score:

THIRTY MACHINES IN AUTO CARNIVAL

CELEBRITIES AT WHEEL.

World Famed Drivers to Guide Cars Over Crown Point-Lowell Course.

Entries closed last night at the Chicago Automobile club for the "Western Vanderbilt," or Indiana and Cobe trophy stock car motor races on the Crown Point-Lowell course, June 18-19, with a total of thirty cars.

The last nomination sent to General Executive F. H. Trego was that of a second Fal car for the light car race, which, with the belated nomination of a third Chalmers-Detroit, brings the total for the curtain raiser competition to eighteen machines. There are twelve in the Cobe trophy event.

Additional entries may be made up to next Thursday, but it will cost $250 extra per car, the penalty for procrastination. The total of twenty cars, while a few below the aggregate expected by the most sanguine officials, compares favorably with the stock chassis competition nominations made at Savannah, Ga., where there were a total of thirty-seven cars, twenty of which were named for the big stock car race.

Big Entry in Light Car Race.

The light car race on the Indiana circuit has one more eligible than that at the Georgia course. In all there are thirteen different makes of automobiles in the Chicago club's entry list, six of them being represented in the big race.

As finally prepared subject to the report of the technical board, the field for the Indiana events will be as follows:

Strang Hits the Road.

From the report of a representative of a rival automobile some interesting information about the practice work of Driver Strang on the Crown Point-Lowell course was distributed around automobile row last evening. Strang is said to have made four circuits of the course of a trifle over twenty-three miles, his best time being 25 minutes flat.

The daring driver made his practice whirls early in the morning before any of the people in the vicinity of the racecourse were astir. The Buick camps have been established in two places, Strang and one group occupying the Cadwell hotel in Crown Point, while Burman and his mechanicians are using a freight car at the railway station as their garage. The Locomobile drivers, Robertson, who won the Vanderbilt cup race, and Florida, who has distinguished himself as a daring driver, are preparing to do some fast practice work tomorrow.

Amateur Tennessee Driver Makes a Mile in 1:19½ on Half Mile Track at Knoxville.

Knoxville, Tenn., June 7.—[Special.]—Hampton A. Harth, a local amateur automobilist, smashed the world's record for the mile on a half mile track at Johnson's track here this afternoon at a meet for the announced purpose of breaking the world's records for one and five miles.

Harth drove a stock Buick 30 horse power machine, and the official time was 1:19½. The previous record being 1:20.

Cantrell, a professional driver, then attempted to smash Hart's new record, but 1:21 was the best he could do.

Harth failed to lower the five mile record of 6:40, making the distance in 6:47⅘.

Larned, Whitman, Ward, Little, and Other Players of National Repute in Englewood, N. J., Tournament.

Englewood, N. J., June 7.—A fair start was made today in the lawn tennis tournament held under the direction of the United States National Lawn Tennis association on the courts of the Englewood Field club.

The list of contestants includes W. A. Larned, national champion; R. D. Wrenn, M. D. Whitman, H. Ward, all ex-champions; and R. D. Little, H. H. Hackett, F. B. Alexander, and others, who have played on American international cup teams.

Larned in his first match drew S. C. Millett, the old middle states title holder, whom he defeated with ease. The Nestor of the American courts then engaged Bob Wrenn in a trial match in which he easily led. Larned was in rare form. It is the first time in many years he has appeared upon dirt courts.

R. D. Little scored a walkover against Harry Torrance Jr. Of the other winners Edwin P. Larned, former holder of the middle states and other titles, defeated A. Amend, 6–4, 6–2; C. C. Kelley defeated A. L. Lindley, 6–3, 6–3; Harry C. Martin, Crescent A. C., defeated G. M. Church of Princeton, interscholastic champion of 1908, 6–2, 6–2; C. F. Watson Jr., Orange, defeated Artemus Holmes, Knollwood, 7–5, 6–2; E. P. Fischer, ex-Metropolitan champion, defeated King Smith, former Harvard crack, 6–1, 8–6.

The tournament will be continued tomorrow.

New York Bowlers Hold Top Position in Championship Events—Changes Among Leaders.

New York, June 7.—A lively day's rolling on the Madison Square garden alleys, resulting in changes among the leaders in all three tournament events, ushered in the last week of the National Bowling congress. The New York experts tonight still held the top positions in the championship events.

In the individual competition today's high score was made by Charles Hendler of Buffalo with 664. In the two men team event Vanderbeck and Copeland, a Brooklyn team, took second place with 1,244, while Larkin and Morris of Baldwinsville, N. Y., won fourth place with 1,241.

In the competition for five men teams the Metropolitans of Baltimore tonight rolled a total of 2,863, and average of 191, which gives them second place with an average only two pins less than that of the leaders, the Corinthians of New York.

At the close of the day's bowling the leaders in the individual tournament contests were as follows: Edward Thompson, New York, 699; Charles Schaeder, Brooklyn, 676; Charles Buonomo, Rochester, 671.

YACHTSMEN PLAN A BIG TIME

FIREWORKS AT THE FINISH.

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

In spite of yesterday's bad weather, Columbia Yacht club members continued their preparations for Saturday's race to Michigan City. Activity prevailed at the shipyards, where some of the belated racers received the finishing touches to their hulls preparatory to being towed down the river, and at the clubhouse, where the work of fitting out was carried on.

Billposter, "Sport" Hermann's able twenty-one footer, after an absence of two seasons from the lake front, is again ready for the campaign. The boat is to be a leading contender for time prize honors in the big race [illegible] expected to make trouble for Spray, Columbia and the other boats of the class.

Raven III., owned by Secretary Charles Scates of the Lake Michigan Yachting association, has been brought over from Macatawa bay expressly for the Michigan City event. The crack little twenty-one foot raceabout, formerly the Long Island Sound champion, Lanai, made a fast run across the lake and is thoroughly tuned up for the contest. One of the features of the race most looked forward to by the yachtsmen will be the struggle between Raven III. and Invader, the new boat of the same class recently launched by Otto Schoenwerk Jr.

Ability of Raven Known.

The ability of Raven III is well known, but Invader practically is an unknown quantity, though it has shown enough in its preliminary spins and minor races to warrant a belief that it is speedy. Invader is about three feet longer on the waterline than any other boats of the class on Lake Michigan, but the excess length is allowed under the rules, which restrict the overall length only. The amount of canvas is the same.

Columbia, ex-Commodore McGuire's twenty-one foot cabin boat, is another boat that is about ready for the starting gun. The boat has been materially improved since the close of last season and considerable rivalry exists between admirers of the boat and those of Fred A. Price's Spray, which also has been made minutes faster by its new planking and other improvements. Considerable money already has been wagered upon the two boats.

Another pretty race should result in the thirty-five foot class—at least between Illinois and Seboomook. Secretary Frank Wever of the Columbia Yacht club brought back reports from Michigan City that augur well for the success of the affair.

At a meeting of the common council of Michigan City it was decided to issue a permit for the liberal use of fireworks, which will be a feature of the evening celebration. Other plans include a dance at Neimer's hall, to follow the presentation of prizes by the city officials. Down at South Bend arrangements are going forward for an excursion to be run by trolley to Michigan City on the day of the race.

Motor Boat Contest on Card.

The motor boat contest, which is to be run in conjunction with the race of the sailing yachts, promises to exceed the expectations of Chairman Osborne and his associates on the power boat committee who are promoting it. Thirty or more entries now appear to be assured and as a majority of the entrants will be new boats the rivalry is expected to be extraordinarily keen.

Down at the Jackson Park Yacht club preparations are being made to follow the race down the lake. The Columbia club will not admit outside organizations to the competition, but scores of yachts will go along for the fun of the thing. It is estimated that eighteen or twenty boats will go from Jackson park, while the Chicago Yacht club also will be well represented.

The Chicago club fleet continues to assemble. The latest arrival is Charles A. Burton's handsome auxiliary yawl Juanita, which arrived from winter quarters at Michigan City. Mr. Burton and a party of friends went to the Indiana port by train and sailed the yacht back in close to record time.

WEATHER CLEARS AT BERMUDA.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 7.—The storm of yesterday passed off this morning and the weather is now fair with a light breeze and a moderate swell. The pilot boat Guard will take up its position at daybreak tomorrow two miles off St. David's head as the mark boat at the finish line for the sailing yachts and power boats which left Gravesend bay Saturday afternoon and now are far along on the journey to Bermuda. Two representatives of the yachting committee will take the time of the finish from St. David's lighthouse.

RACING YACHT IS SIGHTED.

New York-to-Bermuda Water Speeder Is Seen 225 Miles Off Sandy Hook.

New York, June 7.—The steamer Bermudian, which arrived today from Bermuda, reported having sighted one of the New York-to-Bermuda racing yachts at 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning when about 225 miles south of Sandy Hook. The yacht was schooner rigged, running before the wind, but was too far distant for those on the steamer to make out its name. The weather was heavy at the time and all day Sunday.

Svanberg to Race Hayes.

Kansas City, Mo., June 7.—John Svanberg of Sweden, winner of the Chicago Marathon, and Johnny Hayes, the American runner, were matched today for a twenty miles race to be run here on Sunday, [illegible] 13, at the Kansas City Athletic club park.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS

BY HEK.

IF YOU DON'T HEAR, IT DOESN'T HURT.

[It is Ranier, in Minnesota, where President Comiskey has gone to fish during the eastern journey of his baseball team than it was in Philadelphia last week. This may look like pulling something in by the foretop, but this which appends needs some sort of prologue and that may serve as well as any.]

There rises in his thorax nary lump,
As he fares forth the finny tribe to tease.

And trees primeval rear their lofty heads,
And the disturbing choo choos never pass
He loafs serenely, proof to fears and dreads.

He does not hear the ticker as it ticks—
The telegraph, the telephone, and mail
Can't play upon his nerves disturbing tricks—
The faithful bugs may worry o'er the tale.

He does not hear, nor does he care to hear,
Of blunders, bungles, bingles, bunts, and boots;
He heaves no sigh nor sheds the bitter tear,
So far removed is he from howls and hoots.

O, blest oblivion, foe to carking care,
Fond compensation for our idle wish!
O, would that we could take ourselves somewhere
And saw off all our troubles on the fish!

We had it the other day that Mr. Kling was coming back, under favorable circumstances to one side and the other. Now we have it that he is not coming back under any circumstances whatever. We generally give the real baseball news two days the start of us, but we are beginning to think that we would be just as right about it if we took a chance and guessed at it four days in advance. During our desultory connection with it we have had occasion to skin back more official reports than we have had to qualify the random thoughts of an idle guesser. In other words, we have got into fewer jack pots by stringing with the official report than we have by depending upon our own analysis.

We never saw a game in which the shorter and uglier word, the fighting word, the first blow word was bandied about with so much freedom.

We are beginning to believe that that gamesome expletive, "You're a liar," has lost its virile significance.

Lest this from the Rev. Jenkyn Lloyd Jones has been wasted on the desert air of general news, we reproduce it here:

"When will we have as good laws, as wisely executed, for the prevention and suppression of disease in human society as now are found on our statute books concerning the denizens of the barn? Our colleges have much to learn from the men of the racetrack. Let us rejoice in the achievements revealed at the horse fair, for perhaps the turn of the human will come after awhile and the devout purposes will move the public spirit of progressive citizens with an enthusiasm to improve the human stock so that we may have men and women who will grace and not disgrace the splendid lords and ladies of the paddock matching noble horses with nobler men and women."

Dear Hek: Referring to a recent morsel of yours, let us have coursing by all means. The solution is easy. An India rubber rabbit on a trolley is the thing. Spike it to prevent chewing up. Rig up automatic shifting clutch and abolish the speed law. By all means let's have coursing. It will beat the anise seed bag by four miles. F.

Thank you kindly. We feel encouraged.

Jimmy Barry, the ex-champion bantamweight of the world, who is now 38 years old, but just as spare of build as he ever was, would like to take on some of the little 'uns for a foreshortened number of rounds. And he looks as if he could do it, seeing that the game has simplified itself since he was at it. Jimmy does not look worse than Jeffries does.

Inside of a month horseracing about New York will be back where it was before Mr. Hughes erupted. The only difference will be that the promoters shall not have to pay so much to maintain it. Already it has reached that stage where it is pretty hard to decipher the difference.

We would like to ask somebody that if there is nothing doing in Chicago, why all this joyous homecoming?

LAKE FOREST IN STAGG'S BIG MEET

Entry of North Shore Academy May Upset Plans of Other Contenders.

81 SCHOOLS NOW LISTED.

Midway Students Will Devote Three Days to Entertaining "Prep" Visitors.

Dope on the University of Chicago interscholastic scheduled for Saturday on Marshall field took a different turn when Coach Stagg announced the entry of Lake Forest, the team that captured the meet last year. University High, however, is still a ruling favorite.

Other entries turned in to Stagg were Wendell Phillips, West Division of Des Moines, Ia., Armour, and Pittsburg, Kas. In all eighty-one schools will compete. This is already more than entered last year, and there is still one day for the names to be received. Stagg expects to hear from two institutions in Oklahoma today.

The full program of the events to be held was made public by Coach Stagg yesterday. The competition and entertainment plans occupy three days. Thursday will be taken up with the tennis tournament, Friday with the finals in tennis, a trip to White City, and Saturday with the meet, an auto ride about the city, and a vaudeville and dance at night. "C" blankets will also be awarded the winners of Maroon emblems.

ALL quiet in Springfield.

IT is a rare June day when there are two sudden changes.

WORK on our new city hall building is progressing finely.

NOW THAT the gunboat Nashville is to roam the lakes the City of Traverse will have to behave itself.

WHERE, pray, should the statue of the late Matthew Stanley Quay be set up if not in the rotunda of that capitol in Harrisburg? Could anything be more appropriate?

THE SMOKE NUISANCE.

THE TRIBUNE asked, the other day, if the women who organized last year to make war on the Illinois Central smoke nuisance had given up the fight. It is delighted to learn that they have not. This morning a delegation representing them will have a heart to heart talk with the mayor as to what can be done for their relief now that the general assembly has declined to empower the city to force electrification on the railroad.

There is one thing the municipal government can do for the women, and it is likely that they will ask for it. That is for the smoke department to concentrate its attention upon the smoking locomotives of the Illinois Central. If it were to do that either there would be less smoke, because the firemen would be more careful, or the road would be paying heavy fines on account of persistent violations of the ordinance. In one case the women would have the comfort of knowing that there was less smoke. In the other they would have the satisfaction of knowing that their enemy was being put to considerable expense. If the mayor shall consent to turn the smoke department loose on the erring railroad the women can, if they choose, be of much assistance to the department. They can devote a little time to detective work—to watching the locomotives. Then they will be valuable witnesses when the road is prosecuted.

If the road will not electrify it will have to be prosecuted. It will save itself money and trouble by being decent about the matter. It is said the Illinois Central would be willing to electrify its terminals if the city would bear half the expense. There is no doubt of it. But the city cannot spend money for such a purpose. If it had the authority it would not do for the road what the road ought to do for itself and is able to do for itself. All that is needed is for Mr. Harriman to give the word. He can stop the smoke nuisance as far as the Illinois Central is concerned. As he will not do it, Mayor Busse should hearken to the women and let slip his dogs of war—the smoke department officials.

NEW ENGLAND COTTON MILLS.

New England has the senatorial votes with which to increase many of the duties in the cotton schedule, and it is determined to use its power. The middle west is expected to protest and then submit. Representative cotton manufacturers went before the ways and means committee last winter and said they would not ask for higher duties. They said they looked on the importations under the Dingley law as "reasonably regulative" of the cotton trade. Those were comforting statements, but they meant nothing. The duties are being advanced, and New England senators say the manufacturers need the additional protection.

Yet it appears from data submitted by Senator Lodge to support his contention that more protection is needed that the average dividends of the Fall River and New Bedford mills for the last ten years were 8.22 per cent. That does not spell ruin. But Senator Gore of Oklahoma gave much information which Senator Lodge failed to supply. He told of one New Bedford mill which paid 66 per cent in 1907 and the same in 1908, and of another which has paid an average of 21 per cent for the last nine years. The Lowell mills paid only 8 per cent in dividends in 1907, but the net earnings were 41 per cent, 33 per cent being carried to surplus. Fall River mills which paid respectively dividends of 11, 23, and 32 per cent also carried large sums to surplus. Of the earnings which were not paid out in dividends Senator Lodge took no note.

The New England cotton industry which the consumers of the country support is doing remarkably well. It needs no favors. Profits are enormous in spite of the southern competition in cheaper grades of goods. A few years ago the New England millmen were afraid that competition would ruin them. Now, through Senator Aldrich they are calling on senators representing the southern cotton spinners to help in raising duties.

Seemingly congress is resolved to do nothing for the consumers as far as cottons and woolens are concerned, though it is there they need relief the most. New England selfishness denies relief. But there is some encouragement for consumers in Secretary MacVeagh's remarks at the Commercial club banquet. "The president," said he, "seems to be of good cheer as to this tariff question. Of course it is easier to be complacent when you know you have the last word, and that the last word is a combination of language and big stick."

Does "big stick" mean a veto if the tariff bill shall not come up to the just expectations of president and people?

THE STRAP HANGER'S FUTURE.

The strap hanger is here to stay. There are 137,000 people who stand every day after they have paid for a seat. On a yearly basis the number is 40,000,000 or thereabouts. Rehabilitation, newer and larger cars, faster schedules, and all sorts of improvements are not helping conditions materially. If transportation facilities available now were increased 100 per cent, people would still have to use the straps during rush hours. In the meantime, the city is growing steadily. In 1908 550,000,000 fares were collected. In 1940 it is estimated that there will be 2,210,000,000.

Without any estimating for the future, the present situation in transportation shows the imperative need of additional facilities. The subway must be built. When it is completed it must be on a large scale. Even if it carries millions, the surface and elevated lines will be crowded to capacity. The notable growth of cities which marks the present age is bringing with it a problem of transportation which will require a lot of sane and well matured thought for its solution, if, indeed, it can be solved at all.

As long as any considerable number of people have to stand up and hang to straps there will be just ground for complaint. The figures given would be more valuable if the area of congestion were indicated. To be compelled to stand until Twelfth street is reached might be endured occasionally where a daily requirement of strap hanging as far as Thirty-first or Thirty-ninth would be intolerable. The Illinois Central strap hanger, standing up and swaying with the car's motion, usually finds a seat after Fifty-third street is reached. He pays 10 cents for this accommodation. But he complains less because he is carried home in somewhat quicker time than by other routes and does not have to stand up more than fifteen minutes. Whatever the distance or time, the theory is that the patron pays for a seat. When he does not get it he has a right to be discontented, particularly if it happens day after day.

The subway must come. It ought to come on the installment plan. It will be a long time before the city can afford the completed underground system with its many ramifications and its equipment perfected. But it is possible to build section by section according to definite plan. Each part thus constructed will do something toward the relief of congestion. Every month of delay only makes the problem of transportation more pressing and more perplexing. Nothing is gained by waiting. Even by going ahead vigorously the city will find itself waging an uphill fight against great odds. The sooner something is started the better.

THE NEGRO IN TRADE.

There are forty-six banks in the south the presidents, cashiers, and directors of which are all negroes. So Booker T. Washington stated in an address before the Negro Business league of New York on Sunday. There were nearly a thousand people who heard this leader of the race declare that the real solution of the race problem lies not in politics, not in religion, not in higher education, but in business.

The Tuskegee optimist believes that there is large opportunity for his people in the domain of trade. He notes how the north and the south are forgetting past political differences as commercial interest is binding them together. He sees in that fact a suggestion for the negro. The eggs brought to market by the negro farmer bring just as good a price as those carried by the white man. The negro who takes his savings to the bank is as cordially welcomed as the white depositor. The next thing comes naturally. The negro must save his money. He must learn its value. He must get a lesson from some of the foreign born laborers who are economical to the point of pinching and starvation but who are all the time lifting themselves up in the social scale.

The place of opportunity for the negro is in the south. Washington loses no chance to say this. He believes that the south needs the industrious colored man who has something to give in response to the constant demand. The farmers, the carpenters, the masons, and the artisans of various kinds who are being trained at Tuskegee and similar schools are proving their worth. Statistics show that. The southern people are beginning to recognize their value. More and more their leaders are coming to appreciate that industrial education is doing great things for the south. If the acceptance of this idea were more general in the south the solution of the race problem would be nearer.

The higher education of the negro is apt to follow success and saving. The astonishing statistics recently published about Atlanta university students tell their own story. Thirty years ago one-third of the students were supported by their home folks. Twenty years ago the percentage was 42.3 Ten years ago it was 51.4. Now it is 68.8. In the three decades the Georgia negroes have multiplied their assessable property nearly five times. Prosperous and successful, they are seeking better education for their children. The figures relate to one school only. But they are significant. The first thing is to get the people to work and save. Education will follow naturally.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Hardened.

"Doesn't it seem strange that Mr. Roosevelt suffers from none of the pestilential influences that surround him in equatorial Africa?"

"Not at all. For seven or eight years before he went there he was thrown into almost constant association with politicians, and his system became immune."

Friendship's Tribute.

Nan—"I haven't much of a singing voice, you know, but I have it under excellent control."

Fan—"Yes; that's what I like about you, dear. You seldom let it escape you."

Useful Knowledge.

Tommy—"Paw, I've heard you talk about Easy street. Where is it?"

"Mr. Tucker—"It's at the farther end of a long, rough, and hilly thoroughfare, called Hard Work street, my boy."

Stumped.

"Why, Puss, you people here don't know anything about fruit. Out in Oregon we raise apples as big as your head."

"Do you raise peaches as big as I am, Uncle Phil?"

Her Strong Point.

The near sighted dame was attending a play in which the part of the buxom domestic was taken by a stout young man.

"Well," she said, "that girl isn't much to look at in the face, but she's got magnificent arms."

How He Did It.

"Well, I joined a church, two temperance societies, and an anti-treating club, and told my wife I'd sworn off. I did all that, and then——"

"Yes, what did you do then?"

"I thought that after going as far as that it was up to me to make good and so I just quit."

Suspicious Circumstance.

"What gives rise to that?"

"Why, he's so mean and cross around home that they think he must be pleasant and agreeable somewhere."

Leads Them All.

Shaggy Haired Pupil—"Pat. Pending, I guess. I see his name on more inventions than I do any other man's." C. W. T.

Biggest Barometer in the World.

[Dundee Advertiser.]

The little town of Faenza, in the north of Italy—whence comes that delicate pottery known as "faience"—was the birthplace of Torricelli, the inventor of the barometer, and its citizens recently celebrated the tercentenary of that famous mathematician's birth. Arising out of the celebrations, Father Alfani, a local priest, conceived the idea of erecting a unique permanent memorial to Torricelli, and Faenza now possesses the biggest barometer in existence. Torricelli was a pupil of Galileo, and it was the latter's perplexity as to the reason why a column of water in a closed tube never rose above thirty-three feet which induced his pupil to attempt a solution of the problem, with the result that he proved not only that the water was sustained at that height by atmospheric pressure but that a similarly suspended column of mercury was shorter than the column of water in exact proportion to its greater specific gravity.

Another Sign of Prosperity.

The Birmingham button trade is doing extremely well, and that, of course, is an indication of national prosperity. The fatter we get the more our buttons fly off, and the more need we have of others to replace them.—London Evening News.

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

THERE are many people on both sides of the Atlantic who will breathe more freely when they learn of the death at Madrid of Charles Hoffman, sometimes known as the "Chevalier de Hoffman" and sometimes, too, as the "Baron Courtier de Penmarch," one of the most celebrated of international adventurers, who managed to include among his victims such extremely wide awake people as King Edward, the late King Oscar, King Leopold of Belgium, Emperor Napoleon III., the king of Roumania, the duc de Morny, and last, but not least, the great chancellor of the German empire, Prince Bismarck.

At one time he managed to ingratiate himself to such an extent with the United States legation in Berne—it was in 1892—that under the false pretense of having served in the union army during the civil war he was actually able to induce the American envoy to give him an official connection with the mission as acting military attaché thereof. It was in that capacity, and arrayed in a United States cavalry uniform, that he attended the annual maneuvers of the Swiss army in 1892, the chief of the federal war department treating the pseudo Baron Courtier with exceptional distinction, having himself commanded a regiment on the union side during the great conflict between the north and south in this country.

Courtier's association with the United States legation, as well as the extraordinary consideration with which he was treated by the Swiss military authorities, led to his being received with open arms by the Austrian and Russian embassies at Berne, and it was only when his attempt to get hold of some confidential plans of the mountain defenses, which he wished to obtain for the purpose of ingratiating himself at Rome, led to his arrest under suspicion of being a military spy that the official and diplomatic world at Berne discovered too late that they had been lavishing hospitality and kindnesses of every nature upon one of the most celebrated swindlers and ex-convicts of the old world.

Hoffman was the son of a respectable glassware dealer at Prague. Born in 1838, he was convicted at the age of 16 of forgery, but escaped with a light sentence by reason of his youth. After drifting about the continent, earning his living as a hotel waiter, as a member of the metropolitan police in London, and of the detective force there, in Scotland Yard, he was dismissed in disgrace for dishonesty. At that time his father died, leaving him a small sum of money.

Representing himself as an officer of one of the crack regiments of the English army, he managed to secure at Carlsbad the hand of the daughter of a rich Russian manufacturer of the name of Rossler, whom he quickly robbed, and within a few months he had managed to squander in extravagant living at Warsaw every penny piece that he possessed, thereupon abandoning his wife. Proceeding to Paris, he soon acquired the confidence and the intimacy of the late Baron Haussmann, prefect of the Seine, and through him of the late duc de Morny. He was invited not only to the state balls at the Tuileries but also to the more private parties of Empress Eugénie at St. Cloud, Compiegne, and Fontainebleau.

While at Paris he managed to become acquainted with an American woman, widow of a New England inventor of a patent anchor, who had died at Carlsbad in 1866. By some means or other Hoffman induced the widow to surrender to him all her rights to the patent, and then proceeded to negotiate them with the various European governments, furnished with letters of introduction from Prince Jerome Napoleon, nicknamed "Plon-Plon." He proceeded to Stockholm, interviewing the late King Charles, and not only succeeded in his endeavors but also was created by that monarch a knight of the Order of St. Olaf. To this day, I believe, the Swedish government has his anchor in use.

After the death of his friend, the late duc de Morny, he got into some sort of trouble with the French police, which rendered his speedy departure from Paris advisable. He next turned up at Berlin, where he found means of getting into contact not only with the great railroad king, Strousberg, and through him with the duke of Ratibor, but also becoming quite intimate with Herbert Bismarck, who introduced him to his father, the great chancellor, and on several occasions he figured among the guests of the latter in the palace of the Wilhelmstrasse.

Suddenly, in the zenith of his career at Berlin, his apartments in the palace of Count (now Prince) Henckel von Donnersmarck were invaded at night by the police, all his papers and correspondence were confiscated, and on the following morning he was conducted to the Belgian frontier under the escort of three detectives in plain clothes. No explanation was vouchsafed. But from the peculiar Bismarckian method of dealing with his case it was manifest that the old chancellor had become acquainted with the antecedents and identity of his son's crony.

Several years he spent in the United States before turning up in London, where he described himself as the nephew of Baron de Hoffman, who at that time held the post of minister of finance of the Austro-Hungarian empire. It was on account of a belief—entertained even by the then prince of Wales—in this altogether mythical relationship that he was made an honorary member of some of the best London clubs, where the liberality and sang froid with which he lost large sums at cards soon won for him a host of friends of the highest rank, friends who not only invited him to their town houses and country seats but who even went so far as to furnish him with letters of introduction and warm recommendation to British diplomatic representatives abroad. He turned these to good use. They enabled him to start a new and profitable career on the continent.

At Madrid the late King Alfonso found so much pleasure and entertainment in Hoffman's company that he conferred upon him the chevalier's cross of the Order of Isabel the Catholic. At Rome he secured the cross of the Order of the Crown, while at Brussels he became acquainted with Crown Prince Rudolph, who was visiting at the Belgian capital at that time in connection with his pending marriage to Princess Stephanie. Foreseeing the advantages of an intimacy with the Austrian heir apparent, Hoffman announced his intention of presenting the archduke with a magnificent steam yacht as a wedding present. The plans of the vessel were duly submitted to the crown prince and approved by him and the yacht was being built at Trieste—nay, was almost completed, for Hoffman was already in correspondence with the archduke's chamberlain respecting the date on which Princess Stephanie was to christen it—when suddenly the intended donor was arrested at the Hotel Zum Goldenen Lamm, in the Leopoldstadt, at Vienna, on charges of forgery and fraud of the most extensive description.

A few days later, on June 26, 1882, Hoffman was sentenced by the Viennese courts to a long term of penal servitude for a series of swindles unparalleled since the days of Robert Macaire. On his liberation he turned up first at Bucharest, where he managed to swindle King Charles of Roumania out of a sum of $10,000, and then made his way to Berne, where, as related before, he flourished for a time as military attaché of the United States legation. His exposure was followed by another term of imprisonment, this time in a Swiss penitentiary, and thereupon he cropped up in London, somewhere about the time of the American war with Spain, as interested in an Anglo-American-Chinese trading corporation.

This again landed him in the clutches of the police in connection with charges of forgery and of fraud, one of the witnesses in the case being a soi-disant Polish count, Marshal de Moro, who under cross examination admitted that his real name was Philipps, that he was an American, that he hailed from Philadelphia, where his father had been a manufacturing chemist, and that he had merely assumed the title and name "Count Marshal de Moro" because he "thought it would be better for business purposes." The baron underwent another term of penal servitude in England, and thereupon seems to have retired to Madrid, where, in happy possession of his Order of Isabel the Catholic, he died the other day at the age of 71 in the odor of sanctity, leaving as the result of his life of fraud and crime a fortune of $30,000, which he bequeathed by will to a nobleman of sonorous name and title residing at Pressburg. Investigation brought to light the fact that there was no such person in existence as the legatee, and further inquiry finally revealed that the testator was no other than the celebrated swindler, Charles Hoffman.

CONTRACT PRACTICE FOR POOR SOLVES PROBLEM IN MEDICINE

Doctors Advocate Plan for Wage Earners, as It Removes All Fear of Bills—Health Clubs Suggested.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 7.—Eminent physicians advocated "contract practice" by physicians before the American Academy of Medicine at its closing meeting this afternoon as a solution for the problem of securing proper medical attention for the wage earners at small cost.

The plan presented favors small monthly payments by the clients of the contract physician, who is expected to attend them in case of illness without extra charge.

Dr. L. Benedict of Buffalo claimed that under the present system the poor, unable to pay doctors' bills, often delay calling a physician until the disease is beyond easy cure. He claimed that the contract physician plan also would secure the doctor against loss by unpaid bills and guarantee the young physician a living income.

Dr. Woods Hutchinson of New York was another advocate of the plan, which was discussed by Dr. Charles J. Sheedon, who called contract practice "insurance against doctors' bills."

Dr. H. L. Partes of Eatontown, N. J., favored "health clubs" for weekly study of hygiene and sanitation.

In an address before the American Society for the Study of Alcohol and Narcotics Dr. C. J. Douglas of Dorchester, Mass., declared in favor of the somnolent method of curing the morphine habit, which, he insisted, is becoming a worldwide menace. Dr. Douglas advocated the giving of harmless sedative drugs until the morphine victim has lost the craving and effects of the drug.

Delegates to the meeting of the American Medical Editors' association advocated the dissemination of the truths of medical science among the people in terms easily understandable as means of fighting disease.

REMOVES CIVIL SERVICE MEN.

New Mayor of Springfield Seeks to Provide Places for His Political Friends.

Springfield, Ill., June 7.—[Special.]—John Schnepp, the new Democratic mayor of Springfield, today removed from office Civil Service Commissioners James Reilly and Eugene Fayart, Republicans. His action is the result of a disagreement over the removal of firemen and policemen who were under protection of civil service regulations.

The mayor accused the commissioners of attempting to retain in the departments men of immoral character. The commissioners denied this, and challenged the mayor to give the names of such employés. Their removal followed. The commissioners will appeal to the courts, as will the employés the mayor has undertaken to supplant with men who aided in his election.

Eleven positions are now filled by two men each, one a civil service appointee and the other an appointee of the mayor.

MAY CUSS IF HOME NINE LOSES.

Swearing Is Justifiable When Savannah Team Is Slipping, Rules City Official.

Savannah, Ga., June 7.—[Special.]—"Swearing when the Savannah baseball team is losing is entirely justifiable," said Recorder Schwarz today in dismissing John Brown, a business man, arrested at the ball park for cursing where women could hear him.

Brown when arrested admitted that he had indulged in some profanity, but he said he couldn't help it, as Savannah was behind and still slipping, and it made him so sore he had to express himself.

"As a rule," said Recorder Schwarz, "I don't approve of swearing, but it is permissible when the home team is losing. Neither Brown nor any other man would be a good American if he could sit quiet and see the home team lose."

KEEGAN'S PAL.

A Melodrama in Four Acts.

BY

PAUL WILSTACH.

Presented at the Chicago Opera House, Chicago, by Emmett Corrigan and His Company, June 7, 1909. The Cast:

Peter Raeburn	Emmett Corrigan
Martha Raeburn	Ruby Bridges
Dick Raeburn	Franklin Jones
Harrison North	John Stokes
Mrs. Eastman	Maude Turner Gordon
Alice Eastman	Maud Burns
Joe Keegan	Ogden Crane
Simons	Bertram Marburgh
Miss Ryan	Eleanor Lawson
Mary	Sue Seymour

A new play had its première at the Chicago Opera house last evening, and seems destined to prove a popular success. It is called "Keegan's Pal," and is the creation of Paul Wilstach, who for many years was known in theatrical circles as the trusted representative and publicity promoter of the late Richard Mansfield. Mr. Wilstach now comes forward with a four act drama, and from the favor with which his work was received last evening it would seem that he is likely to become one of the playwrights who will contribute to the stage something of value—of theatric value if nothing more.

"Keegan's Pal" is a play that acts well, and to accomplish this in writing for the stage is to accomplish much. It means to have a clear appreciation of what is dramatically effective, and a sense for movement rather than mere words on the stage. There are certain scenes in Mr. Wilstach's creation which come close to the melodramatic, and only the skill of the players in moderating these places prevents them from impressing as extravagant. But the melodramatic is far from the worst quality that can be in a play, and Mr. Wilstach has succeeded in fashioning a story which held the audience keenly interested and made the onlookers feel and be moved.

Taking a prominent lawyer in New York as the central figure, a crime committed by the man when a youth comes to light after twenty-two years of concealment, and threatens not only the dishonoring of the lawyer himself, but the ruination of all the happiness that has been built up by him in a beautiful home during this score of years of earnest and upright endeavor. Some famed jewels have been stolen, and it is found that the thief is none other than the pal of the lawyer in the former crime.

After that crime the pal was caught and made to serve twenty-two years in the penitentiary. He is released and crowns a subsequent succession of clever robberies by the taking of the famed jewels. The junior clerk in the lawyer's firm gets trace of the thief and later the lawyer himself has to undertake the hunting down of the pal, whose twenty-two years of silence have made possible his own climb to honor and eminence. The working out of the complications that arise from the meeting of these pals forms the dramatic action of Mr. Wilstach's play.

He has shaped the material deftly, telling the story easily and fluently, keeping interest sustained and obtaining a climax effectively. Some of the character drawing is indistinct at times, but the average playgoer and amusement seeker will find the piece well to his liking and the evening devoted to witnessing it enjoyably and entertainingly spent.

The performance was a praise meriting one. Mr. Corrigan, who has been elevated to stellar rank by the present production, has the rôle of the lawyer and plays it with the fine technical surety and finish, the admirable emotional poise, and the clear intellectual insight which have characterized all that he has done in the past and which raise him above the average of leading men and stars of the present day. He is a player who thinks, and in this new drama his thinking has resulted in a portrayal clean cut, rich in light and shade, nicely balanced in sentiment, and so plainly individualized and detailed that the auditor leaves the theater feeling that the lawyer himself has been watched. Especially admirable is the frequent suggestion of the judicial attitude in the man—the lawyer who is accustomed to investigate, obtain, select, and weigh is often present with compelling clarity and naturalness. It is acting of real worth and the audience was only just in the liberality of its approval.

Mr. Crane as Joe Keegan, the thief who was the lawyer's pal, also does excellent work and shared honors with Mr. Corrigan. He makes plain the dominating, forceful will of the man, the quick suspicious nature resultant from years of imprisonment, the keen wit, and the slightly twisted standards and outlook which belong to the character. The scene of the meeting of the two men in the second act easily could lead to ranting on Keegan's part, but the actor successfully avoids the excess that is close at hand and by his moderation makes the scene powerful and tense.

Mr. Stokes is the junior partner, who really discovers the identity of the thief and by a sharp, brisk method and a manly, likable personality, causes the part to become an attractive and effective one. Mr. Jones has the role of a son who, humored and spoiled by too much wealth, drifts into debt and is threatened with ruin—the father's early tendencies again made manifest in him. The third act is the difficult and exacting one for the actor assuming the part, and it is to Mr. Jones' credit that he was able to carry off the somewhat hysterical scene of the confession without ranting or becoming mawkish.

Miss Bridges as the daughter beloved by the lawyer, is winsome, girlish, and attractive; Miss Lawson does a pert stenographer effectively; Mr. Marburgh makes a clean cut character sketch of a money lender, and Miss Gordon, Miss Burns, and Miss Seymour round out a cast of general worth.

The production is a tasteful one, and the stage management excellent. After the third act the customary demands for speech were made and were responded to by Mr. Corrigan and Mr. Wilstach.

'L' MERGER 'SLOW, BUT SURE'

Ira M. Cobe Says Unification Plans Progress Nicely.

STARRING FORESEES SUCCESS

Indicates That Roads' Officials Approve Promoters' Ideas.

A report to the effect that the proposed consolidation of Chicago's elevated railroads had failed and that the south side and west side roads would refuse to consider any further proposition from the promoters was denied yesterday by Ira M. Cobe and others connected with the merger plans.

Mr. Cobe, who is president of the Assets Realization company and the originator of the consolidation idea, said there was absolutely no truth in the report and that the prospects for the merger of the roads were looking brighter every day.

Thinks It Slow but Sure.

"We intend to hold a meeting some day this week," said he, "and additional plans will be submitted to the directors of the different roads. We have yet to find any of the elevated officials who are unfriendly to the consolidation plans. Of course, we are necessarily slow in perfecting the merger. It is a big proposition. But there is absolutely no truth in the story the plans have failed.

"Our greatest trouble so far has been in discovering some way by which we could satisfy both the preferred and common stockholders of the Metropolitan lines. Our attorneys, however, are working out a plan that undoubtedly will be satisfactory to all."

Starring Indorses Plans.

Mason B. Starring, president of the Northwestern Elevated road, said the officials of the different roads were in hearty accord with every plan submitted so far by the promoters of the merger.

"The consolidation of the elevated roads will be the best thing that can be done for stockholders of the lines and for the people of Chicago," said he. "The money that now is being spent in the individual operation of the roads could be placed in needed improvements.

"The stockholders also would receive prompt payment in annual rentals and everything would be far superior to the present system."

Several elevated railway men have been mentioned for the presidency of the united roads, but it is said Mr. Starring is preferred for this office by the officials of the different lines.

PROPER SPIRIT A REQUISITE FOR WELL DRESSED WOMAN.

Miss Glenna Lynch Lectures to Modistes — She Says to Consider Your Lines First.

A roomful of excited dressmakers and near exponents of the art listened yesterday to a lecture by Miss Glenna Lynch of the Artcraft institute, in which she said:

"Unless the wearer of the clothes is in the proper spirit it is impossible to dress her correctly, no matter what materials, patterns, and inspiration you may have yourself. A woman must feel well dressed and take a pride in her clothes before she really is dressed well in the full sense.

"The first thing to consider in dressmaking, of course, is your lines. There are some women today, you know, who look as if they hadn't any neck at all. That is because they wear their hats too big, so that they come clear down to the shoulders and obscure all lines of the neck.

"You should study anatomy from the standpoint of art—not, of course the anatomy of the nerves and the blood vessels but of the bones and the muscles, of how and where they join. Sleeves, for instance, should be suspended from the shoulder proper and not from the spot where the shoulder seam happens to come.

"As for the tube effects with modified curves, if a woman is tall and extremely slender she can wear them, providing the shoulder is broadened by plaits, ruffles, or shoulder folds. If she is tall and is well developed she can wear them superbly without modifying her figure. If she is short waisted the line in the back should extend down farther. If she is short and fat her figure is hopeless for the tube dress."

JUDGE TELLS LAW GRADUATES THEY MUST RUN NERVY BLUFF.

McEwen Advises New Attorneys Not to Be Too Polite in Court and Reach Out for What's in Sight.

"You must run many a cold, nervy bluff and cannot afford to be numbered in the down and out class.

"You cannot afford to be too much of a gentleman to the opposing counsel nor too deferential in a courtroom."

This was the advice of Judge McEwen to the thirty-eight graduates of the Chicago Law school at a banquet in the Congress hotel last night.

"The lawyer occupies a vested position probably higher than in any other profession," said the judge, "and should first of all look out for number one.

"You cannot play the part of the country church mouse, but must reach out for what's in sight.

"When you give the impression that you are giving way to either court or counsel on the opposite side, you lose the faith of the jury. I sometimes think a lawyer should be 50 per cent better than the court."

Chancellor J. J. Tobias, Frank R. Teed, Rae M. Royce, Roy A. Juul, Ransom E. Walker, William H. Canavan, and M. J. Moriarty also addressed the class.

MRS. R. T. CRANE IS HOSTESS.

Miss Dorothy Fuller Guest of Honor at Bridal Luncheon.

The marriage of Miss Esther Ellen Simpson, daughter of B. S. Simpson, 1545 Sheridan road, and Frederick Bode, which is to take place at noon today at the residence of Mr. Simpson, marks the second nuptial event in the Bode family within three days. On Saturday Mr. Bode's daughter, Miss Ida Frances, became the bride of Edwin Frank Weary at one of the largest south side services of the month. The wedding of the father following so closely that of the daughter repeats the sequence of the engagements, which also were announced within a few weeks, that of the daughter preceding that of the father.

The wedding of Miss Simpson and Mr. Bode, which is to be a quiet home celebration, brings to prominence another of the business romances which have become almost as numerous of late as those of purely social origin. Mr. Bode is president of the Gage Brothers' Millinery company and for some years Miss Simpson held the position of "madam" with this company, as the manager of the French section of a wholesale millinery house is known in the business parlance. She has continued the management of the department until within recent months and has been considered one of the first business women of the city.

There will be no attendants at the wedding of today, at which Dr. Hugh Kerr, pastor of the Fullerton Avenue Presbyterian church, will officiate. The bride will wear a traveling dress of wistaria poplin and it is the intention of the bridal couple to leave immediately after the service for the east. Mr. and Mrs. Weary left for New York on Saturday and will not be here for the wedding, as they have taken passage for Europe on June 10. Mr. and Mrs. Bode also will go to Europe for the summer, but it is not decided whether the two bridal couples will take the same honeymoon route.

Mrs. Charles S. Deneen will be guest of honor on Saturday at a luncheon to be given by her sister-in-law, Miss Florence Deneen, at the Woman's Athletic club.

JURY ACQUITS MISS IRWIN OF BLAME IN AUTO TRAGEDY.

Testimony at Inquest Shows Mrs. Myrick Ran Back from Curbstone in Front of Automobile.

Miss Elizabeth C. Irwin, whose automobile fatally injured Mrs. Elizabeth Myrick at North Clark street and North avenue on Sunday, was exonerated yesterday by a coroner's jury in the Augustana hospital. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

Hugh R. Ritchie, brother-in-law of Miss Irwin, corroborated her testimony. She said she was driving north in North Clark street, and that Ritchie was sitting beside her.

Mrs. Myrick was taking Frieda Mehrings, 8 year old daughter of her employer at 5818 Wentworth avenue, to Lincoln park for an outing, and the two had alighted from a north bound North Clark street car.

"I stopped about twenty-five feet from the rear platform," said Miss Irwin. "When the woman and the girl walked to the curbstone I started my machine. Mrs. Myrick suddenly rushed back in front of my machine. I should say she believed she had left the girl in the street. The child was on the grass."

FORESTER DECLARES POPLAR UNDESIRABLE TREE FOR CITY.

Prost Asserts Fast Growing Soft Woods in Long Stretches Menace Plans to Beautify Streets.

The Carolina poplar tree, which is being planted by thousands in Chicago and its suburbs because of its rapid growth is an "undesirable citizen" in the tree family according to City Forester Prost. He is planning to issue a bulletin in which the merits of the slower growing hard wood trees will be contrasted with the popular poplar.

"The prevalent idea that the Carolina poplar is about the only tree that will grow well in Chicago is a fallacy," said Mr. Prost yesterday. "Like all soft wood trees, it is short lived. It should not monopolize the residence districts.

"There are great stretches of poplars in Chicago and they constitute a menace to the tree population. In Holden park, hundreds are being killed by a fungus disease, and about Belmont avenue and Paulina street many more are being killed out by a scale insect.

"We need not resort to the soft wood trees such as the poplar, cottonwood soft maple, willow and box elder. In most sections the elm, hard maple, American sycamore and Linden, honey locust, horse chestnut, catalpa and ilanythus will grow equally well with the poplar. It would be a move in the direction of the 'city beautiful' if we could have a different variety of tree planted on neighboring streets. This would decrease the tree pests which never thrive so well as when there is an extended section of one variety."

YACHT ASHORE NEAR WAUKEGAN

Six Milwaukee men sailing the yawl rigged yacht Argo, which they had just bought in Chicago, ran the craft ashore early yesterday morning just off the point north of Waukegan. For a time the crew and yacht appeared to be in great danger, as indications were that a heavy sea was coming up. A dense fog hung over the lake.

Finally, the crew made their way ashore in the yacht's yawl. They sent a tug to pull the yacht into deep water. The sailors refused to give their names.

The Argo is an old boat, and was not connected with any of the local yacht club fleets last year. It was laid up for the winter at Weckler's yard in the north branch of the river, and was being taken to Milwaukee by its new owners.

BIG TIGER COMES TO THE ZOO.

Captive from Ceylon Arrives in City by Express in Strong Iron Cage.

A huge tiger for the Lincoln park zoo arrived in Chicago from New York yesterday. It was shipped by express in a steel cage and attracted much attention at the La Salle street station before being taken to the park. The tiger was captured on the island of Ceylon, and was purchased from Carl Hagenbeck, wild animal dealer of Germany.

ALUMNI MOVE TO GET VOICE IN CONTROL OF UNIVERSITY.

Chicago alumni of the University of Illinois, headed by Attorney Rudolph E. Schreiber, have started an aggressive propaganda for the creation of an alumni advisory board to assist in the control of the university. A pamphlet descriptive of the plan has been sent to every alumnus.

The pamphlet points out the advantages to be expected from the creation of such a board, the evils to be remedied by it, and the success which similar boards have achieved at other institutions. Referring to the resignation of Prof. S. T. Kemp and the fight between Trustee Mrs. Carrie T. Alexander and the board of trustees of the school, the pamphlet says:

"If an inspecting and advisory board had made independent investigations from time to time of the conditions at the university and had reported its findings to the alumni body some disquieting incidents of the past would not have achieved dimensions and the alumni would not have been perplexed by the situation of a president appealing to the alumni, requesting their coöperation to secure needed funds, and a trustee appearing before the legislature denying that such funds were needed.

"When funds are needed the alumni are warmly remembered, and through personal letters are urged to use well directed pressure to obtain appropriations. Perhaps in time a similar alacrity will be manifested to obtain suggestions for the improvement of the administration and policy of the university."

Growing Every Day

The Lady Without Jewels

is undoubtedly its heroine. Jane Spencer is a real American girl, of the kind we are proud of, not ashamed of, an altogether charming young woman whose heart rules her head in a wholly delightful manner.

ELKHART LAKE is the highest point between Chicago and Green Bay and is 360 feet above the level of Lake Michigan, on the C., M. & St. P. Ry. and is 146 miles due north of Chicago, only 61 miles north of Milwaukee and is undoubtedly the Finest Summer Resort of the Northwest

Elkhart Lake is seven miles in circumference, which gives ample room for those who like the sport of sailing. The water is clear as crystal and cannot be excelled for bathing, as there is a firm sand bottom and no weeds to bother one. For those who like to fish it may be said the lake is well supplied with pickerel and all kinds of bass, as the State Fisheries replenish the lake every season. All kinds of launches, sail and row boats may be rented at reasonable prices of Capt. Schwartz. There are also two steamers which make several trips daily around the lake at a very small charge.

The shores of the lake form a most delightful place for those who come to the country for rest and quiet, as there are thousands of pine trees where they can inhale the invigorating odor from the pines.

For those who like amusement it may be said that at the three principal hotels there is always something in the way of dancing and music.

PLANNING and thinking out where and how to spend your vacation is almost as much fun as the actual vacation itself. ¶ Everybody who reads The Tribune knows just where to look when they want to know all about summer resorts, trips, hotels, the best means of transportation—and what things are going to cost. ¶ All these advertisements are compactly grouped together on one page of The Tribune so that they can be quickly found and easily compared. ¶ All the advertisements aren't printed every day, so it is best to read the resort ads over often. ¶ Not only is practically everything in the way of resorts, hotels and traveling facilities advertised in The Tribune, but if you need any further information on the subject, you can get it by merely calling at The Tribune Resort Information Bureau, Room 528 Tribune Bldg., writing or telephoning CENTRAL 100. ¶ R. ACTIVE STOCKS ARE LOWER

Many Issues Show Slight Losses on Day's Trading.

SELLING PRESSURE IS CAUSE

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]
NEW YORK, June 7.—[Special.]—Liquidation made itself felt in the course of prices in the early part of today's stock market, but aside from continued irregularity its effects were relatively unimportant until near the close of the final hour of business, when an increase in the selling pressure led to sharp declines in many parts of the list. Union Pacific was much affected, dropping nearly two points, but elsewhere the losses ran little above a full point.

A number of stocks resisted the general tendency of the market in striking fashion, the list comprising industrials almost exclusively, including Western Union Telegraph, National Enameling issues, American Ice, American Wool, International Paper, and American Cotton Oil stocks.

Reading was active and strong on familiar rumors of increased dividends and retirement of the second preferred shares, while Wabash securities and Nickel Plate issues were influenced by "merger" reports. Wabash also being helped by excellent earnings statement for the month of April with its increase of $288,000 in gross.

Reflects Technical Conditions.

As a whole the day's movement seemed to reflect nothing more than the technical conditions now surrounding the market. Active speculation through the last week led to the shifting of stocks from strong hands into weak ones to a considerable extent, and reactionary movements are to be expected until the selling has been well digested.

Some hesitation among speculators to carry excessive lines of stocks over today owing to the publication at noon of the government's report on crop conditions, as of June 1, had doubtless a part in determining the character of the day's market.

The news of direct interest to the financial community was again entirely favorable, comprising excellent reports from the crop territory, the statement that the Steel corporation is now operating nearly 90 per cent of capacity, and reports that the Baltimore and Ohio, Union Pacific, and other railroads are seeking bids for many thousands of cars, and a further advance in the price of copper on the local metal exchange. Boston dispatches had it that lake copper in that city is now held by the larger producers for 14c.

Call Money Rates Still Easy.

In spite of the heavy loan expansion noted in Saturday's statement of the associated banks and the resultant decrease in reserves call money rates today ruled as easy as at any time last week, although time money quotations were a trifle firmer. "Reports that the trust companies were curtailing accommodations were only partly true, and in no such measure as to affect the general situation. Foreign exchange rates were a trifle easier. The Bank of England secured without competition the $2,500,000 gold reaching London during the day from South Africa.

Money on call, easy, 1½@2 per cent; ruling rate, 1¾ per cent; closing bid, 1⅞ per cent; offered at 1⅞ per cent. Time loans, firm and inactive; 60 days, 2@2½ per cent and 90 days, 2½ per cent; 6 months, 3¼@3½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 3½@4 per cent. Sterling exchange, easy, with actual business in bankers' bills at 485.95@486.05 for 60 days' bills and at 487.70 for demand. Commercial bills, 485⅝@485⅞. Bar silver, 55c. Mexican dollars, 44c. Government bonds, steady; railroad bonds, irregular.

IN THE BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., June 7.—[Special.]—A sharp upward movement in several issues was the feature of the early trading in the local market today. The most important movement was in North Lake, which advanced nearly two points on heavy buying. Massachusetts Consolidated was a little firmer. There is a large short interest reported in this issue and the shorts are finding it hard work to secure stock. Amalgamated opened higher on buying from New York, and other Butte issues were firmer. Later New York turned seller of Amalgamated and local issues lost some of the early rise, the closing being irregular. In the afternoon attention centered principally in American Telephone, which was active and strong. Call loans, 2@3 per cent; call loans, short dates, 3@3½ per cent. Time loans, six months, 3½@4 per cent; time money, year, 4@4½ per cent.

IN THE FOREIGN STOCK MARKET.

LONDON, June 7.—Money was in good demand on the market today and discounts were steady. Trading on the stock exchange was only moderately active in view of the settlement, and price movements were irregular. Copper shares, especially Amalgamated, were strong in the morning, but reacted in the afternoon and closed easy. Home rails were weak on fears of labor trouble, but consols gained strength on reports that the Bank of England had secured the $2,500,000 in gold available. Kaffirs were active. They lost their early improvement, but finished firmer. American securities opened a fraction higher, but later became irregular under alternate periods of buying and selling. Prices at midday were from ¼ below to ⅝ above Saturday's New York closing. Later United States steel and Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé, lost their improvement, but the low priced issues continued on the upgrade. Wall street did little in the afternoon. The market lacked confidence and closed irregular and weak.

OUTSIDE GRAIN PRICES UP

Local Trade Has Holiday, but Other Markets Work Higher.

FOREIGN NEWS IS BULLISH.

Drought in Argentina Big Factor; Canadian Visible Decreases.

Local grain markets were closed yesterday, but practically all of the other foreign and domestic exchanges did business as usual and prices were higher in all directions. Cables came much stronger and outside domestic markets scored substantial advances, closing at about the top figures of the day. Instrumental in causing the firmer tone were the bullish foreign reports in regard to weather conditions in Argentina and continental countries, advices indicating extreme heat in Oklahoma and southern Kansas over Sunday and the sharp decrease in the Canadian visible supply. Traders who returned from the jaunt to St. Louis reported opinions in regard to the crop and general situation considerably mixed, with a general disposition to wait for the government report before taking any decided stand.

High Temperatures Southwest.

Weather conditions were considered bullish in the country, high temperatures in the southwest and heavy rains in several sections of the northwest being unfavorable. Spring wheat has had plenty of moisture since seeding, while the grain in Kansas and Oklahoma is in shape to be damaged by extreme heat. Short sellers in all markets were inclined to be cautious, and prices advanced easily. Minneapolis closed 1⅛c higher; Duluth, 1⅛@1⅜c up; Kansas City, ⅞@1c up; New York, 1¼c better, and St. Louis, ¾@1⅛c higher. Winnipeg was ⅞c up.

Drought was reported as continuing in Argentina, and bad weather was reported also in Hungary. The bullish weather conditions and prospects of lighter shipments from Russia were the strengthening factors abroad. Liverpool closed 1⅛d up; Berlin, ⅝c; Budapest, 3⅞c, and Paris, ½@¾c lower.

Brisk Demand for Wheat.

An excellent demand for cash wheat was reported here. Sales were finally estimated at about 60,000 bu, at slightly better prices than recently reported. Sales were mostly of No. 2 hard winter. Southwestern markets reported a light demand, but prices were a shade better. At Kansas City No. 2 red was quoted $1.53@1.57 and No. 2 hard $1.39@1.45. St. Louis quotations were $1.65@1.66 for No. 2 red and $1.38@1.47 for No. 2 hard. Private reports indicated decreasing stocks in nearly all directions.

The Canadian wheat visible decreased 1,177,000 bu for the week, and stocks at Fort William are now said to be under 1,000,000 bu. Duluth stocks were reduced 911,000 bu for the week, and Minneapolis reported a loss of 250,000 bu for two days. Baltimore wired that No. 2 red there was quoted $1.60.

Traders Guess on Crop Figures.

Most of the local traders were inclined to look for about the same condition of winter wheat as a month ago, the improvement in the states east of the Mississippi being counted on to offset the low southwest conditions. A fair increase is expected in the spring wheat acreage with a generally high condition. A month ago the condition of winter wheat was given at 83. The June condition last year was 86 on an acreage of 29,751,000 acres, indicating a crop of 435,000,000 bu, and the total yield at harvest was 437,908,000 bu. The spring wheat condition a year ago was 95 on an acreage of 17,710,000 acres, suggesting a yield of 286,000,000 bu. The final spring wheat yield was 226,694,000 bu. In the oats report the figures on condition will compare with 92.9 last June on an acreage of 31,644,000 acres, indicating a yield of 1,058,200,000 bu. There was a gradual lowering of condition later up to harvest, when the estimated crop was 807,156,000 bu.

A number of reports were received in regard to Kansas conditions. Hall-Baker wired that they would be obliged to lower their previous estimate of 80,000,000 bu for the state to 75,000,000 bu wheat. In several counties there has been great improvement, while in some sections the rains came too late to do much good. In southern Kansas it was reported that cutting of soft wheat would be started about June 25. Corn was said to be fine everywhere in the state. Atchison wired that in that section wheat was fine.

Corn News Is Bearish.

Curb gossip on corn was inclined to be bearish. The southwestern markets reported larger receipts and a slow demand, and local shippers said the eastern inquiry was poor. Weather conditions were generally favorable. Boston wired that there was no demand for corn in New England. Liverpool closed ⅛@¼d lower. Hog receipts for the day were 49,000, as expected. Western hog receipts were 89,700, against 73,700 a year ago.

Bartlett-Patten's Liverpool house cabled: "Wheat firm from weather reports. Shipments decreasing. Severe drought continues in the Argentine, and the weather there is cold. Situation is critical. Russian crop reports worse. Supplies from now to end of season probably moderate. Corn inactive; tendency downward. Shipments are largely directed to the continent. Prospects of small forage crops on account of bad weather having prevailed."

Expect Liberal Corn Run.

"There is little corn moving and farmers will not sell until last of this month," said a Decatur message. "It will then depend on the condition of growing crops and the price. If prospects are as flattering as they are today and we can still pay the farmer 70c, indications are we will have fair movement about July 1. Of course, there is some corn that will be carried beyond this, but with such flattering prospects as at present we believe a large per cent of corn will be sold within the next thirty days unless there should be a sharp break in the market, in which case they will probably carry it longer."

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CATTLE.

There was a good demand for fat beef cows and choice heifers, and as supplies of this class of stock were limited, slightly higher values were obtainable. No improvement was made in the trade for the common light, grassy cows, however, and the market for such stock was in an unsettled condition. Calves were in light supply and fair demand at firm prices for desirable lots. Bulls made steady values, but canners and cutters were slow sale at the big decline made in values last week. Quotations:

HOGS.

Indifference on the part of packers and speculators enabled shippers to fill a few of their orders early in the session at prices which were weak to 5c lower than at high time Saturday. After the first few minutes of trading, however, packers showed more willingness to pay the prices demanded, and the market gradually strengthened until just before the close the price basis was established at a level fully steady with the foregoing session's best figures. Receipts of 49,000 were about as the trade had expected and permitted of liberal purchases by all classes of buyers.

Prime fat heavy butcher hogs sold to speculators at up to $7.80, or the same as on Saturday, while desirable medium weight offerings cleared to shippers at from $7.60@7.75, with choice light hogs at from $7.45@7.60. Packers made up their droves of mixed hogs at from $7.40@7.55, paying up to $7.60@7.75 for prime heavyweight packing grades. Pigs were sparingly offered and fairly active sale at practically unchanged prices. The market for hogs closed in a healthy condition, at the best prices of the day, and with supplies well absorbed. Quotations:

SHEEP.

Packers had 16 carloads of sheep and lambs in direct, but this supply was not sufficient to meet all the requirements of their trade and they came into the market paying firm to 25c higher prices for the stock offered on the open market. Receipts were estimated at 13,000 head, but not much more than half of this supply was offered for sale. The quality of the stock on the market was about the poorest seen on the market this season, but packers had to have supplies and they paid more money for the common offerings than they were willing to put up for stock of much better quality on late days last week.

Spring lambs sold at from $8.75@9.00 were of the kind sold at $8.50 on last Friday, while loads of yearling clippers at from $7.00@8.00 included many lots which showed as much appreciation. Native ewes sold at from $5.75@6.00, against $5.50@5.75 late last week, while wethers of only fair quality reached up to $6.50. Bucks cleared at from $4.00@4.50 for the bulk of the desirable offerings. Supplies were absorbed at an early hour, and the market finished in a healthy condition, with a number of orders calling for choice stock being carried over unfilled. Quotations:

Groceries.

CHICAGO, June 7.—Firmness prevailed in the market for canned vegetables, and prices showed a strong upward tendency. Advices from Baltimore stated that a cold and wet spring had retarded the crop of sweet peas, and canners were obliged to pay much higher prices for sufficient supplies to keep plants working. Holders of standard brands of tomatoes could not be induced to accept bids that were slightly lower than full market quotations, and, although a little business was transacted at shaded prices, the goods secured were of inferior quality. Corn met with a steadily increasing demand at firm figures. Coast advices reported an advancing market for apricots and peaches and steady prices for prunes and raisins.

Sugar and Coffee.

SUGAR.

CHICAGO, June 7.—Firmness in the market for raw sugars had a strengthening influence on the trade for refined offerings and values showed a strong upward tendency. Following were the ruling prices in wholesale circles, quotations being on 100 lb lots: Standard granulated, beet and cane, $5.14@5.24; cut loaf, H. & E., $6.17; standard powdered, $5.65; extra C, $4.85; canary, $4.65; chemically pure milk sugar, 19c per lb in brl lots.

NEW YORK, June 7.—SUGAR—Raw, firm; fair refining, 3.42c; centrifugal, 96 test, 3.92c; molasses sugar, 3.17c. Refined, steady; crushed, 5.65c; powdered, 5.05c; granulated, 4.95c.

COFFEE.

CHICAGO, June 7.—Demand for spot roasted coffees was more urgent and prices were rigidly maintained at a firm level. Receipts at Rio were only 4,000 bags, but at Santos there were 11,000 bags.

NEW YORK, June 7.—COFFEE—Spot, quiet; No. 7 Rio, 7⅝@8c; No. 4 Santos, 9c. Mild, dull; Cordova, 9¾@12½c. Futures opened dull at unchanged prices, which were about in line with the unchanged French market. Business was quiet during the morning, but became a little more active toward the close, when there was some liquidation of the near months and the market was finally dull, net unchanged to 10 points lower. Sales were reported of 11,760 bags, including June at 6.55c, July at 6.50@6.55c, and September at 6.05@6.10c.

Dry Goods.

CHICAGO, June 7.—Steady buying of all merchandise for immediate delivery and a more general tendency to anticipate and cover later needs had a strengthening influence on the market for wholesale dry goods, and advances were expected in certain lines. Buyers who tried to place orders for leading domestics for future shipment found that the mills were reluctant to name prices and held their offerings at value in most instances. Printed goods, print cloths, tickings, denims, and sheetings met with a broad outlet at firm prices. There was a strong and active market for linens, and a healthy feeling pervaded the market for fall and winter dress goods.

NEW YORK, June 7.—The primary dry goods market opened strong on cotton goods and several large jobbers have their representatives here operating on domestics. Utica and Mohawk wide sheetings have been advanced 5 per cent. Dress goods are being taken on repeat orders for fall and advances were announced during the day by some of the large houses. Raw silk is quiet in this market, some small business passing from stock.

Cotton.

NEW YORK, June 7.—COTTON—Spot closed quiet, 5 points lower; middling uplands, 11.45c; middling gulf, 11.70c; no sales. The opening was barely steady at a decline of 8@12 points in response to lower Liverpool cables and reports of good weather over Sunday. The initial decline uncovered some stop loss orders, but, while there was no aggressive buying, the bulls seemed willing to absorb offerings around the early figures, and selling pressure diminished rather than increased during the morning. After selling about 2 to 3 points net higher the market reacted partially under realizing. Southern spot markets officially reported were generally unchanged. Futures opened steady, and closed steady. Quotations:

Futures opened steady at a decline of 7@9 points as the result of Liverpool's failure to make the proper response to fluctuations in the American markets over the week end. The weather aided the short side, and soon after the opening prices were at a net decline of 7 to 9 points. During the remainder of the session the market was dull, but steady, and prices slowly advanced on scattered buying orders. At the highest, prices were at a net advance of 7@8 points. The market closed steady, 7 points over Saturday close. Futures closed steady.

BUSINESS PERSONALS.

KNOW THYSELF.
THE KEY TO SUCCESS.

The great questions of life are quickly solved, failure turned to success, sorrow to joy, and want to affluence by possessing and calling into use the power to know one's self.

Every one should ask one's self, is there a force or power within me which I have not properly developed and which I can and should make use of for my own good? This power or knowledge, whether intuitive or acquired, unfolds, reveals, opens, and illumines the path which, if followed, will surely lead its possessor into happiness, success, and full fruition of life's purpose.

is a well famed teacher of the art of self-inquiry, self-revelation, and self-acquisition of the great purposes and hoped for objects of the twofold world in which we live.

MARGARET GRAHAM,

who now and for past years has resided at 2918 Michigan-av., has given substantial and wonderful proof of her certain possession of knowledge and powers.

Consultation by appointment or from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. daily and Sunday.

The Subway.

Do you know that the Illinois Tunnel Co., in Chicago, transporting freight underground in the business districts, pays handsome profits? That the passenger subways in New York and London are absolutely government mints to their owners? Then you would be interested in a subway transportation co. that is already under development. To the small investor—the man or woman with a little surplus money—our proposition means a life income that is assured by 74 30-year contracts. Write or call and see me for full detailed particulars, working plans, etc. C. G. BREITENBACH, 131 Wabash-av.

BITTER ROOT VALLEY.

Would you be interested in buying an irrigated orchard in the famous Bitter Root Valley that will net you from $200 to $1,000 per acre each year, beginning with the fifth year, to say nothing about the rise in values, provided you did not have to bother with looking after the orchard until it began to bear? We will sell you the land, plant same with standard varieties of apples and do all the work of caring for same until the fall of the fifth year after planting, when your orchard begins to bear. After the fifth year we will do the work for 10 per cent of the net profits. You reap the return on your investment without the trouble of looking after it. Every one who has investigated the apple question will tell you that no other class of investment offers so many attractive features or so great a profit on a few thousand dollars. If you want a home, there is no finer place in the United States to live. Climate mild and delightful. Good railroad facilities, schools and churches. Fine hunting and fishing. Every stream full of rainbow trout. There are a thousand and one things you can raise besides fruit. Strawberries, properly cared for, yield $500 per acre. Potatoes, 200 to 600 bushels per acre and net from 75c to $1.50 per cwt. Everything else in proportion.
Our prices and terms are reasonable. Payments may be extended over a term of years. Join our June 15th excursion and see for yourself. We refund fare if you purchase. In the meantime, come in and see us or write for our illustrated booklet.

FOR SALE—
COLORADO FRUIT LANDS.
XVIII.
My fruit lands are located on the western slope of Colorado, near Palisade, where developed orchards have sold up to $3,000 and $4,000 an acre, based on their productive returns. I consider my lands capable of just as high development.
The main line of the D. & R. G. Ry. crosses my property and a station will be established on it.
The Grand river flows through my front yard. It is the largest river in Colorado. My water filing has been made and my pump ordered. I shall have water on the lands in July.
The soil is a rich sandy loam, ideal for fruit; and the drainage; slope, and natural protection are all right.
I reside on the property and shall personally supervise its development.
An orchard increases in value about $200 an acre each year while growing, and it should return its cost every year when it comes into bearing.
There are advantages in prompt action.

LADIES of reputable family may EASILY BORROW on their own name and promise. I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or incomes from other sources], who want large or small sums, confidentially, with or without security. My location [30 min. from Loop district] and my being the president of a large manufacturing, wholesale, vehicle establishment [Bradstreet's and other agencies show its standing], and not a professional money lender, assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings, where money lenders congregate. Professional lenders demand high rates, usually asking so much that the average straightforward citizen realizes that an exorbitant interest for any time is burdensome. My average rate, all charges positively included, is never more than 1, 2, or 3 per cent monthly, depending on risk and amount loaned. Individual waiting rooms. Ask for WILLCOXE, care The Englewood Co., 538-540 E. 63d-st., cor. Greenwood-av. Tel. Hyde Park 4333.

QUESTIONS DEAL IN 10 CITY AUTOS

Ald. McCoid Thinks Municipal Building Could Be Sold Under Rule.

WONDERS AT DELIVERY.

Council to Be Asked Tonight Why Cars Were Turned Over to Garage Without O. K.

If a council committee can sell and deliver the city's ten automobiles on its own authority Ald. Arthur B. McCoid is convinced that less than a dozen aldermen have full power to sell the city hall.

He probably will say as much at the council meeting this evening when the question of the sale of the city motor cars—put over two weeks ago at his request—is raised for disposition. In the regular course of business the finance committee will ask approval for a sale to Daniel D. Healy's company, the Homan garage, for $6,500.

Ald. McCoid's feelings were a mixture of amusement and wonder when he found that the machines already had been delivered and that no immediate means of securing their return for public bidding was at hand.

When the finance committee asked approval from the council for the transaction Ald. McCoid thought it still was under consideration, and expressed surprise that a larger price had not been offered.

Values Ten Autos at $7,000.

As an alderman he said he had felt himself excluded from the bidding, but he declared himself willing to give $7,000 without examining the machines. He asked that action be postponed until it was determined whether a better price might not be obtained.

"I talked to several automobile dealers," he said, "and they told me they would be glad to bid on the machines. Then I looked into the possibilities of readvertising and was told that the machines had been sold, that the deal was closed, and the machines delivered.

"I don't want to criticise anybody and I don't know that I shall oppose the grant of approval to the committee's action, but I may raise a question as to the advisability of such methods. Under similar practice the city hall might be sold in committee."

Hey Seeks Truth About Milk.

Ald. Jacob A. Hey, father of the ordinance eliminating the requirement of pasteurization for milk from cows which have not passed the tuberculin test, has been in communication with physicians and scientists and has received two letters he regards as important.

One of these is from Dr. H. L. K. Shaw, who has charge of the infants' hospital of Albany, N. Y., which regularly has fifty babies in its wards. He wrote Ald. Hey that nonpasteurized milk had been used exclusively during the last nine years, that the mortality rate had been lowered from 50 to 15 per cent and that not a single case of primary intestinal tuberculosis had been discovered.

The health department—one of the few open on election day—was actively engaged in issuing cards giving instructions for the proper care of the health of babies.

JOINT PLEA BY CHILDREN.

Trust Company Sets Up That Securities Have Little Present Value.

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Answers of the Central Trust company, which is trustee under the will of Charles T. Yerkes and of Charles E. Yerkes and Bessie L. Rondinella Yerkes, son and daughter, in the complaint of the general creditors' suit brought by the Underground Electric Railways company of London against Louis S. Owsley as executor of the Yerkes estate, were filed in the United States Circuit court this afternoon.

The Central Trust company's answer states it has been appointed trustee under the Yerkes will, but it neither accepted nor declined the trust in view of the fact that the time has not come when it can do so, and can't say whether it will accept the trust or not. Many securities of the estate, the answer adds, have little present value, and their validity is in dispute. A large part of the securities constituting the estate are pledged as collateral for the Yerkes debts.

The joint answer of Charles E. Yerkes and Bessie L. Rondinella says Yerkes was indebted to his son on various notes under the provisions of a certain collateral agreement in the amount of $183,660 on April 15, 1909, and that Mrs. Mary Adelaide Yerkes, the widow, is in possession of the New York real estate and art collections "without right or title." The son and daughter hold the title to those properties was vested in them on their father's death, and that they are the sole and lawful owners.

URGES REGULATION OF FRATS RATHER THAN DESTRUCTION.

Dean Reed of University of Michigan Writes Not Enough Has Been Said About Improvement of Societies.

A letter from John O. Reed, dean of the University of Michigan, received yesterday regarding the reports of his recent lecture at the Belden Avenue Baptist church upon the subject of college fraternities, stated that while his criticism of fraternities had been properly recorded, not enough had been said regarding his ideas of bettering the fraternities.

He states that at Ann Arbor an interfraternity conference was recently organized and that the fraternity men had decided upon a nontreating custom that would do away with much of the objection to drinking at frat houses.

He says that while a large percentage of failures is found in colleges among fraternity men, one-half of the total failures in scholarship are found among the students at Ann Arbor who are obliged to earn their expenses during the college year.

The dean says that while he believes the recent criticism of fraternities is well deserved, yet he believes that all college men should make more of the many new suggestions for betterment of conditions. R. Allan Stephens of Danville, Ill., has written him a letter outlining a plan for fraternity regulation through the means of a conference, which, he says, appears practical.

Ideal Vacation Trip No. 1

THE Ideal Vacation involves a complete change of scene and living conditions.

For the Chicagoan living at the low altitude of Lake Michigan, and cooped up in the office, the home, or the school a good part of the time, no vacation more fully meets these requirements than one spent in Colorado. There, life in the open air—a dry, sunny, tonic, mountain air—soon renews the vitality of mind and body, gives the keenest zest for the enjoyment of every vacation moment and best of all, charges the whole being with an overflowing supply of new energy upon which to draw during the coming year.

If these are the vacation results you want, then go to Colorado.

THE great variety of things you will do there, where you will spend your time, what it will cost you at the different places—and you will be surprised at the reasonable cost—are all shown in great detail in our Colorado-Utah Handbook for 1909, just published; a copy is yours, free, for the asking.

REMEMBER, too, that the Burlington with its three daily trains, two of which are electric-lighted one-night-on-the-road trains, is the best and shortest way to get there. $30 round trip every day.

Just write "Colorado" on a postal, sign your name and address and mail to me and I'll send you our Colorado handbook and give you other useful information. If you would like copies sent to friends please give me their names and addresses also.
